HURT TRYING TO SAVE GAME

Henry Roberts, Star End on Champion
Indian School Team of 1911 Season.
Falls Victim to Charms of Rose
de Nornie, Who Nursed
Him Back to Health.

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 16.—Henry Roberts, twenty-three, of Pawnee, Okla., and Rose de Nornie, nineteen, of Ashland, Wis., were married at the home of M. Friedman, superintendent of the Carlisle Indian school.

Roberts was a star end of the champion 1911 Carlisle Indian football team, entering last fall as a commercial student. During the Syracuse game—the only one the Indians lost during the season—Roberts was seriously injured. He was taken to the Carlisle Indian school hospital. The first thing he remembered on regaining consciousness was the pretty face of an Indian nurse. He had been her hero on the football gridiron, and through her untiring efforts he soon recovered from the effects of the injuries.

Determining to win her, Roberts assiduously studied for the civil service examination, which he passed with a high average, and received a clerical appointment in the Shoshone Indian school in Wyoming. He will take his bride there today.

Roberts is a Pawnee and his bride a Chippewa.

ONLY FOR CHARITY.

John J. McDevitt Refuses Hundreds of Invitations to Speak.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 16.—"For charity only," is the motto that John J. McDevitt, the "millionaire," adopted after the mail had brought him several hundred invitations to appear before various organizations, clubs, societies and individuals, as well as a number of proposals from theatrical managers to go on the stage. He accepted only one of all these invitations, that of the Clover club of Philadelphia, to go there for a dinner Thursday night, and this only after Judge John M. Garman of this city had urged his acceptance. He decided to refuse all the others because, he says, he does not want to commercialize the notoriety that he has attained. McDevitt made a vigorous denial of a story that some one as yet unknown financed his trip to New York. "I paid every cent of the expenses myself," he said, "and I did not advertise any railroad, any business, any theatrical concern or any person, and I did not want to advertise myself. People do not seem to be able to realize that I was willing to spend every cent I had just for the sensation of a new experience."

LONG WALK TO SICK MOTHER

Man Freezes Hands and Feet in "Hike"
From Baltimore.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—Eager to reach the bedside of his mother, who was sick in her home, 5009 Lancaster avenue, David Bonlack, twenty-two years old, started from Baltimore last Saturday to walk to Philadelphia.

He completed the journey and saw his mother, but within an hour after reaching home the young man had to be taken to the West Philadelphia Homeopathic hospital with badly frost bitten feet and hands. It is feared it will be necessary to amputate one or more of the members.

Bonlack received word of his mother's illness while at work on the wharves in Baltimore. He did not have sufficient money for car fare.

PLANNING THIRD TICKET.

Keystone Party in Pennsylvania Wants Presidential Candidate.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—The Keystone party, which claims to have shown a strength of $5,000 votes in the recent majority election in this city, is fostering a movement to put a third presidential ticket in the field in the event that President Taft is renominated by the Republicans and Judson Harmon becomes the candidate of the Democrats.

The leaders of the Keystone party declare it has been making such tremendous strides in the state that it would form a strong nucleus for a third party. The question of the formation of a national party will come up at a meeting of the state committee on Jan. 26.

APPEAL FOR STARVING BIRDS

State Game Commissioner Asks That Grain Be Left For Them.

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—An appeal to the public to feed the wild birds during this season of frequent bitter cold and intermittent snowstorms is made by Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the state board of game commissioners. Dr. Kalbfus urges that those living in sections of the state where wild birds abound make a practice of scattering over the ground grain, seeds or other forms of sustenance which will prevent starvation in the ranks of the useful feathered hosts.

eral Ownership of Telegraphs.

OPINIONS ARE DIVIDED.

Insurgents Want Government Ownership—Clark Is Quiet.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican house leader, has this to say in regard to the proposed Hitchcock resolution: "I think the relation of the post-office department to the express companies should be disposed of before the relation of the postal service to the telegraph systems is taken up. I do not believe that two measures of the kind can be acted upon at once. It is my opinion that we should pass on the questions of parcels post before we take up Mr. Hitchcock's recommendation as to the telegraph."

"It is a good thing," said Representative Norris, the Nebraska insurgent. "If I had proposed it the administration would have called me a Socialist."

"The Democratic party is not bound to take up every idiosyncrasy proposed by Postmaster General Hitchcock," said Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce and a Democratic leader. "He is not the leader of the Democratic party. I do not believe that the government could control telegraph lines any more efficiently through ownership than by regulation."

Representative Murdock, the Kansas insurgent, said: "I am for this proposition. The matter must be given careful, leisurely and thoughtful consideration. The United States owned the telegraph when it was first invented, and the government should never have permitted the system to pass from its hands. Postmaster General Wickliffe in 1842 made a plea to congress to retain the telegraph systems. Congress refused to make an appropriation of $25,000 for the purpose at the time."

Neither Speaker Clark nor Leader Underwood would make any comment on the Hitchcock plan.

MORGAN GETS
TWO RARE BOOKS

Copy on Paper of the Famous
Gutenberg B.b.le.

FROM THE HUTH LIBRARY.

Other Book is Also a Bible on Vellum
and the First Printed With a Date.
Treasurer Cost Him Nearly Fifty Thousand Dollars.

Two of the three highest priced books in the Huth library sale recently held in London, are now in J. Pierpont Morgan's library in New York. Bernard Quaritch, the rare book dealer of the English metropolis, brought these two treasures and gave them to Mr. Morgan's librarian. It was Mr. Quaritch, acting as Mr. Morgan's agent, who obtained the books at the Huth sale.

One of them is a copy on paper of the famous Gutenberg Bible. For this Mr. Quaritch had to pay $20,000 at the Huth sale. Adding his commission to the purchase price makes the cost to Mr. Morgan about $31,000.

The other treasure was also a Bible printed by John Faust, or Fust, and Peter Schoeffer, or Schoeffer, at Mainz, or Mayence, in 1462. This copy is on vellum. It is the first Bible printed with a date. Mr. Quaritch paid $15,250 for it. With his commission added, it costs Mr. Morgan about $16,775.

The Huth paper copy of Gutenberg's Bible is said to be the finest in existence. It is the editio princeps of the Latin Vulgate, commonly known as the Mazarine Bible from the fact that the copy in the library of Cardinal Mazarin was first recognized as a Bible to be specially distinguished as the production of Johann Gutenberg. At a later period another copy was found in the national library at Paris, bearing a manuscript subscription by the illuminator, which approximately fixes the date of the book 1455-55. Some fragments of the grammatical treatise by Donatus and a letter of indulgence, both, like the Bible, printed with movable types by Gutenberg, are in existence, but the Bible is beyond dispute the first important effort of the great inventor of the art of printing.

A note by Bernard Quaritch on the cover reads: "This is the finest copy I ever beheld, or anybody else." It is bound in blue morocco and has double columns of forty-two lines to the page. There are several fine decorative borders in blue and red penwork, large pen letters, with marginal decorations, and painted capitals in blue and red. It is a perfect copy, clean and for the most part uncut.

An interesting point about it is that it contains manuscript memoranda of signatures and numbers of chapters at the foot and on the margins of pages, and these are presumed to be in the handwriting of Johannes Gutenberg himself. The association value of the Bible is therefore great. About 180 copies were probably printed on paper by Gutenberg, and of these only about twenty-seven copies have been traced. Twenty-three are complete sets of the two volumes. Nearly all are in public libraries. The four sets in private hands are the Huth-Morgan, the Hoe, the Duke of Devonshire and the James Ellsworth. Among the public library copies are two in this city, the Lenox or New York public library and the General Theological society, New York, therefore, has six of the known twenty-three complete sets, more than any other city in the world. The price paid by Mr. Quaritch for the Huth copy is the British record for an early printed book.

The first dated Bible is also the Latin Vulgate. It consists of two volumes, folio, double columns of forty-eight lines to the page. There is a finely painted and illuminated decorative border to each volume, a fine large painted decorative initial, with marginal elongations, to each book and painted capitals in blue and red. It is in thick, boarded brown morocco, extra covered with elaborate blind and gilt tooling by F. Bedford. This Bible was printed by Fust & Schoeffer after Fust had taken for a debt nearly all the machinery, types, etc., of Gutenberg and with Schoeffer continued the printing business at Gutenberg's old shop.

This Huth-Morgan vellum copy appeared in Paris in 1863. The fact that it was on sale there was reported to Henry Huth by the late F. S. Ellis of London, who thereupon was sent to Paris by Mr. Huth with drafts for $3,000 to obtain the work. He returned to London with it. Only about five copies on vellum have been sold during the last forty years, and those five included one which was successively in the Watson Taylor (1823, $1,075); Dent (1827, $805); H. Perkins (1873, $3,900), and Earl of Crawford (1887, $5,125), sales. The Sunderland copy in 1881 sold for $8,000 and the Thorold copy in 1884 for $5,000. The price paid by Mr. Quaritch for the Huth copy was far in advance of any previous one.

There was also in the Huth sale a copy on paper of the first dated Bible, and Mr. Quaritch paid $9,500 for it. It cost Henry Huth in 1893 $1,375. On the Gutenberg and the two first dated Bibles alone the profit to the Huth estate was something like $45,000.

China's Antiquity.
The Chinese assert that their empire existed many thousands of years before the flood, but it is thought by most authorities to have begun about 2,500 years before the Christian era. By others it is said to have been founded by Fohi, supposed to be Noah, 2240 B. C.
