"THOSE GIRLS" ON TRIAL.

Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham to Answer For Shooting Stokes.

New York, Nov. 23.—Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham, dubbed the "shooting show girls," perhaps because neither ever was a show girl and neither was enough of a shooter to do more than bore small holes through W. E. D. Stokes' leg, were placed on trial in the supreme court before Justice Louis Marcus of Buffalo, temporarily assigned to this district.

Both girls were composed as usual. Mr. Stokes, the wealthy proprietor of the Ansonia hotel, was not in court, but he was within call. Many letters are to figure in the trial.

ASQUITH DISHONORABLE?

That's What Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont Says of His Suffragette Policy.

New York, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont believes the English suffragettes display noble patience under their many trials.

"The treatment which has been meted out to these brave, self-sacrificing women," she said, "constitutes the blackest stain on the pages of England's history. They have been basely betrayed by Asquith, who should be repudiated by the people he pretends to serve. Not only has he broken his pledges to the women, but in so doing he has acted against the expressed wishes of a large majority of the house of commons. His conduct is dishonorable to the last degree, and he is undoubtedly the most arrogant despot in Europe. Why, the czar of Russia would not dare act as he has done."

Mrs. Belmont said a parade of the suffragettes as a protest against the treatment of their English sisters will probably be held.

IT'S NO SHOW ANY MORE.

Suffragettes in London Court Fail to Draw Usual Crowd.

London, Nov. 23.—The public, having been overfed on similar spectacles, showed only the faintest interest in the long line of suffragettes who appeared in the Bow street police court because of their disorderly conduct in Parliament square.

There were in all 223 prisoners. Those whose offences had been trivial were fined in small amounts, but the women accused of doing more than $5 damage were committed for trial.

The fines imposed ranged from 10 shillings to £1 in addition to varying sums for damages, in default of which a fortnight of imprisonment was made the penalty. The suffragettes who were charged with more serious damage and held for trial were bailed out.

MAKES SURE OF DEATH.

Discharged Bookkeeper Cuts Throat, Then Jumps Twenty-six Stories.

New York, Nov. 23.—John H. Johnstone, a bookkeeper, cut his throat and then leaped to death from the twenty-sixth story of the City Investment building, 165 Broadway.

Johnstone was employed up to last Saturday by the New York County Lawyers' association, with offices on the fifth floor of the building. He was discharged "for cause."

While nearly every bone in his body was broken, his eyeglasses were not harmed.

Johnstone lived in Ampere, N. J., with his wife and two children.

CHINA UNDER THE MANCHUS.

Quarrels With England That Led to War of 1856.

HISTORY OF 300 YEARS.

Present Reigning Dynasty Was Established After the Country Had Been Conquered in a Struggle That Lasted From 1616 to 1643.

In view of the probability of the fall of the Manchu dynasty that has ruled China for nearly 300 years, the following chronological table is of interest:

The country is conquered by the eastern or Manchu Tartars, who established the present reigning Tsin dynasty.....1616-43
Tea brought to England.....1600
An earthquake throughout China buries 300,000 persons at Peking alone.....1603
Gaidan, prince of Jangaria, conquers Kashgaria and becomes supreme in central Asia.....1678
Checked by Kanghi.....1689
Totally defeated.....1696

In a salute by one of the British ships in China a gun was inadvertently fired, which killed a native. The government demanded the gunner. He was soon strangled.....1785
Earl Macartney's embassy arrives at Peking. His reception by the emperor.....1793
(This embassy threw light on the empire. It appeared to be divided into fifteen provinces containing 4,402 walled cities. The population of the whole was given at 333,000,000, its annual revenues at $26,000,000 and the army, including the Tartars, 1,000,000 of infantry and 800,000 cavalry. The government was absolute. Learning and the arts and sciences were encouraged and ethics studied.)

Macartney is ordered to depart. Oct. 7, 1793
Arrives in England.....Sept. 6, 1794
The affair of the company's ship Neptune, when a Chinaman was killed.....1807
Edict against Christianity.....1812
Chinese rule in central Asia weakened.....1812
Lord Amherst's embassy; he leaves England.....Feb. 5, 1816
(Amherst failed in the objects of his mission, having refused to make the prostration of the "kotow" lest he should thereby compromise the majesty of England.)

Temporary insurrection in Kashgar.....1824, et seq.
Exclusive rights of the East India company cease.....1834
Lord Napier arrives at Macao to superintend British commerce.....July 15, 1834
Affair between the natives and two British ships of war; several Chinese killed.....Sept. 5, 1834
Opium dispute begins; the trade prohibited by the emperor.....November, 1834
Chinese seize the Argyle and crew.....Jan. 31, 1835
Opium burned at Canton by Chinese.....Feb. 22, 1835

The British trade with China ceases by an edict of the emperor.....Dec. 8, 1839
Edict of the emperor interdicting all trade and intercourse with England forever.....Jan. 6, 1840
Treaty of peace signed before Macao on board the Cornwallis by Sir Henry Pottinger for England and Keying Elepoo and Neu Kien on the part of the Chinese emperor. (Conditions: Lasting peace and friendship between the two empires; China to pay $2,000,000; Canton, Amoy, Fuchau, Ningpo and Shanghai to be thrown open to the British, and consuls to reside at these cities; Hongkong to be ceded in perpetuity to England, etc.).....Aug. 29, 1842

The nonfulfillment of this treaty led gradually to the war of.....1856-7
The more recent history of the Chinese empire—the war with Japan, the Boxer outbreak, the death of the Emperor Kwangsu and the Dowager Empress Tsin, etc.—is too familiar to need recapitulation.

SEATTLE SIXTY YEARS OLD.

Celebration Ends With Banquet in Chamber of Commerce.

Seattle has just celebrated its sixtieth birthday.

The city was founded by a party from Portland, headed by the families of Arthur A. Denny and David Denny, Tennesseans. They named the settlement after a friendly Indian chief.

Meat Exports Decline.

Owing to increased home consumption there has been a marked decline in the exporting of American meats.
