WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1911.

PENS AND TREATIES.

As far as we can learn there seems to have been more to-do raised over the question of who got the golden pens used in signing the arbitration treaties than over the treaties themselves. It must make the spirit of William Penn wish that it was back on earth again to take a hand in some of these treaties. William was a pretty good treaty manufacturer himself.

"GIDDAP, RECIPROCTY."

President Taft got a new riding horse from West Virginia the other day. The horse came just after the Canadian reciprocity fight had ended and the president took one look at him and called him "Reciprocity." The new presidential steed is 16 hands high, dappled iron gray in color and able to carry a man of the president's weight. We trust that the new steed will not be as balky as the old Senate.

BAD NEWS FOR LAWYERS.

It is an omen of alarming nature to lawyers that the men implicated in the wire trust have been let off with fines of $1000 or so, while the lawyer who advised them and formed the combination has been mulcted to the extent of $45,000. We wonder if that means that the government considered the man who furnished the brains to be forty-five times as wicked as the men who merely put up the money.

POOR PASADENA.

Pasadena, Cal., said to be the home of more wealthy people than any city of its size in the world, is facing a baby famine. Statistics, completed last week, show that 48 babies were born during the month. Health authorities say that 200 babies a month would be a minimum normal estimate for the city, which has a population of 46,000. Must be that the beautiful town is competing with the more famous Babyless Fifth Avenue.

PITTSBURG (H).

The postoffice department at Washington Tuesday added a long-bellied "h" to the city of Pittsburg, Pa., so that it will now read officially "Pittsburgh." In consequence President Taft Tuesday sent to the Senate the nomination of William H. Davis, postmaster at "Pittsburg" to be postmaster at "Pittsburgh." A renomination always is required in cases where the names of postoffices are changed. Still no matter how much and how often they change its name they are unable to change its nature. Pittsburg with any other letter would be as black.

IS PA. TO BE ANOTHER GA.?

Pennsylvania seems to have entered the lynching field in competition with Georgia. The accounts of the terrible cruelties with which the citizens of Coatesville, Pa., tortured a negro before they burned him at a stake seem almost unbelievable. That such atrocities can happen in these days of supposedly Christian enlightenment is beyond comprehension. It is to be hoped that the groans of the dying negro were not so feeble but that they reached the ears of Justice and that the six murderers who dragged the unfortunate black man from the hospital ward may be speedily brought to trial.

He's only a nigger, why give him a trial?
He was meant to be burned in the night.
His heart is as black as his dirty old hide—
But the hearts of his slayers are "whiter!"

BETHANY.

BETHANY, Pa., Aug. 15.—Mr. Tamblin and Mr. Brooks, Scranton, are working on the Strongman mansion.

PORT JERVIS WINS ON SUNDAY 5-0

White Mills Team Root in Vain for Honesdale

ELONGATED PITCHER FOR PORT JERVIS NAMED "LUCKY" SHUTS US OUT.

Port Jervis ball team had a man—"Lucky" was his name, Sir!

L-u-c, k-y, k-y, L-u-c, k-y, k-y.

"Lucky" was his name, Sir!

It shored way. And just to prove that there was something in a name he shut out Leon Ross' little boys at Tracco Park, Port Jervis, Sunday afternoon by the score of 5 to 0.

The giant six-foot-three Port Jervis twirler allowed the locals only five hits, and gave but four passes to first. He received faultless support, and struck out ten Honesdale batters. In four innings not a single Honesdale boy saw first. But when the County Seaters never could win when the Thirteenth came on a Sunday!

The game was called at 2:54 o'clock to allow the locals to catch the evening train. The first stanza was short and sweet. Mangan and Brader fanned and Captain Brader fouled to Marsh.

Port Jervis made a getaway start of one run in the opening stanza. Captain "Bill" Monaghan singled over second but was nipped trying to steal second. Connelly got four bad ones—so the umpire said—and ambled to first. Mangan attended to Burkert's case. A moment after he made a costly fumble of Gillen's bouncer to third, and Captain Monaghan walked home with the initial tally. Carrigan fanned.

In the second, Sandercock fanned. Kupfer planted a corking single in right garden, but was caught off first on an infield fly which "Juicy" Polt kindly placed in Ferguson's hands.

Marsh put up a pop fly. Sandercock taking good care of it. Eagan fanned. Ferguson rolled to Brader.

In the third, Schilling rolled to Lucky. Jacob fled to Marsh. Male grounded 60 Lucky.

Port Jervis threatened again in the third. After Lucky fled to "Juicy" Polt, Monaghan's patience was awarded with free transportation to first. He took third on Connelly's single to right garden. Connelly stole second, but was sidetracked there, Burkert flying to Captain Brader and Gillen to Jacob. It was as pretty a catch as Jacob pulled off in many a day, and was liberally applauded.

Oh you fourth session! Mangan, Brader and Bader fanned.

Carrigan rolled to Brader. Marsh fled to "Juicy," and Eagan fanned.

Shortstop Eagan featured the sixth act by a phenomenal one-handed catch of Schilling's fly. He jumped in the air to get it, caught the ball bare-handed, and got the glad hand from the 600 frenzied Jervisite rooters present. Kupfer was the only lucky man in this inning. He landed a corking single in right garden, and died at first.

Port Jervis cinched the game in the "fery fifth." Costly errors by Mangan and Polt and Captain Bill's single, netted the Tri-States aggregation four runs.

These are the doleful details: Ferguson lined a hot one to Mangan, who fumbled it. He got to midway on it, too, worse luck! Then that "lucky" Lucky hit to centre, and poor Juicy nuffed it. It was good for Third street and Ferguson five-stepped home. "Bill" Monaghan singled to left, scoring Lucky. Connelly stole third. Burkert hit the ball over second, and was thrown out at second, but when the dust lifted, lo, and behold Monaghan and Lucky had done the "home sweet home" act. Brader saluted Gillen's bouncer.

Manager W. A. Clancy made a grandstand speech at this juncture, presenting Carrigan with an order for a pair of shoes, a hat and an umbrella, as a reward for a home run Mr. C. eluded, Friday a week ago, when Milford trekked to Port Jervis. [Honesdale merchants please note.] Home runs are appreciated at "Port."

The sixth was unrelieved by runs. Jacob and Male fanned, and Mangan fled to Marsh.

Male was obliged to retire, after walking Eagan. The lusty southpaw had the misfortune to sprain a chord in his left arm, and gave way to Captain Brader. Breslin going to second. Ferguson fled to Kupfer. Lucky singled to right. Monaghan fled to Polt. Connelly was hit by a pitched ball, and the bases were filled. Burkert rounded to Kupfer, and the threatened runs were cut off.

The County Seaters went out in A. B. C. order in the seventh.

For Port Jervis, Gillen fouled to Sandercock. Carrigan was thrown out at second, trying to stretch a single to centre. Marsh got a lovepat, and Eagan fled to Breslin.

With two down in the eighth, Jacob singled, and stole second. Brader walked. Mangan fled to Eagan. For Port Jervis, Ferguson fled to Brader. Lucky was out on a grounder to Ross, unassisted. Monaghan rolled to Mangan. Brader pitched only four balls in this scene.

In the ninth and final act, Brader fouled to Marsh. Bader was thrown out at third, in trying to stretch a dazzling double to centre. Sandercock ended the tragedy by flying to Connelly.

The White Mills chan, under the leadership of Manager "Joe" Dorflinger, stopped over in Port, sore from a double defeat at the hands of the Milford team on Friday and Saturday, trolleyed out to Tracco Park, and rooted for the County Seaters. And they were good rooters too!

Pertinent "Port" Paragraphs.

Port Jervis is right up to date. They issue printed score cards with the names of the players on it.

"Tracco Park" is a new amusement place. It is located about a mile beyond the old ball grounds, which have been converted into building lots, recently.

"Nobody has a half holiday in 'Port' on Saturday. It's a railroad town and everybody works. That's why they have such slim crowds at the Saturday afternoon games."—Port Jervis business man.

Port Jervis is a great centre for joy ride parties. About 1000 motor cars go through the city daily. On the main street of the town, almost every other business place is a garage.

Reporter's experience in getting a shave: Barber (After the "scrape" was over) "Did you come with the ball team?"

Reporter: "Yes."

Barber: "Fifteen cents, please."

Moving picture shows come high in Port. Forty-minute entertainments are charged at the rate of ten cents. Children under twelve, five cents. The proprietors solve the long-suffering public, however, by giving their patrons a solid-silver (?) soup spoon in exchange for ten admission checks.

"Port" is an annex of New York. "Barkers" live and flourish there. One man,
