Mrs. Charles Elmendorf is critically ill, and but slight hopes are entertained for her recovery. Drs. P. B. Peterson and E. W. Burns after a consultation held Monday decided that she was too weak to be removed to a Scranton hospital.

Attention has been called heretofore concerning persons expectorating upon the streets, especially those who might have tuberculosis tendencies. The germs are soon in the air and school children are often the victims. In Wilkes-Barre every person expectorating upon the street is fined $1. The borough of Honesdale ought to have a like ordinance.

Effective October 1, 1911, the Erie Railroad Company, applying from Honesdale to all points west of Buffalo and Salamanca, N. Y., will authorize freight rates better than 10 per cent. lower than are at present in effect. On that date, Honesdale will be changed from a Philadelphia to a Scranton rate point on western shipments. This will mean, for instance, that the present first-class rate to Chicago, now 63 cents per cwt. will be but 60 cents per cwt. from now on.

State Commissioner of Fisheries Nathan R. Buller has announced that the method of distributing fish fry from the hatcheries of the state would be changed this fall, with an idea of obtaining greater efficiency in the planting of the fish. The shipments will also be closely followed up. The form of application which has been in use for several years has been changed and it will be necessary in order to obtain fry to use the new forms now in preparation.

The Honesdale Consolidated Water company have about 30 men employed in cutting timber, getting out stumps and blasting rocks from the present water mark to the proposed high water mark of one of the reservoirs. A new concrete dam has been erected which is a few feet higher than the old dam and will flood about 20 acres more of land.

"Let George Do It," the big musical surprise, that comes to the Lyric next Thursday evening, with Geo. P. Murphy, the famous German comedian, in the title role, is composed of the usual ingredients, only more so—girls prettier than usual, gowns that beat all, stage effects uncommonly elaborate even in this day and age; George P. Murphy, the German dialect comedian, with more dialect than ever; and motion swifter and more dizzy than any previously recorded. There is less repose in this performance than in the tip of a terrier's tail—and that's what the people like. With fifty people, "Let George Do It," will be performed here on Thursday, October 5.

PRIMARY DAY IN THE COUNTY SEAT.

Judicial fight, Hon. F. P. Kimble won out over County Chairman Charles A. McCarty by a few hundred votes.

The Republican ticket for county offices represent strong men and the nominees come from different parts of Wayne county. The result: President Judge—Hon. A. T. Searle.

Prothonotary—Wallace J. Barnes, Beach Lake. Register and Recorder—W. B. Leshler, Sterling. Treasurer—W. W. Wood, Honesdale.

Sheriff—T. Y. Boyd, Boyds Mills. County Commissioners—Earl Rockwell, Arlet; John Male, Cherry Ridge.

The fact that the above ticket is a representation of Wayne's election district and therefore it is stronger on that account, because unlike the Democratic ticket, all the candidates are not Honesdale men.

The Democrats nominated the following county ticket: President Judge—F. P. Kimble. Prothonotary—Leopold Feurth. Register and Recorder—Fred Saunders.

Treasurer—Alex Voigt, Hawley. Sheriff—Frank C. Kimble. County Commissioners—Neville Holgate, Charles Herrman.

There was an unusual call for the Republican ticket. Many Democrats called for the opposite party's ticket, which in two districts caused a shortage of ballots.

In South Canaan there were 35 men, it is claimed, who lost their vote, while in Honesdale it was necessary to print 100 extra Republican ballots to fill the demand.

County Commissioners' Clerk G. P. Ross claims that the law for supplying the district with ballots is to give twice the number of ballots as were voted at the last official election.

South Canaan, he says, received over that number of ballots for the primary election of Saturday.

W. H. Dimmick received two votes on the Keystone ticket for Judge. On the same ticket each of the following received one vote for the respective offices: F. J. Tolley, register and recorder; A. E. Voigt, treasurer; C. E. Dodge, prothonotary.

There were 436 Republican ballots cast, 189 Democratic, 2 Keystone and 1 Prohibitionist. No Democratic return sheet has been received from Clinton No. 2, hence no report is given in that district.

Result of town nominations on Republican ticket: Assessor: W. L. Burnard 194; C. E. Cade, 172.

Constable—Levi DeGroat, 235; William Ruppert, 124. Town Council—W. H. Hulsizer, 280; W. H. Kretzner, 326; C. H. Rettew, 297.

School Directors—J. A. Brown, 310; A. M. Leine, 317, two years; T. B. Clark, 293; F. C. Schoell, 309, four years; W. J. Ward, 291, six years.

Auditor—T. M. Fuller, 310. High Constable—J. J. Canivan, 316.

Judge of Election—J. T. Boyd, 337. Inspector—Frank Truscott, 327. Democratic Ticket.

Assessor—Bert Dain, 93; Bernard Rully, 64. Constable—Levi DeGroat, 78; P. J. Moran, 82.

Town Council—John Erk, 139; W. H. Hulsizer, 96; C. H. Rettew, 106.

School Directors—J. A. Brown, 114; A. M. Leine, 139; T. B. Clark, 109; F. C. Schoell, 131; W. J. Ward, 117. To serve same number of years as specified on Republican ticket.

High Constable—J. J. Canivan. Inspector of Election—T. F. Gallagher, 119.

"Let Searle do it!" "Let Kimble do it!" "Let Dimmick do it!" That's the way the voters of Wayne county felt about the Judge-ship fight last Saturday. And the way they cast their ballots at the polls proved that they put their good intentions into praiseworthy practice.

"Vote in the Court Room!" announced a placard in the Court House steps, and when the hour of 2 o'clock arrived, the sign could hardly be seen so dense was the company of would-be voters, that in one constant stream passed up and over the steps, on up the winding court house stairs, and into the seat of justice herself, where they exercised the prerogatives of freeborn American citizens.

The feature of the voting at the county seat was the large number of Democrats who forsook the paths of Bryanism to walk in the more congenial ways of Republicanism. No less than 411 straight Republican ballots were voted out of a normal registration list of 375, while the Democrats cast only 189 straight party ballots.

There was considerable jockeying about the polls, shortly before 2 o'clock, everybody wanting to have the honor of casting the first ballot. William Kain was the proud yeoman who called for the first Republican ballot, and a Citizen man was a close second.

"There's so many candidates here. They shake a man's hand off before he gets in. After he gets out they don't care," wailed an octogenarian voter in describing his experiences at the polls. And it is to be admitted that the warmth of the greeting hand clasp far excelled that of the parting grasp.

"Well I've got some money left, anyway," remarked one of the defeated candidates to a Citizen man in the afternoon, chuckling.

"No canvassing for votes allowed in this room. You can't buttonhole a man in this room," warned one of the watchers at the polling place. Little, if any, intimidation of voters occurred.

These men had charge of the election: Judge, John Boyd; inspectors, Thos. Gallagher, D. Jos. A. Bodie, R.; clerks, John Caudel, D., E. A. Lindsay, R.

or one and 2-3 ballots to the minute. A number of votes were challenged, but as they were all sworn in no confusion resulted.

The 400 Republican ballots printed for Honesdale didn't begin to reach, and a 100 more were furnished to supply the demand.

Now for the final heat in the 1911 race. Five more weeks of strenuous activity are ahead of the successful candidates.

The court authorized and decreed that a vote be taken at the municipal election on November 7 on the question of the adoption of the system of payment of the road taxes in Damascus township by work, and that the same be advertised for thirty days prior to the election.

Similar decrees were handed down granting the voters of South Canaan and Canaan permission to vote on the question of adopting the system of payment of road taxes in said township by work.

THE KEYSTONE GUARD.

IT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Alert Hook and Ladder company's 13th annual supper and ball, held last Thursday evening, was a decided success, much to the credit of Chairman Robert Brennehan and his efficient helpers, consisting of the ladies of East Honesdale. Long before the appointed hour for supper, Alert hall was crowded with persons anxious to participate in the excellent menu that had been prepared for the occasion. Many people availed themselves of a free auto ride to and from the hall in Erk's large bus. It is estimated that over 200 persons were carried. The supper is the talk of the town and eclipsed anything of its kind ever held in the history of the company's existence. The tables were decorated with candelabras with different shades, the effect of which was beautiful. The room was decorated with palms and Japanese lanterns and had the appearance of a private dining room. There were 350 supper tickets sold, besides 50 baskets being sent out. Supper was served from 5:45 till 9 o'clock.

Confectionery, donated by J. D. Williams, Scranton, netted $30. It was sold by four young ladies from booths decorated with autumn leaves. Ice cream was also dispensed from a booth. Twenty gallons were sold.

During the supper Miss Jennie Murran rendered piano solos. After all had been served many repaired to the hall on the second floor, where Sonner's orchestra furnished music for dancing.

The gross receipts were about $400. The company expect to clear about $275.

JOHN H. WEAVER RESIGNS POSITION WITH GLASS CO.

Will Leave Towanda—Company is Doing Flourishing Business.

John H. Weaver, assistant treasurer of the Wayne Cut Glass Company, has resigned his position, and will leave Towanda on Wednesday. Mr. Weaver takes this step on account of ill health, and will spend several months traveling. H. A. Preumers, of Honesdale, will take up Mr. Weaver's work at the factory, and is well fitted for the place as he has had a long experience in the manufacture of cut glass. Mr. Weaver has made many friends during his short stay in Towanda, who will regret his leaving this city.

The Wayne Cut Glass Company is enjoying a large business in Towanda. At present the concern is working a night shift, as they are way behind in their orders, and are gradually working up to their full capacity, the only obstacle in the way of that being lack of experienced help.

The company expects to soon open up a girls department for glass cutting. Previous experience shows that women make expert cutters on fine work, and as soon as quarters can be fitted up with machinery, there will be employment for a large number of females.—Towanda Reporter-Journal. Mr. Weaver is a son of John H. Weaver, Park Place, Honesdale.

HERO OF THE MATTERHORN.

Edward Whympfer, who barely escaped falling 4,000 feet down the sheer slope of the Matterhorn forty-six years ago, fell four feet off a lecture platform much later and broke his leg. Passing unscathed through many adventures, he was seen not long ago, a feeble and pathetic figure, wandering about the base of the mountain he first scaled. He has just died at seventy-one—in his bed.

Mr. Whympfer's life is an example of what an absorbing passion may do for a man or with a man. A young artist of moderate talent, he went to Switzerland at twenty years of age to make sketches, became fascinated with the Matterhorn and resolved to be the first to climb it. Having not much money, he explored alone the mountain's slopes and once barely saved himself from death by his presence of mind. On the day in 1865 when he stood, the first of men, on the summit of the Matterhorn, four of his party of seven were lost down its steep northern face in the descent. The others escaped by the breaking of the rope.

Ugly stories were long current that the leading guide, the last in coming down, had partly cut the rope. One of the young Englishmen whom Whympfer had picked up for the trip, Mr. Hadow, was so frightened as well as tired by exertions for which he was unfit, that one of the guides had to turn and direct the novice's feet into steps cut in the ice which he could no longer find for himself. It was while thus engaged that a fatal stumble sent four men rolling and bounding down the almost perpendicular cliff to the Zmutt Glacier, a mile below.

By the achievement and the accident Whympfer's name became known all over the reading world. For forty-six years he remained the best-remembered mountaineer, though surpassed in scientific attainments by Tyndall, Sir Martin Conway and others. Yet his own contributions to scientific knowledge have been valuable and he has left, in his account of his campaign upon the Matterhorn, one of the absorbing masterpieces of adventure literature in the English language.—New York World.
