HEIGHO! But weren't we a slow, Poky race When out on the chase After pleasure Once upon a time? No longer do we care For the county fair With its prize porkers, Premium ducks And the plethoric garden truck's Soul stirring appeal, The guaranteed patent meal And, in short, The whole array of that sort. Those simple joys Are ours no m And, tell the truth They make us sore We have expanded Gone up, one might say. For now we while the time away With a spectacular and neat Aviation meet No town is too small To hear the call-The call of the skies-And to offer a grand prize For the first one to fly In its own private sky, And the aviator, haughty and proud, Takes a look and thinks out loud, And what does he say? "Call that enough pay For the chance of a broken neck And the wreck Of a $10,000 machine?" He doesn't want to be mean But if they'll double the prise And if not Of towns that will. And they double it or he passes them by The man bird comes high, But we must have him.

THE LAYETTE.

Baby's First Wardrobe Shauld Be Very Carefully Chosen. It is almost impossible for a young mother to choose wisely when selecting her first baby's layette. She is told of so many things she must have that she finds afterward that she rarely uses, and there are so many more she has to add later that no one thought to mention.

"So if this delightful task ever falls to me again." said a young mother re cently, "I shall spend less on lace edgings and cobweb insertions and set iside the amount saved for extra laundry work. To keep a baby dainty and sweet requires an almost incredible amount of washing and ironing. If the young mother attempts it she will have little time left for her baby, herself. her husband or her home.

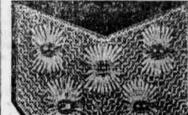

"In addition to counting on plentifu laundering, I shall make the little garments simpler and put my surplus time into preparing more of them. A half dozen each of muslin slips, petticoats and flannel underskirts, six dozen diapers, one-half dozen each of cashmere stockings, shirts and abdominal bands, four bath wrappers and 'nightingales' and one full dozen nightgowns are necessary, but no more. The latter need as frequent changing as the diapers, and yet very few people provide more than three or four. This gives no opportunity for more than a hurried rinsing, whereas this garment needs careful sterilizing and airing more than any other.

"I would buy the shaped diapers rather than the straight goods. Though more expensive, they wear splendidly and fit infinitely better. I would expend nothing on costly bath sponges which soon become so filthy (despite the best care) that they are a menace to baby's tender skin. Instead I would hem all the old linen and damask squares I could find into wash cloths of different sizes for the face, ears, nostrils, eyes and body, those for the eyes being kept carefully apart. These cloths should be boiled for twenty minshould be frequently discarded. It is of linen to clean the baby's mouth with. using each piece only once, "Thrush" and other infantile throat diseases lurk in dirty washcloths. "Lastly, I would not save the baby's 'best' clothes with the idea of econoat an unconscionable rate, and many a real ince bonnet and filmy slip have and girls of this country .- Chicago been labored over to be worn only two News. or three times."

For the Needlewoman In the dressmaking world handwork is the height of modishness, and the frock that boasts a quantity of this stitchery is extremely exclusive and proportionately expensive. But it is possible for the home needlewoman to turn out exquisite trimmings for her frocks at small cost. The illustration shows an up to date design for the front of a walst carried out in embroidery, which is further elaborated with colored bends to represent jewels. The work is done on very coarse white brussels net with white embroid-

Carloads of Crawlers.

There were five full carloads of queer kind of freight that recently left the far western states for the east. The carloads were of wriggling, writhing, cold and clammy snakes, and most of them were poisonous. The shipments were made to different zoos in the eastern cities and to Europe, where the small children that speak queer mizing, for the dear little mites grow languages will call them by names that would sound funny to the boys

A Puzzle Game,

Here is a pencil and paper game for the puzzle loving. It can be played by any number. Starting with one given word, the test is to change it much these days, amounting to a triffe into another given word by changing of $250,000 in our money. For milonly one letter at a time, and the winner is he who arrives most quickly at the result and by the shortest process. For instance, suppose the word "dog" is given to be changed into "cat." The best method would be dot, cot, cat. Of course longer words are more difficult, but usually patience will bring success. For instance, the word "fast" may be changed into "slow" by the following steps: Fast, inst, lost, loot, soot, slot, slow. Perhaps there is a shorter way that a little study will discover. Married Woman's Names

In England and in the United States a woman loses her identity in mar ringe. In Belgium and Spain the husband adds the name of his wife to his own. In the United States women sometimes retain the family name, as Mrs. Harriet (Beecher) Stowe. In the Channel islands the woman never loses her maiden name. In Spain the children write the names of both parents, as Llarena y Monteverde. In "Don Quixote" is the following: Casajo was my father's name, and 1, for being the wife of Sancho Panza. am called Teresa Panza, but by good right they ought to call me Teresa Casajo." In Scotland both names are preserved, and the woman is always known by her maiden name. In Wales it is the custom to describe the woman by her maiden name. The fact that a woman on becoming the wife of a man loses her identity is apparent In many portions of the Bible, when under the ancient custom man, on taking a wife, declared that she became "flesh of my flesh and blood of my blood," thereby establishing the old time saying that man and wife are one.-Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Tyranny of the Tip. There have always been those who have revolted against the tyranny of the tip. So long ago as October, 1795, we find that ubiquitous personage, "Constant Reader." venting his grievances in the columns of the London Times. "If a man who has a horse puts up at an inn," he complains, "besides the usual bill he must at least give 1s. to the waiter, 6d. to the chambermaid, 6d. to the hostler and 6d. to the jackboot, making together 2s. 6d. At breakfast you must give at least 6d. between the waiter and hostler. If the traveler only puts up to have a refreshment, besides paying for his horses' standing he must give 3d, to the 3d. to the hostler; at tea 6d, between them; so that he gives away in the day 2s. 6d., which, added to the 2s. 6d.

A Millionaire.

The term "millionaire" is of international use, but it does not mean the same thing in the mouths of different To every one it means the nations. possession of a million, but not necessarily a million dollars. In Great Britain a millionaire has a million pounds, or nearly $5,000,000, while in France they count francs, so that there a millionaire is a comparatively poor individual with but $200,-000 to bless himself with. Million aires are quite common in Prussia, but a million marks don't mean lionaires of real class it is necessary to go back to old Babylon. The Babylonian millionaire had 1,000,000 talents and would not be regarded as a poor man even by a Wall street office boy. A talent was about $2,000, and a milllon of them would be $2,000,000,000.

Good and Bad.

A remarkably brief, effective summing up was once quoted by Lord Lillian M. Connors v. Geo. A. Connors. James in an after dinner speech. It No. 49 Jan. Term, 1911. Libel in Divorce was delivered by an Irish judge trying a man for pig stealing. The evidence of his guilt was conclusive, but the prisoner insisted on calling a number of witnesses, who testified most emphatically to his general good character. After hearing their evidence and the counsel's speeches the indge remarked. "Gentlemen of the jury, I think that the only conclusion you can arrive at is that the pig was stolen by the prisoner and that he is the most amiable man in the county."-Lordon Chropicle.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

Certain Ingredients That Really Pro mote Hair Growth When Properly Combined.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Napthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment. and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well-known ingredient for restoring the hair to its naiural color, when the loss of hair here been caused by a disease of the scalp. These ingredients in proper combination, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well-defined nourishing properties, perfect perhaps the most ef-'e tive remedy that is known for scala and hair troubles.

We have a remedy which is chiefly emposed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely invaluable medicinal agents. We guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or we will refund your money. If the scalp has a glazed shiny appearance, it's an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances we belleve baldness is cursble

We want every one troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a post tive cure in 93% of cases where put t a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike, and we think, in every particu lar, better than anything else we know of for the purpose for which i is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire r'sk. Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedie only at our store-The Rexall Store. A. M. LEINE

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

If we had to take the advice we give probably there would be a great re-sion in the matter handed out.

Be suspicious of the man who sees everything as you see it. It may be that he is getting close enough to make a touch.

The milk of human kindness should yield a rich cream of goodfellowship.

People who have castles in the air may soon be called upon to pay an air tax.

Many a gown fits the wife a great deal more satisfactorily than the bill for it fits her husband.

There may be quite a difference to a man between having a draft in his pocket and a draft on his pocket.

A tall man is often short after marriage

The man who doesn't invest money in his own enterprises may have more charity for himself than faith in his busines

One reason why some people change their minds readily is undoubtedly because it is so little trouble.

Trouble is a tiresome thing, but some cople seem greatly to enjoy taking it.

worked below the center and thirteen above it. The beads are used for filling in the centers of the flowers.

The Fly.

"Where on earth do those flies come from?" is a frequent and despairing By saving steps for mother they are question.

How do flies get into the house? They may come down the chimneys, if the fireplaces have tipping dampers. These should be tightly closed in flytime. An appreciable falling off in their number will be the result.

If the chimneys have not the tipping damper, a screen such as is used for a window can be fitted into the fireplace, or, easier still, a bundle of paper may be stuffed up the chimney. Either method is successful, and no trouble is too great to get rid of these pests.

Making the Work Easy. It is a splendid plan to keep a measuring spoon in coffee and tea canisters, and also in soda and baking powder cans. This will be found a great saving in time in the kitchen work, for when one has only a single measuring spoon it is likely to get misplaced, and it has an annoying habit of getting misplaced completely just when it is badly needed.

Watch the Kitchen Sink. The sink in the average household is the most malignant of all household conveniences, needs more attention Elis since a comparatively recent date The earliest specimens came only. there during the reign of Louis XVI. From a Frenchman of about that time, an explorer named Levaillant, who had traveled among the Kaffirs and Hottentots, these animals with the long necks were first heard of in France. Nobody believed his story, zontally in the opposite direction, as and he was laughed at until ome liv-shown in the cut. The large ornaments ing specimens arrived in the French are also embroidered in the silk, taking capital and he established his credit for truthfulness.

Little Helpers. Do you know what the children who do things to help one another are called? They are called "little step savers," and a great blessing they are to many a tired mother. For their own growth it is necessary for children to run and walk a great deal. helping themselves to grow and doing a great kindness to mother at the same time.

Conundrums.

When is a gentleman's shirt like the heavens at night? When bespangled with stars.

What would contain all the snuff in the world? No one nose (knows). Why does a gentleman look first on one side and then another when walk ing down the street? Because he can't look on both sides at the same time. What small animals are always seen at social functions? White kids.

Correct Pronunciation.

The correct pronunciation of the English language and all foreign words in common use is becoming a subject of interest and importance to those persons who can appreciate the great advantage of possessing the ability to speak correctly. To render conversation most delightful to a cul tivated ear the pronunciation of every word must be correct.

Breaking It Gently. "I have called, sir, to see the photo of the lady with $25,000 who wants a husband."

"Can you keep your face straight?" "Of course I can.

"Very well. We'll break you in first with the $5,000 applicants, and then gradually, as you grow stronger, we will work you up to the big prize. This way, please, and don't get frightened."--Exchange.

Dinner Among the Romans. The Romans in the time of Cicero and Augustus took an early breakfast, from 3 to 4 in the morning; a luncheon at 12 or 1, and at about 3 o'clock the coena, or principal meal of the day, corresponding with our dinner. Concurrently we read of some not dining until sunset.
