LAKEVILLE.

(Special to The Citizen.)

Lakeville, Pa., Nov. 13. We desire to make a correction to the obituary notice of Mrs. Carolyn Kelly Harris: Mrs. Harris was a member of the M. E. church of this place until 1879 when she left it to go in the Free Methodist that at that time began work in this place. That party has long since ceased to exist; the building that they put up is going to ruin, and while others, who with Mrs. Harris left the M. E. church at that time, came back and rejoined, yet there is no record of Mrs. Harris having done so, and her name does not appear on the church records, and she therefore was not a member of the M. E. church at Lakeville.

Dr. Murdock, the district superintendent of this charge, will hold the third quarterly meeting at Arlington on Tuesday, November 21. There will be preaching service in the evening. The quarterly conference will follow. On Wednesday, Nov. 22, he will preach at Lakeville in the evening at 7:30. Will all the church members please take notice and help the pastor?

HAWLEY.

(Special to The Citizen.)

Hawley, Pa., Nov. 14. The funeral of Addison M. Vicker took place at his late residence Tuesday morning. Burial in the Walnut Grove cemetery. Many out of town relatives and friends were present. The deceased was stricken with a fatal ailment last spring to which he finally succumbed on Saturday evening, Nov. 4, aged 42 years. A wife and one son survive him. He was a man of fine character, a good friend and citizen, whose early demise is deeply lamented by the entire community.

Another death which brought sorrow to the people of Hawley was that of Frederick I. Sutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Sutter, who died in a hospital in Philadelphia Thursday, Nov. 2, of pulmonary tuberculosis. He had been absent from home four years. He was a member of the Elite club and a member of the German Lutheran church and was highly regarded by the residents of his home town. He was born in Hawley February 27, 1881. His funeral was held from the home of his parents on Spring street Wednesday afternoon. Burial in the Eddy cemetery.

DISINHERITS SON.

Mother Says Death Will Soon Take Him.

HE SAYS THE WILL IS JUST.

Philadelphia Woman in Remarkable Testament Withholds Property From Eldest Son, Who, She Says, Suffers From Incurable Disease Which Will Cause Death.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—In one of the most remarkable wills ever offered for probate in this county the late Mrs. Eliza Peberdy, in bequeathing an estate valued at $27,000, excluded George Edwin Peberdy, her eldest and favorite son, from participation, because, as the will declares, he will die shortly after the testator. In her will Mrs. Peberdy wrote: "I omit to give or devise any part of my property to my oldest son, George Edwin Peberdy, not because of any lack of affection or consideration for him, but solely because of the fact that he is now stricken with an illness which I believe will, before long prove fatal to him. He may die before me and, should he not, at the utmost he cannot survive me long. He could not personally derive any benefit from any share of my estate, which I might provide for him, and my desire is that none but immediate children of mine shall benefit under my will, they being nearest to me."

The bulk of the estate is bequeathed to John and Charles Peberdy, younger sons. George Peberdy declared he was in thorough accord with the terms of his mother's will.

LETTERS DISAPPEAR.

Police Investigating Theft of Evidence in Dulaney Tragedy.

Washington, Pa., Nov. 14.—While the chief of police, William J. Dulaney, who was mysteriously killed in the home of Miss Ada Lennox Thursday night, was being buried a score of detectives were running down clues concerning the reported theft from the Lennox home of valuable data bearing on the case. Chief Dulaney visited the Lennox home at 11 o'clock at night, and he was shot at 2 o'clock Friday morning. Miss Lennox and her mother maintain it was a case of suicide, but they are being detained.

Thousands witnessed the military burial of Chief Dulaney. Philippine war veterans and other military organizations participated.

Preliminary inspection of the scene of the tragedy was made by the coroner's jury, which is holding an inquest today. Sensational developments are expected.

BOY ELUDES KIDNAPERS.

Charles Tozzo Returns to Parents in Weakened Condition.

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Weak and fainting, twelve-year-old Charles Tozzo, son of one of the wealthiest Italians in this place, staggered into his father's home after having escaped from two kidnapers. Chief of Police Jeffrey Downing and a squad of state constabulary are searching the wooded hills near here for the men who kidnaped the boy last Friday night.

After staying in a shanty all Friday night the boy kept watch for a chance to escape. This came when two men began drinking whisky. They became intoxicated and fell asleep. The boy then stole quietly from the shanty and after traveling through the woods finally found a road which led him to town.

WOMAN CAPTURES INTRUDER.

Holds Man at Point of Revolver Until Police Arrive.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—David Kane, who was held up at the point of a revolver by a woman until the arrival of the police, will have a chance to explain to Magistrate Fitzpatrick this afternoon how he came to be found in the home of Mrs. Mary Gallagher of Germantown.

She heard some one moving about in the lower part of the house. Lighting a candle and arming herself with a rusty old revolver, she crept downstairs. She surprised Kane.

After making him throw up his hands she held Kane for the police.

GIRL VICTIM OF JEALOUSY.

Two Suitors Seriously Wounded in Shooting Affray.

Pittsburg, Nov. 14.—After an argument over the affections of a waitress, George Denary, twenty-eight years old, shot and killed Katie Wenneck, twenty, and seriously wounded Charles Melance, twenty-six, and fired a bullet into his own head at a restaurant at Wilkesburg, a suburb.

Sixty Monkeys Escape From Cages.

Yardley, Pa., Nov. 14.—Sixty monkeys are at liberty here, having escaped from the farm of Wenz & Mackinson, naturalists, when a visitor left a cage door unfastened. A reward of $3 each has been offered for the return of the monkeys, and men and boys are searching the country for them. They are valued at $1,000, and it is believed that many will perish because of the cold.
