ARIEL MILL CASE

In response to a question put to him by Attorney Holgate, Floyd Bortree said the daily volume of business done by the firm of S. C. Bortree & Son in 1911, ran anywhere from $30 to $150 a day.

One of the jurymen wanted to know whether all the data was there when the settlement was made. He was informed that Floyd Bortree testified it did not include any of the items which it is alleged Swartz improperly took. The three items which it is alleged were embezzled, are as follows: M. Alpha, May 19, $2.70; E. Savits, May 12, 40c; E. Ammermann, May 13, 50c.

At 9:36 a. m. Attorney Scragg began his argument to the Jury, for the prosecution. For one hour and seven minutes he hammered away at the twelve good men and true in an effort to make them believe that Swartz was guilty of the offenses charged in the indictment. "A man," he said, "is a crook, who pilfers money. I don't care whether it's in the wilds of Wayne county or in the metropolis of New York!"

In speaking of the three offenses which Swartz is alleged to have committed, Mr. Scragg said: "If a thing happens once in a while, it's an accident; if a thing happens twice, it's a coincidence; if a thing happens three times it becomes a habit."

Following a five minute recess Attorney F. P. Kimble made the opening argument to the Jury for the defense.

Interest continued unabated in the celebrated trial, and the court house benches were well filled with an eager crowd who were drawn there to hear the brilliant closing arguments of the celebrated Scranton lawyers.

All through the trial, Mrs. Swartz, the defendant's loyal and energetic wife, who has been successfully conducting her husband's poultry business at Lake Ariel, while he is employed in a Scranton store, occupied a front seat in the court room directly behind her husband. Wistfully she watched the progress of the trial. Once in a while a twitching lip, and rapidly-closing eyes betrayed the close interest she took in the trial where her husband's entire future is at stake.

She was neatly attired in a brown tailor-made gown and wore a stylish black hat.

Following the calling of the docket by Judge Henry Wilson and the confirmation of the accounts and the widows' appraisements by the court Thursday afternoon, Attorney R. H. Holgate of Scranton, began his closing plea to the jury. It was an impassioned and eloquent appeal he made to free his client and was listened to with closest attention by all in the court room. For the prosecution District Attorney Simons summed up the case in a masterly argument. Judge Searle charged the jury and the fate of Poultryman Swartz was given into the hands of the twelve good men and true.

COURT NOTES.

The case of Teliep versus Chaplark, listed for trial at this term of court, has been settled.

In the matter of E. R. Hempstead vs. C. A. Cortright & Son. Prothonotary ordered to strike appeal from the record unless satisfactory bail be entered on or before Jan. 29, 1912, at 10 a. m. or show cause why bail is not sufficient.

In the case of Martha A. Surplice vs. Wm. H. Surplice, Jan. 15, F. C. Kimble, sheriff, ordered to execute deed to Martha A. Surplice.

In the case of Martin Hermann vs. C. A. Cortright & Son, Jan. 16, rule granted on defendant to show cause why certiorari should not be stricken from the record or the fail perfected.

Attorney C. P. Searle apprised the Court, Wednesday morning, of the gift made to the Bar association by H. G. Rowland of a crayon portrait of his father, the late lamented Hon. O. L. Rowland. In accepting the picture, Judge Searle said: "We are glad to receive the picture. Tell him the Bar is thankful for the desire the likeness of his father. We desire to have it hung in the bar office."

Wednesday morning, Judge Searle appointed Nathaniel Wood supervisor of Damascus township. Four petitions were presented to the Court asking for the appointment. Mr. Wood received the appointment because his petition contained the signatures of 95 electors of that township, while the total number of names on the other three petitions only reached 85.

Accounts that were confirmed nisi Monday were confirmed absolutely Thursday by the court.

The Rev. W. H. Swift, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Honesdale, occupied a seat on the bench with Judge Alonzo T. Searle, Wednesday afternoon, and was an interested spectator of the proceedings in the case of S. C. Bortree and Son against G. W. Swartz.

The only case left over on the civil list for January term is the case of Miss Emma Conley vs. Miss Kate McKanna, which will probably be called for trial, Friday.

There is only one Commonwealth case left to be tried at this term of Court, the case of the Commonwealth versus William Marks.

Senator McDonald, Scranton, and F. M. Gardner, Esq., Forest City, were interested spectators Wednesday, of the trial of G. W. Swartz for alleged larceny for his employers, S. C. Bortree & Son, the Lake Ariel millers.

BEACH LAKE.

(Special to The Citizen.)
Beach Lake, Pa., Jan. 17.

Lovers of cold weather, how does this suit you? I would be very much better suited to have it at least 25 degrees warmer, but we have one consolation, we have warm homes and plenty of fuel and can keep warm as long as we can remain in our homes and we truly hope every one else are as fortunate. We are also thinking of the poor family, Howards, Mr. Crosby was speaking about. I would not like to have you understand that we Beachlake people close our eyes and stop our ears to the cries of the distressed, for it is just the reverse. I think the first that any one learned they were needy was on Sunday and I think, Monday, C. A. Budd, accompanied by Mr. Crosby, collected from the neighbors clothing of all description.

A little Robin came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Robins Tuesday morning. It certainly was a very cold day for so young a bird but they put it in a warm cage and hope to raise it to a full grown Robin.

Halsey Wells came from Narrowsburg with a load of feed. While unloading he slipped and fell and broke his leg, hence we now have two men in our midst with broken limbs. You will remember Thomas Oliver broke his leg jumping from a ladder some two weeks ago.

A. Budd just returned from a business trip to New York. Filling ice houses is the present past time, but there is considerable more hard work about it than fun.

Mrs. S. Garrett is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Floyd Bailey, in Honesdale.

Mrs. Emma Pomeroy, who has been in poor health for some time, slipped and fell recently. It gave her such a shaking up that she is now in a helpless condition.

Herman Bunting is drawing excelsior wood from his place to White Mills. He informed us when passing yesterday that his son, John had just lost a horse. They have been very unfortunate with horses lately. It grieves us to see people who try so hard and are so ambitious to be so unfortunate.

Mrs. Jacob Hiller entertained the largest Ladies' Aid last week that we have had in a long time.

PRESTON.

(Special to The Citizen.)
Preston, Pa., Jan. 17.

The last meeting of the South Preston Grange was held Jan. 6. The new candidate, George O'Neil, received the first and second degrees of the order. Worthy Master S. B. Doyle installed the new officers. After the meeting the ladies served an oyster stew, which was relished by all.

A leap year party and dance was held in the Grange hall Friday evening last. Although it was very cold, a large crowd attended and all reported a fine time. The girls proved to be real sports when it came to asking the boys to dance. But it was noticed that several lonesome fellows went home all alone, your scribe being one of them.

Miss Clara Doyle spent part of last week with friends at Starlight.
Jack Frost is up to his old tricks again of freezing water pipes. Several of the neighbors are complaining of having their homes flooded Saturday morning the mercury registered 25 degrees below zero.

MILANVILLE.

(Special to The Citizen.)
Milanville, Pa., Jan. 17.

Porter Ross, Tyler Hill, has finished papering the church. The decorating is very pretty and when the memorial windows are added will be a very attractive building.

Miss Libbie Sherer had the misfortune to fall and hurt her ankle badly.

John Dexter, who cut his foot some three weeks ago, is able to be about again.

Mrs. D. H. Beach, who has been spending the winter thus far in New York city, will soon leave for Hartford, Conn.

Intense cold weather the past week is something unusual for this country. At 7:30 Sunday morning at the Milanville toll house the thermometer registered twenty-six degrees and at Damascus twenty-eight. Everyone has their ice houses filled from twelve to sixteen inches in thickness. The Creamery company began cutting this week on the river.

Miss Minnie Gay writes from Kansas: "Give me Milanville and my good coal fire." It has been the coldest weather they have known in twenty years and no fuel but gas which is better for lighting and cooking than heat. Letters from Washington, D. C., tell of extreme cold and snow and from New York they were compelled to use candles. The gas being frozen.

Paul Illman, formerly of this place, has bought a home at Syracuse, N. Y.

Mrs. Jean Carthuser was recently called to South Cocheont to care for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Archie Taylor, who has been seriously sick.

John Ryan died on Sunday last while on his way home from St. Luce's church, Cocheont. Mr. Ryan for many years lived on a farm situated about a mile and a half from this village. The deceased leaves a widow.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for the office of Representative in the Legisla- ture from this district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the April primaries.
