Now that the primaries are over, we can all work together for the election of the entire ticket that is placed at the head of this column. The Citizen congratulates the successful candidates and pledges itself to support kind of a growl. them with every means at its command. We are sure that the unsuccessful Republican candidates will not allow any personal feeling to prevent them from supporting their more fortunate competitors. Had the results them from supporting their more fortunate competitors. Had the results when they passed right by that been different, we know for a positive fact that the men who are now left faithful old county, which has had in the race would have turned right around and buckled down to work for the success of the Republican ticket, even though their names were not on

THE "RECALL" OF PUBLIC OFFICERS IN PHYNNSYLVANIA.

In the current discussion of the "recall" of officials who fail to please the public, especially as applied to judicial officers, the fact has been overlooked that a form of such recall has existed in Pennsylvania by constitutional provision, for nearly a century and a quarter; not, however, by a popular vote, but through action by the Legislature and Governor.

the judges of the courts should hold office during good behavior: "But for beth Hazelton, will accompany them. any reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient ground of impeachment, the Governor may remove any of them, on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the Legislature." Article V, Sec. 10, directed the appointment of Justices of the Peace by the Governor, to hold office during good be- already. havior; with a provision that they "may be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office, or of any infamous crime, or on the address of both houses of the Legislature."

The constitution adopted in 1838 (Art. V. Sec. 2) directed the appointment of Judges by the Governor, and fixed the term of Judges of the Supreme Court at fifteen years, of the President and other Judges of the other courts of record required to be learned in the law at ten years, and for Niagara Falls this week, having spent a fortnight visiting Starling. of Associate Judges at five years, "if they shall so long behave themselves spent a fortnight visiting Sterling church here to the Sunday school well; but for any reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient grounds of well; but for any reasonable cause, which shall not be sumcient grounds of impeachment, the Governor may remove any of them on the address of two-been guests at John Smith's for the is visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. L. Slaythirds of each branch of the legislature."

This constitution (Art. VI, Sec. 7) further directed the election of Justices of the Peace for the term of five years. It contained no specific direction for their removal, but left them subject to the general provision one week here and then they of Art. VI. Sec. 9, that all officers for a term of years shall hold their offices for such term "only on the condition that they so long behave themsalvas well and shall be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office."

The present constitution, adopted in 1873, and taking effect January 1, 1874, has the following provisions on this subject:

(Art. V, sec. 2): "The supreme court shall consist of seven judges, who shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at large. They shall hold their offices for the term of twenty-one years, if they shall so long behave themselves well." (Art. 5, section 15): "All judges required to be learned in the law, except the judges of the Supreme Court, shall be elected by the qualified electors of the respective districts over which they are to preside, and shall hold their offices for the term of ten years, if they shall so long behave themselves well; but for any reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient cause for impeachment, the Governor may remove any of them on the address of two-thirds of each house of the general assembly.' (Art. VI, sec. 3): "The Governor and all other civil officers, but judgment in such case shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of trust or profit under this commonwealth." (Art. VI, sec. 4): "All officers shall hold their offices on the condition that they behave themselves well while in office, and shall be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office, or of any infamous crime. All officers elected by the people, except governor, lieutenant governor, members of the general assembly, and judges of the courts of record learned in the law, shall be removed by the governor for reasonable cause, after due notice and full hearing, on the address of two-thirds of the

Practically, therefore, the recall may be employed in Pennsylvania through the following methods:

- 1. Of all officers, by impeachment for misdemeanor in office and conviction thereon, or upon conviction of misbehavior in office, or of any infamous crime.
- 2. Of law judges, by the governor, for reasonable cause, not being sufficient ground for impeachment, on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the Legislature.
- 3. Of all elective officers, except Governor, Lieutenant Governor, members of the Legislature, and law judges, by the Governor, for reasonable cause, after notice and hearing, on the address of two-thirds of the

These methods are adequate for all proper occasions, are easily employed, and are comparatively inexpensive. They may be pursued with a full and careful inquiry into the alleged grounds of recall, with due opportunity for the hearing of all sides, before tribunals having a due sense of responsibility, and in a position to reach a fair and impartial decision. If those who demand the recall of a law judge cannot convince two-thirds of each branch of the legislature and the Governor that there is good reason for his removal, it may fairly be presumed that there is no sufficient ground for it. And the same may be said of a failure to convince twothirds of the Senate, in cases within their jurisdiction, which include the great body of public officers.

SNUBBED TWO TIMES.

The contention of the Democratic newspapers of Wayne county that Wayne has been snubbed by the Republicans of the Fourteenth Congressional district, because they went to Susquehanna county for their candidate, is somewhat laughable in face of the fact that the Democratic-Keystone aggregation came to Bradford county for their candidate. If the Republicans snubbed them, what in the absence of the secretary of the did the Keystonic-Democraters do to them? As a matter of fact, the Republican newspapers of Wayne county are loyally supporting Captain Ainey, and the grief over the snubbing of Wayne is all exhibited by the Keystonic-Democraters, who really can't find a word to say against Captain Ainey, and fall back upon this Dear me, what an the work. awful snub the Democratic-Keystone Congressional Conference administered to the faithful over in Wayne some Democratic votes ever since the days of Thomas Jefferson, and came over into Bradford county to get a candidate. JUDGESHIP.

The Times' policy respecting political matters would make it consistent to at least state what seems to be the party temper here and the outlook as to success of candidates. Here, as elsewhere in the county, the pivot seems to be the judgeship. Just why this need be so we do not understand to say; but such is the fact nevertheless.

Of the candidates for county judge, Alonzo T. Searle seems far and away in lead in the race among the Republicans. We have endeav-ored to analyze this fact and have this to say as a result: First, Judge Searle has had a long and favorable acquain ance with this community. He seems always to have maintained a sincere interest in us, and has gone out of his way many a time, with no hope or expection. Second, Judge Searle has been privileged for a long series of years to count many Hawleyltes in his clientele. By some strange gravitaclientele. tion our citizens have gone to him with their legal problems and have been so skillfully and honorably served as to fasten them to him in steadily increasing numbers.

Third, It seems to be the consensus of opinion here that Judge Searle is entitled to nomination. His incumbency of two years, while upon petition of a constituency of which any mn might be proud, was not by a popular vote. It seems to be usual that appointment to fill vacancy should be succeeded by nomination for regular election, and especially when the substitution is sustained by signally successful service. As to this, the record of Judge Searle the past two years is in every way highly gratifying to his friends.

Fourth, Judge Searle has distinguished himself upon the bench by a service evincing unusual ca-pacity and equipment. His record in our own courts and the favorable comments of his presidency of numerous other courts have reflected honor not only upon himself but upon the legal procedures of his home It is worthy of note, as indicating his fine judicial balance and high probity that no appeals have been taken on any case coming before him.

Fifth, Judge Searle is believed here to be a friend of the laboring man. None of our laborers wants a man unfriendly to corporations, and certainly not one unable to handle corporate interests. But whether dealing with corporations or individual trusts, our laboring classes express themselves as feeling secure when their affairs are in the hands of Judge Searle.

Sixth, Outside of all professionalism or candidacy for office Judge Searle is liked here as a man. He is approachable, he is warm hearted, he is everybody's friend. The he is everybody's friend. The while he maintains a dignity becoming the high office he adorns and to which the majority of his party supporters here will be glad to see him returned.

All this is said purely from basis of a faithful representation of the local political spirit, and not in any way as a newspaper's exploitation of its favorite candidate. The Times policy is, let the best man win. The Republicans here seem to be of the opinion that Judge Searle is tha man.-Hawley Times. This holds just as true in the election as it did in the primaries.
