FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1911.

THE FAULT OF THE BRIDGE.

On Tuesday, a small boy on his way to school ran across the State Bridge sram-bang into an automobile which turned the corner from Main street into Twelfth. Fortunately, the little chap was not seriously hurt, and the conduct of the automobilist, who picked the boy up and drove him in the machine to a doctors was all that it should be.

The accident was not due to any carelessness on the part of the motorist because his horn was tooting away before he turned the corner. Neither was the accident due to any fault of the small boy whose head barely reaches half way up the iron partition which separates the roadway from the passenger walk.

The accident was entirely due to the fact that the average passer-by—much less a small boy—is not tall enough to look over the partition, and as it is of one solid sheet of iron, of course no one can look through it.

As the accident Tuesday clearly demonstrates, serious accidents are liable to occur at either end of the bridge unless something is done to prevent them.

The simplest way, it seems to us, for reducing this danger to a minimum, is to cut a number of parallel slits in the iron sheet on each side of the roadway, so that pedestrians may stop before crossing Twelfth street or Park Place if they see a vehicle is going to turn the corner. As it is now, pedestrians cannot see through and often cannot hear the automobile horn because of the high partitions now standing.

—O—

THE SHAMEFUL INACTION OF COATESVILLE.

Many days have elapsed since Zach Walker, the negro who killed a white man and then tried to kill himself, was dragged from the hospital by the Coatesville mob, and thrust time and again into the fire until he was burned to a crisp, and yet nothing—or, at least, very little,—has been done towards removing the stain of that crime from the fair name of the State of Pennsylvania.

There has been talk; lots of talk but no results. The Governor, the Attorney General and the District Attorney of the county have all talked of their determination to use all their power to bring the murderers to justice.

Judge Butler, on the bench at West Chester, in charging the grand jury, said that every person present in the mob, whether actually participating in the burning or not, was guilty of murder, and some half dozen persons have been arrested and indicted. But they are mostly boys or persons of no influence in the community, while it was said at the time and has been continually repeated since, that the mob was largely composed of those well known, not a few of them leading citizens.

It will not do to make scapegoats of a few obscure individuals, while the men whose responsibility is the greatest are permitted to escape on the plea that they cannot be identified so as to secure conviction, and we trust that no such attempt is to be made.

It is reported that Attorney General Bell and District Attorney Gawthrop have agreed upon a plan of action to secure the indictment of those higher up than any yet in custody, by the Grand Jury which has not yet made its final report. There should be no doubt of their success if they are really in earnest, and if Chester county is worthy of the good name that it has had in the past. The State and county authorities cannot escape their responsibility in this matter. The people look to them to vindicate the name of Pennsylvania, as a Commonwealth in which summary vengeance cannot be visited upon any one, no matter how humble or how criminal he may be—a Commonwealth in which justice is administered according to law.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Can't Something be Done?

Editor The Citizen:
I saw in the Toledo Blade an account where the western ranchmen are to have a meeting to see what can be done about the high price of meat. They claim that the beef cattle were never cheaper than they have been the past year, and the middlemen are making 300 per cent profit. Is that right? Now let us look to home for example. The butchers are the same with the same per cent profit. If a farmer goes to them and wants to sell them a dressed hog, they will tell them they have lots on hand, and that they are cheap, as all they are giving is from 6 to 8 cents per pound, and are willing to buy in a few days. The price of meat which they are selling is lower than it has been. But let a customer ask for a few pounds of meat and they will tell you how scarce it is, and will charge you from 16 to 40 cents per pound. Now I wish something could be done in Wayne county. I would suggest that the Grangers start a regular Grange store where they could get their meat and other produce is worth, so as to make the meat dealers come down on the price of their meat, as it is as dear now as it was during war times.

Rev. Mr. Hess was the speaker in the Baptist church Tuesday evening. It was a missionary discourse in which he gave an interesting account of his travels in the Congo Free state, Africa. He said there the natives accept the Gospel called by them (the Word of God). A native preacher begs his hearers to repent last when they die they will go to the bad place where it is eternally cold, using the opposite term from the one used in this country, as heat has no terror for the natives. They can scarcely endure a slight chilly day and don't seem to know how then to protect themselves. Instead of wearing more clothing at such times in the hottest weather on their state occasions they don their Prince Albert coats and high silk hats, which they get second-hand of the traders from England, and wearing their blankets they present a very ludicrous and uncomfortable appearance. However, they feel proud and well satisfied with themselves thus arrayed. A most deplorable heathen belief of theirs is witchcraft. When one of them die they think one or more of their number are possessed of a witch or evil spirit, which caused the death. Such suspicious ones are selected and are given a poisonous drink from which they usually die. Such as survive are considered free of the evil spirit.

Royal Kimble, Scranton, spent Labor Day with his brother, Clarence, at the Home Laundry, on Church street.

The two base ball games and the Walker hop at Odd Fellows' Hall in the evening constituted the town amusements on Labor Day. [Special to The Citizen.]

TYLER HILL, Pa., Sept. 6.—The High school opened yesterday with about the usual number of scholars. Prof. Lodge is the principal of the school and Miss Noble and Miss von Sothen are the assistants. A new flag pole has been erected this summer and the Stars and Stripes floated over the playground on the first day of school. The Senior class is the largest in the history of the school and it is to be hoped that every member will be able to graduate next June. While all the pupils regret the sudden resignation of Prof. Pethick, yet there is no good reason why, with the present faculty, the work done this year should be at all inferior to the splendid work achieved last year. DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Candidate for Prothonotary

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF WAYNE COUNTY:— Pursuant to the requests of my many friends in the county and the general understanding three years ago that I should again offer myself as a candidate for the nomination for Prothonotary at the coming primaries, Sept. 30th, I would state that after a short start by way of an education in the public schools of Wayne county, I completed a course at the A. M. Chisbro Seminary in Monroe county, N. Y. My post-graduate course was about thirty years in the school of hard knocks as a farmer and lumberman in Wayne county.

Have met many people in the varied relations of a business man and this long experience has enabled me to meet many whom I esteem as friends and gain at least enough knowledge to appreciate the needs and requirements of my fellow man.

My aim has steadily been to deal honestly, frankly and fairly with all and to dearly cherish all of our country's institutions, and to encourage and assist every true effort to maintain and advance them. I invite the fullest investigation of my record and with pleasure refer you to the expression given at the polls by my home district three years ago as indicative of the feelings of those who knew me best. Although always a resident and large taxpayer in Wayne county, I never asked for office except on the aforementioned occasion when I was defeated by M. J. Hanlan who, though opposed to me, never, to my knowledge, said or did anything detrimental to me. I therefore earnestly request your support and promise if nominated and elected to faithfully perform the duties of the office to the very best of my ability and in all things observe the spirit of the Golden Rule.

Faithfully Yours,
