F. J. Varcoe, contractor, lost a valuable team horse last Friday night, being the second horse that has died within three months. Death was caused by indigestion. A good ration for a horse that is troubled with indigestion is taken from field and farm and is mixed as follows: Ground oats and corn, 5 pounds each; 4 ounces of oil meal, 2 ounces of salt, a dessertspoonful of powdered gentian and a small teaspoonful of dried sulphate of iron. If the animal refuses the ration, a little starvation will make him taste it when the dislike will cease. Begin with a small quantity of this ration for each meal and increase gradually until a full ration is being fed. As the cold weather comes on horses that have been overworked often fall in condition and need special attention to build them up again.

A representative, but small audience, greeted Mrs. Salo Friedewald of Scranton, at the High School Auditorium last Saturday afternoon, when she presented "The Garden of Allah," the masterpiece which made Robert Hichens famous. Mrs. Friedewald is a little woman of charming personality, combined with unusual force of character and magnetism; and she held the rapt attention of her audience from start to finish. Her work, that of interpretation of literary masterpieces, and for the last few years, that of modern drama especially, give to people who have but small opportunity to see best plays, to know them; not through cold reading merely, but with the fervor and eclat of one who sees, and feels! She began these interpretations in Scranton ten years ago with much deserved, but undreamed success; and is now engaged with them all over the eastern part of the country. She especially emphasizes the modern tendency to show the inner life of man;—soul and spirit are themes of wonderful interest—this is the age of the psychologist. Mrs. Friedewald has conducted Browning classes for the past six years and through her presentations in these, has helped and inspired many people. The average attendance of her Tuesday class in Scranton is 150. The Wednesday class in Wilkes-Barre numbers from 70 to 80. She also is engaged by the College Club in Wilkes-Barre and the Century Club in Carbondale. Single admission may be had to any reading by those, for any reason, not holding season tickets. The audience is not confined to women. The theme for Saturday, Dec. 2, is the always interesting one, "Every Woman."

Mr. Madden Buys Hotel.

Harry T. Madden, proprietor of Hotel Nash, Scranton, last Thursday purchased from Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Thomas the furniture and business of Hotel Holland, adjoining the Nash on Adams avenue, Scranton. The consideration is said to have been in the neighborhood of $10,000. Mr. Madden will take possession of the Holland at once and will conduct both establishments. Frank H. Gromlich, now manager of the Nash, will be retained in that position and H. D. Smith has been appointed manager of the Holland. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas have purchased a hotel business at Sailorsburg, this state.

The Holland building is owned by Luther Keller. It contains seventy sleeping rooms and has for many years been one of the leading family hotels in Scranton. Extensive improvements, which will include the equipping of a number of rooms with private baths and running water will be made in the building within the next few weeks. Similar improvements are already under way at the Nash building.

In taking over the Holland Mr. Madden announced that it is his intention to develop the family hotel idea to its greatest degree. His present plans contemplate the equipping of suites of rooms for families as well as taking care of his transient business. Mr. Madden is a son of County Commissioner T. C. Madden, Newfoundland.

Three Hundred Hunters in Pike County.

It is stated that there were 300 hunters in the woods of Pike county waiting to get the first shot at a deer on the morning of the 15th. Hunting, it is claimed, is exceptionally good this season, a number of the feet-footed animals having been killed.

The State Forestry Department has issued 5000 permits to persons to camp on State forest reserves during the two weeks of the deer shooting season, which opened Wednesday. This is 1200 more than last year and indicates that many hundred more hunters than ever before are on the trail of big game.

It is estimated that at least ten thousand men are in the mountains of this State in search of deer.

Reports received by the State Game Commission indicate that more bucks are being killed than last year.

Parties from Wayne county have brought down several fine bucks.

The Biggest Dramatic Company.

It is seldom that dramatic companies are very large or their equipment very heavy, the exception to this is "Madam X," the biggest dramatic company on tour this season. "Madam X" will be seen in its entirety with the original production on Monday, November 27, at the Lyric. This is one of the few smaller towns played by this company, so no theatregoer who demands the best should miss this opportunity of seeing the most powerful drama of this generation.

ROMANCE OF 50 YEARS.

A romance of more than 50 years has developed at McKeesport with the death of Miss Kate Maharric, 70. She was betrothed to Daniel Frantz in the spring of 1861 and shortly afterward President Lincoln called for volunteers. Frantz enlisted. At the battle of the Wilderness he was fatally wounded and instructed comrades to send a lock of his hair to his sweetheart. For 50 years Miss Maharric kept her promise to the man she loved. When she was buried last week, she wore the dress she had made for her own wedding day. A lock of hair and a red rose which Frantz had given her just before he went to the war were also buried with her.

County Seaters Defeat Hawley Five, Thursday Night, in Exciting Game.

"Hawley is considered to be the hardest team in this section to beat," announced Floor Manager Voigt at the Roller Rink last Thursday evening by way of introduction to the basket ball game to be fought out between the County Seaters and the Bridge Dodgers.

Eight minutes after the clock struck ten, the fun began. Bader made the first basket. Then another County Seater made a second basket. And a sweet young thing murmured to her escort, who was from Hawley, "They haven't made a basket yet," and got a growl for a reply.

The game was a fast and furious one. The County Seaters got the "Hurrays" frequently. The Bridge Dodgers got the "merry Ha, Ha's." There were no fist fights. It was a nice little game, played in a nice little way, by Leon Ross' five nice little boys.

The delightful details follow:

Honesdale. Position. Hawley. Brader.....F.....Gill. Ross.....F.....Switzer. O'Connell.....C.....Gillpin. W. Polt.....G.....Rowland. Bader.....G.....Tuthill.

Field marks: Bader, 2, Ross 1, O'Connell, 1, Polt 4, Brader 2, Gill 1; Switzer 2, Gillpin 2. Baskets on fouls, Gill, 1. Timekeepers, O'Neill and Finnian. Referee, R. J. Bracey.

Death of Former Honesdaler.

Jacob W. Shiebel, who was born in Honesdale 65 years ago, died at his home in Moscow on Saturday last from paralysis. The funeral was held Tuesday morning. He was a carpenter and cabinet maker by trade. Mr. Shiebel is survived by a wife and large family.

An Explanation From Manager Dittrich.

Knowing that the recent performance here of "45 Minutes from Broadway" disappointed a great many patrons of the Lyric, and, also knowing that the attraction did not come up to the standard for an attraction playing at $1.50 prices, I wish to explain that the play was booked and very highly recommended by the Manager of the Eastern Theatre Managers' Association, of which organization I am a member. I regret very much that the performance did not please as my object is to book and play only the best attractions at their respective scales of prices.
