FOR THE CHILDREN

The Four Legged Turkey.

Every Wednesday Miss Denslow gave her scholars an exercise in composition.

Their faces brightened, for it was almost Thanksgiving, and soon every pencil was going.

Henry Jerome was an observing boy, with a fine memory, so his exercise was generally one of the best.

"Turkeys are very nice to eat. We had a big one for dinner last Thanksgiving. They are a good deal like chickens, only they are bigger and better and have four legs instead of two."

When Miss Denslow looked over the papers she read some of them aloud. She came to Henry's. She glanced through it, smiled and then read it to the school.

"Some of the boys opened their eyes wide, two girls laughed and a dozen hands waved wildly.

"Put down your hands," the teacher said. "We will give Henry a chance first. What makes you think turkeys have four legs, Henry? Have you ever seen one?"

"Why, yes, Miss Denslow. We had one last Thanksgiving."

"I mean a live one. Did you ever see one walking?"

"Oh, no, Miss Denslow! But I know they have four legs, because last Thanksgiving Cousin Robert had one and Cousin Jim had one and my brother Stanley had one and I had one, and that made four." Henry looked round triumphantly.

"Didn't your mother cook two turkeys?" asked his teacher.

"No, Miss Denslow, we had only one."

"I think I understand how it was," Miss Denslow said. "A turkey's leg is long, with a joint. Probably two of you had the lower portions of the legs and the other two had the upper parts, for I never saw a turkey that had four legs."

When Henry went home he asked his mother about it and found that Miss Denslow was right.

Henry's cousins heard about the composition, and for many Thanksgivings the little boy was joked about his four legged turkey.—Youth's Companion.

Doubt It—A Card Game.

Any number of persons can play this game of cards, which should be played with two packs. The cards are dealt around in turn one at a time till all are given out.

The next player puts down a card in the same way, saying it is the next in order, but if he has it or not he may place any card he chooses, still declaring it to be the next card needed.

The object of the game is to get rid of the cards, and the one who is first out of them beats. If a player tries to cheat by putting down two cards at once and is discovered he is obliged to take all the cards played. The playing should be done as quickly as possible.

Game of Adjectives.

This may be quite amusing. A slip of paper and pencil are given to each player, who must then write a number of adjectives upon the slip. The slips are collected and given to the principal player, who has undertaken to read aloud a short story, substituting the adjectives on the slips for those already in the story.

Conundrums.

What is the difference between a bottle of medicine and a troublesome boy? One is to be well shaken before taken, the other to be taken and then shaken.

Thanksgiving.

For the sunshine and the rain, For the dew and for the shower, For the yellow ripened grain And the golden harvest hour We bless thee, oh, our God!

For the heat and the shade, For the gladness and the grief, For the tender sprouting blade And for the nodding sheaf We bless thee, oh, our God!

For the hope and for the fear, For the storm and for the peace, For the trembling and the cheer And for the glad increase We bless thee, oh, our God!

Our hands have tilled the sod And the torpid seed have sown, But the quickening was of God, And the praise be his alone, We bless thee, oh, our God!

Roast Turkey.

Cook turkeys are usually better eating than hen turkeys unless a hen turkey is young, small and plump. Use enough stuffing to fill the skin that the bird may look plump when served.

Place turkey on its side in dripping pan. Rub entire surface with salt, brush with soft butter and dredge with flour. Place in hot oven and when well browned reduce the heat. Baste with fat in pan and add two cupsful of boiling water.

English Stuffing.—Chop fat salt pork There should be one-quarter cupful. Add one finely chopped onion and cook ten minutes.

Cranberry Pudding. One cupful sugar, one cupful sweet milk, two cupfuls flour, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, three-quarters teaspoonful soda or three teaspoonfuls baking powder sifted in flour, yolks of two eggs, one large cupful cranberries, cut in halves.

Pumpkin Pie. One cupful strained pumpkin, one cupful cream or milk, one cupful sugar, three eggs slightly beaten, one-fourth cupful cognac, one-half teaspoonful nutmeg, one teaspoonful ginger, one teaspoonful cinnamon and salt.

Oyster Stuffing For Turkey. A light, delicate stuffing may be made as follows: Pour boiling water over common soda crackers and pour off immediately before they break.

Sweetbreads and Bacon. Parboil the sweetbreads, drain them and remove the gristle and fat. Dip into beaten egg which is seasoned with salt and pepper, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in the pan in which the bacon has been fried.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

The Precepts of Solomon.

King Solomon, the story says, had many wives. He married them in bargala lots of two and three and five.

The story says that Solomon was wise beyond his age. A match for all designing maids or ladies in a rage.

And wrote a bunch of lyrics that would shame our Laura Jean. The story says that Solomon got softening of the brain.

The home precepts of Solomon do scarce apply to me. I've but a single wife against his nine-teen-sixty-three.
