Lawrence (Mass.) Strikers Clash With Militia.

ONE INJURED BY BAYONETS.

Manufacturing Town Sees Many Riots In Which Operatives Defy Police. Now Make Demands For Wage Increase—One Italian Gets Prison Sentence.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 16.—This great manufacturing city is almost an armed camp as the result of the turbulent actions of the woolen operatives who are now on strike to the number of about 15,000.

Practically all the mills in the city are shut down because of a lack of sufficient help, and there are now more than 500 militiamen under arms, five additional companies having been sent here by Adjutant General Pearson when Mayor Scanlon appealed to Governor Foss.

Bayonets were used when two local companies of infantry and a battery of artillery that had been waiting in the armory were called upon because the rioters refused to be awed by bullets fired over their heads by policemen and had responded in kind. Only one person was seriously injured in the clash. This was a Syrian boy, who received a bayonet thrust in the side and may not survive. Others of the mob felt the prick of the bayonets through the backs of their coats when they fled before a charge by Captain Charles W. Rantell's company, L, of the Eighth regiment. Captain Rantell is the military instructor in the Boston public schools and was a student at West Point for several years. Several people were slightly wounded by bullets fired by the strikers.

A great crowd of men, women and children stormed the city hall, demanding an entrance in order that they might hold a special meeting of strikers.

At a conference with Mayor Scanlon and city officials Joseph Eitor of New York declared the strikers demand an increase of 15 per cent in wages, the abolition of the premium system and double pay for all overtime work.

The demands are something new, as the strike was started as a protest against not being paid for fifty-six hours' work, although labor for but fifty-four hours was performed in consequence of the new law.

The conference with the mayor resulted in the strikers securing the use of city hall for a meeting and permission to post pickets on the thoroughfares leading to the mills. The strike committee was informed that if any attempt was made by the pickets to use any force toward operatives who desired to go to work they would be instantly arrested by the soldiers.

There was an attack made upon the Champion paper mills, one of the International Paper company's plants, by strikers from the woolen mills. Several gates were broken down and windows smashed before the rioters were dispersed. It appears to be the aim of the strikers to induce, either by force or otherwise, every man employed in any industry whatever here to go out.

About 30,000 people are practically idle now, and it is a question if any of the woolen mills will be able to resume operations for several days.

Many arrests have been made, and most of the prisoners were found to have revolvers or knives in their pockets. One Italian was nabbed who had an automatic revolver and two knives on his person besides a belt full of cartridges. He was given a sentence of two years by Judge Mahoney who disposed of the cases as fast as they were brought before him.

Police Commissioner Lynch passed out word today that there would be shooting to kill if the strikers continued their tactics.

RUSSIAN REFUGEE AT TUFTS.

To Urge a Republic on Czar's Domain After Receiving Degree.

Medford, Mass., Jan. 16.—Jacob Saneerb, a young Russian refugee, has enrolled as a member of Tufts college. Some time ago he came to this country as a stowaway from Hamburg, whither he had fled from Russia after many adventures while the Russian police were on his trail.

Saneerb was in the thick of the disturbances in Russia in 1905 and 1906, being one of the most brilliant of the youthful orators of the Social Democratic party, whose meetings had to be held in secret. Finally with the issue of the famous manifesto a price was practically set upon his head, as upon many others, and he then became a fugitive. Friends smuggled him aboard a friendly boat in a barrel. He was later released and hidden in a coal pocket. He swam from the ship at Hamburg, where he lived for some time, earning enough to assist him in obtaining his education here.

When he receives his degree Saneerb plans to return to Russia in disguise and resume his advocacy of the establishment of a republican form of government in that country.

FARLEY NEARING HOME.

Steamship Berlin Will Dock at New York Wednesday Morning.

At Sea Aboard the Steamship Berlin, Jan. 16. (By Wireless via Halifax).—In spite of a misty rain the sea is calm, and the vessel with Cardinal Farley and his suit aboard is making good progress toward New York. The change in the sea is a welcome one from the storm which kicked up such heavy waves as to make impossible the holding of divine services aboard.

For three days the great ship has been harassed by head winds which began on Friday and on Saturday developed into a veritable gale. At times it blew seventy-five miles an hour, driving nearly every one below and causing the greatest discomfort.

Unless another storm breaks it is assumed that the ship will be off Sandy Hook late tonight, but the captain has instructions from New York to anchor outside until morning, so that he will not dock before Wednesday forenoon, in accordance with the program which has been made for the reception of the distinguished prelate.

OPEN DEBATE ON TREATIES.

Senate Decides Not to Close Doors on Arbitration Discussion.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate in executive session by a vote of 58 to 8 decided to debate the pending arbitration treaties, or so called "peace treaties," with Great Britain and France in open senate. This conclusion was reached after a stormy debate in which the president and secretary of state were severely criticised. Senator Lodge led the fight for keeping the debate behind closed doors, while Senator Rayner and others demanded that the doors of the senate be open and that the debate proceed publicly.

MINERS MEETING.

White Is Re-elected President Over Lewis.

TO DETERMINE WAGE SCALE.

At Indianapolis 1,300 Delegates to National Convention of United Mine Workers of America Will Discuss New Contract With Operators in the Coal Fields.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Thirteen hundred delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America are in the city and today will convene the initial session of which is believed to be one of the most important conventions in the history of the organization. The leading miners from every state are a unit in expressing a determination to demand an increased wage scale, but they differ radically in the amount that will be demanded, some of them wanting as high as 20 per cent and others as low as 5 per cent advance.

There is no longer any doubt as to the result of the election. According to the best obtainable information, John P. White is re-elected president over Thomas L. Lewis, former president, by a majority of something like 40,000, and the majority of Frank J. Hayes for re-election as vice president over Samuel Pascoe of Illinois is also the same. Edwin Perry had no opposition for re-election as secretary-treasurer.

The important subject of the convention this year to the more than a quarter of a million union miners is largely in the fact that for the first time in the history of the organization the wage scale agreements in both the anthracite and bituminous mining fields will expire March 31, and new wage scale agreements will have to be negotiated before that time. This means that the convention will have to determine on the scale for the central competitive bituminous field and make recommendations for the wage scale to be negotiated at the conference of the anthracite operators and miners.

The miners will insist on an advance in the mining wage scale because they say the cost of living has increased greatly in the last ten years, while their wages have remained the same under the award of the anthracite commission. It is expected that the anthracite miners will be supported in this demand for an increase by all of the members of the miners' organizations with all of their resources.

It is expected John Mitchell, former president, will try to have rescinded the action of the convention in declaring that he must either resign from the National Civic federation or the United Mine Workers of America. Mitchell left the Civic federation, where his position carried a salary of $8,000 a year, and remained in the union. His friends now assert that the Mine Workers' convention was packed against him last year and that this enabled the socialist element to force through the resolution.

TRY TO KIDNAP PRINCE.

Young Son of Princess Alice Found by Searchers.

Viareggio, Italy, Jan. 16.—An attempt was made here to kidnap the nine-year-old son of the late Prince Frederic of Schoenburg-Waldenburg. The boy has been living here with his mother, the Princess Alice of Bourbon, who is a sister of Don Jamie, pretender to the throne of Spain. The princess divorced her husband several years ago and afterward married a lieutenant in the Italian army named Del Prete.

When the boy was missed from his mother's villa, a widespread search was inaugurated. Searchers came upon the little prince on a lonely road near the town of Pietrarsanta. The princess attributes the attempt to kidnap her son to the members of the family of his father.

STILL ASSESS IRONWORKERS.

Levy of $7,000 a Month Collected Because of Expected Trouble.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—It is admitted at the offices of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers that the special assessment of $7,000 a month levied five months ago is still being collected and that the money is being raised because of expected trouble.

It was not stated what the expected trouble is, but the officers intimate in a circular recently issued that the money will be needed to defend some one or more persons who will be prosecuted because of their connection with unionism.

A REPUBLIC BY DECREE?

Edict Expected That Will Restore Peace in China.

London, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of the Times at Peking, telegraphing to his paper, says that within three or four days a momentous edict will be issued in China which will go much further than has been expected. It will not only announce the abdication of the reigning family, but will decree the establishment of a republican form of government for China, the people to elect a president.

The belief is that this will cause the republic to be guarded by the people.

JOHN MITCHELL.

Former Head of Miners Seeks Permission to Hold $3,000 Job.

$2,000,000 TO CHARITY.

Late Richard T. Crane Provided For Homes For Deserted Wives.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A fund of $2,000,000 for the fortune of the late Richard T. Crane, multimillionaire iron master of Chicago, will be devoted to charitable works. This became known when the will was filed for probate.

One striking and original feature is the establishment of a fund to provide homes in the country and means of sustaining them for families deserted by the husbands.

Mrs. Crane, the widow, was given the palatial home at 2541 Michigan avenue for life, the summer home at Lake Geneva and a yearly allowance of $15,000, this in addition to the provisions made for Mrs. Crane in an antenuptial agreement.

The will disposes of property estimated at values as high as $20,000,000. In the petition it is estimated at $10,000,000. Charles R. and Richard, the sons named as executors, will get perhaps the major portion of their father's property. The third son, Herbert P. Crane, and the several daughters, the will states, had been cared for prior to the drawing of the instrument.

The gist of the girl's deposition is as follows: "Believing that I am about to die, I make this statement: My present condition was caused by two operations performed upon me by Dr. William McFarland, knowing that I was in a delicate condition. ### Built the First Mile of Railroad for Commercial Use.

A correspondent of the New York Sun of January 12, 1912, contributes the following to that journal:

"There is a grave in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y., said an old time railroad man, 'the stone at the head of which bears only the name of the man whose remains are buried there, the date of his birth, and the date of his death. Yet that man—John Raymond—built the first mile of railroad for commercial use and designed for locomotive power ever put down on the American continent."

"That was in 1828, and that initial mile of railroad was the beginning of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company's railroad between the head of its canal at Honesdale, Pa., and its coal mines at Carbondale. And on that first mile of track the first locomotive to turn a wheel in America was run August 8, 1829."

The man above referred to was born in Walton, Delaware county, N. Y., and was for a number of years a merchant at Hamilton, this county, and where he filled many of the local town offices. Mr. Raymond married a daughter of Thomas Spangenberg, Esq., of that village. He was familiarly addressed by every one in this section as "Uncle" John Raymond. He received a pension for services rendered his country as a soldier of the war of 1812. For a long period he was a prominent resident of Scranton, and highly respected and honored wherever known. He died in the latter city in 1883, aged nearly 100 years. The John Raymond Universalist church of that city was mainly erected through the liberality of his daughter, as a memorial to her father.

We are indebted to E. A. Penniman for the above information.

Before the political boiling kettle of the November election has had hardly time to sufficiently cool, we notice in Friday's issue of The Citizen some unknown Hawleyite is trying to push ex-Sheriff Braman headlong into the State Legislature, which seems a little premature. We kindly admit that Mr. Braman, as one of the retiring officers, did, as far as we know, perform the duties of his office honestly and to the entire satisfaction to the people, but how about locations? Hawley is not represented by a single elective officer. For the office of Representative Honesdale has had its Fuertch and Damascus now has its Jackson. Hawley has some faithful Republicans who have labored zealously for the success of the party ticket, with some business men and retiring merchants any of which are amply qualified to represent the people in the Legislature. Why not give Hawley a show?
