

EVANS OF CARDINALS A GREAT JOKER.

Steve Evans, the clever outfielder of the St. Louis Nationals, is a live one. The last day of the recent trip of the Cardinals to Pittsburgh about 7,000 fans hied themselves to the ball yard to see Marty O'Toole. Incidentally they went out to see the Cardinals and Pirates play.

Steve Evans hopped on and found Ivy Wingo standing in about the middle of the car. Ivy has red hair and looks a great deal like O'Toole. This was Steve's cue.

He braced Ivy with extended mitt and spied in a stage whisper: "Hello, Marty! How do you like Pittsburgh?"

The crowd ate it up. One public spirited citizen introduced himself to Wingo (rather, O'Toole) and invited him (Wingo) to call around for lunch the following day. Then Steve asked Wingo about his great pitching feats in St. Paul, and in the meantime many passengers rode past their intended destinations.

Steve never overlooks a bet.

RAMSDELL NOW A PRO.

Crack Sprinter Athletic Director at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh.

Another great amateur athlete has joined the professional ranks. He is Fred L. (Tex) Ramsdell, last year the star sprinter of the University of Pennsylvania track team and All American football player.

Ramsdell has accepted a position as athletic director of the Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh. Ramsdell won the 100 yard and 220 yard championships in England, but met with ill luck in the Edinburgh (Scotland) races, where the runners received too much of a handicap on him.

Clarke Takes Many Chances.

Fred Clarke is one of the few outfielders who once in awhile dare shoot the ball in to second base when a runner turns that bag instead of always making the conventional return to third. The play calls for quick perception and some boldness and is a departure from conservatism which most outfielders haven't the rapid judgment to chance.

BASEBALL QUIPS.

John Dorey, former part owner of the Boston National League club, is now a scout for the Louisville team.

Connie Mack says he wouldn't pay $22,500 for a whole league. That's a roundabout way of taking a slam at Lefty Russell.

Harry Truby, the old Chicago player who is now an umpire, had a run in with a player the other day. When the player showed fight Truby said: "Go and sit down. I can give you rocks and I'll take buns and run you out of the park."

Silk O'Laughlin, the umpire, says more hits are made on bad balls than good ones. Silk has seen thousands of hits made and says a big majority were on balls that were too far out, too close or too high or too low to Miss Liberty Getting Ragged.

The statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, is getting old. An army engineer recently made a close examination of the statue—the engineers look it over once a year—and found that there were just about fifty small holes in the bronze plates of which the statue is built. These holes come usually in the folds and are in spots where the plates always were a bit thinner than the general run of the statue. They also appear seemingly on the more exposed sides. There is no immediate danger for the goddess, however. Her chief caretaker, Lieutenant Jones, says that she is good for 100 years yet and maybe longer just as she is. Lieutenant Jones does not see why it is not possible to replace from time to time some of the plates which have become more badly disintegrated than others. The stout steel framework is still as solid as could be wished. Lieutenant Jones, however, found that the small holes in the thin plates were growing more numerous as time went on and reported to the chief quartermaster of the department of the east, and an engineer was sent over from Governors Island. The statue of Liberty was unveiled in 1886.

A Tax on Tips.

Vienna has many customs peculiar to itself, and among them is the pleasing one of tipping the tramway conductors. The tax on the passenger is not a heavy one—2 hellers, one-fifth of a penny, is sufficient to elicit the grateful acknowledgment of the official who collects the fares. Vienna also enjoys a progressive income tax system, whose net is cast so wide as to include the wages earned by such comparatively insignificant workers as tramway conductors, although these can scarcely amount to £1 a week. It suddenly occurred to the income tax officials that the tramway conductors were not paying any tax on the tips they gathered in. An order has now been issued that hereafter the conductors shall pay 4 crowns (3s. 4d.) a year as income tax on their two heller tips. There are 3,986 tramway conductors in Vienna, so that the state will collect the magnificent sum of £664 a year as tax on the coppers bestowed by generous tramway passengers upon the conductors.

"Truly a beggarly economy," as one of the Vienna journals remarks.—Vienna Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

A Portrait That Fascinates.

To be one of the forty immortals is the ambition of the great men of France, says the Florence correspondent of the Hamburger Fremdenblatt, and so it is the ambition of great painters—and it has been for over 500 years—to have their self painted portraits in the gallery set aside for that purpose in Florence. The list of those who have contributed their likenesses would include hundreds whose names properly belong under the head of "great," from the wonderful girl-like head of Raphael to Josef Israels, the latest in the collection, which has a place of honor in a room all by itself. The artist has depicted himself as a very old man, with sunken cheeks, matted white beard, eyes obscured by heavy lenses and wearing a shapeless hat of uncertain color. There is nothing beautiful about it, but it fascinates the observer, who marvels at the product of old, old age.

Work on the Panama Canal.

The equipment with which the work of digging the Panama canal is being carried on embraces 100 steam shovels of the latest and best type, 4,131 cars, 160 American locomotives and 119 acquired from the French, 30 unloaders, 24 spreaders, 10 track shifters, 35 cranes, 16 pile drivers 18 dredges and some 60 barges, tugs and other small vessels. The total excavation, dry and wet, for the canal, as originally planned, was estimated at 103,795,000 cubic yards. In addition to the excavation accomplished by the French. Changes in the plan of the canal made subsequently by order of the president increased the amount to about 174,668,594 cubic yards, over half of which was to be taken from the central division, which includes the Culebra cut.—New York American.

He Startled Persia.

Persia has a champion of the woman's cause, who is none other than Hadji Vakil el Rooy. He recently astonished the house of parliament by an impassioned defense of women's rights, and it is said that the members "shivered when he mounted the tribune and declared roundly that women possessed souls and should possess votes," whereupon the multitudes arose and solemnly declared that he had never in a life of misfortune had his ears assailed by such an impious utterance. Nervously and excitedly he denied to women either souls or rights and declared that such doctrine would mean the downfall of Islam.

Thy Serpent.

The Birmingham (England) Daily Mail, aided by a somnolent proof-reader, has achieved distinction as a blunderer in this single short paragraph: "Mr. Andrew Carnegie, receiving the freedom of Liverpool, said if he could see his dear old land and his beloved republic knit in the bonds of peace he could say, 'Lord, now let thy serpent depart in peace.'"

Should Ireland again attempt a Scriptural quotation he will probably go round to the newspaper office to see that it goes in right.—Exchange.

HERE'S A PRIZE GOLF YARN.

Every now and then you golfers, gathered about the fireplace in the clubhouse, hear strange stories of strange shots. Here's one from England that you can tell the next time the group gathers: "A golfer approaching the green from the rough cut too much under his ball, with the result that it rose a short distance and dropped into a pouch pocket in his jacket. Lifting his head quickly to follow the flight of his ball, he did not notice this fact, and his astonishment can be imagined when he was told to look for the ball in his own pocket."

"MILE IN 4:10 IS POSSIBLE."

So Says Mel Sheppard, Now Training For New Mark.

"The time will surely come when the mile will be run in 4 minutes and 10 seconds," remarked Mel Sheppard, the greatest middle distance runner the world has ever known, at the time John Paul Jones of Cornell established a new world's record by traveling the distance in 4 minutes and 13.2 seconds, which was exactly one-fifth second faster than that of Tommy Connell's old mark.

Sheppard insisted that if trained especially for the mile and given a chance to run on one of the fast tracks he would be able to better Jones' time. Some of his clubmates laughed at the idea, and when Sheppard began regular hard training with the one object in view of having a try at the record some of them told him he would do better by sticking to the middle distances.

A request was made of the Harvard people that they allow Sheppard a chance to run the mile in the Harvard stadium, but permission could not be had. "Shep" kept up the most regular course of training he has ever followed and today is running in wonderful form.

"Just as soon as the Metropolitan championships are over I'll leave for Montreal, Canada. There I will have a whole week's training on one of the fastest tracks in North America. On Sept. 23 the Canadian championships take place, and the management has promised me that the track will be put in the very best of shape so that I may have a good try at the mile record."

KNABE'S HISTORICAL SPIRIT.

Traces Alexander Back to the King of the Macedons.

"Say, fellows, we've got a prince among us," squaled Otto Knabe of the Phillies during a quiet spell at the hotel in Cincinnati.

"Whatchu mean?" demanded Dave Altzer suspiciously.

"Why," explained Mr. Knabe, "here's a history book that distinctly says, 'Alexander the Great was the son of Philip, king of Macedon.'"

"Gee whiz," exclaimed Tom Downey, "I always thought there was something mysterious about that guy! He's a grand pitcher, just the same."

Belmont Not to Race Abroad.

After carefully studying the racing situation in this country Mr. August Belmont has canceled an arrangement he had made for the shipment to England and France of several of his thoroughbreds at the nursery stud, and the horses will remain in Kentucky for the present.

To Beautify the Hair.

When the hair begins falling out by reason of dandruff try shampooing without soap. A shampoo for this purpose is made of the beaten yolks of two eggs in lime water. Massage this well into the scalp, wash out with warm water and finish with a rinse of cold water to avoid taking cold.

Make a lotion of one and one-half drams of pure glycerin and two ounces of lime water. Every fortnight make a thorough application of this lotion to the scalp by separating the hair in strands and putting the liquid on with a small soft brush. After the treatment the scalp must be carefully massaged with the finger tips, stimulating circulation and bringing nourishment to the dry cuticle.

After two applications add to the lotion an ounce of tincture of cantharides. Apply every night for two weeks. The treatment may be gradually left off as the dandruff diminishes.

When the hair is excessively oily lime water applied with a small sponge will improve the condition. Only a small amount should be used, enough to moisten the scalp without making it damp.

The business of curing dandruff is often a slow one, but patience brings about its just reward in a glossy, silken new growth of hair and an incalculable improvement to such as does not yield to the inroads of scap sickness. Under no conditions should dandruff be neglected, as sooner or later it will cause an uncomfortable itching and a most unattractive head of hair.

Plenty of fresh air and sunshine are excellent tonics to be used in conjunction with the given lotion.

The Fast Flying Red Devil.

A disheveled citizen rushed into a Boston police station Saturday afternoon and shouted for vengeance.

"The automobile that hit me five minutes ago was No. 41144," he spluttered. "I can prove that he was exceeding the speed limit, and I want—I want—"

"You want a warrant for his arrest?"

"Warrant nothing! What good would a warrant do me at the rate he was going? I want extradition papers."—Boston Traveler.

High and Low.

A local minister, having forgotten the name of a new member of his congregation, is said to have approached him with the remark:

"Let me see—do you spell your last name with an 'l' or an 'e'?"

"An 'l' by all means. You know my name is Hill."—Youngstown (O.) Telegram.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, that the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law.

The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

Number Two.

A JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, that the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:— Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia a current net revenue in excess of the annual interest on said debt or debts of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.
