The funeral of Edwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Temperton, of Preston Center, formerly of Cortland, N. Y., was held in the Baptist church at Preston Center on Sunday, Jan. 7. Mr. Temperton had been ill just a year with consumption and was 21 years old. During the spring Mr. and Mrs. Temperton moved from their home at Cortland to their farm at Preston Center with the hope of the country air being beneficial to his son's health, but in spite of all that loving hands could do he rapidly grew worse until death came.

Edwin was a young man of fine Christian character and good habits. Several beautiful pieces of flowers were sent from the shop at Cortland of which he had been an employee; also other beautiful pieces. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters and one brother to mourn his departure.

Sarah Whipple, Lila Hine, Elmer Hine and George Wilner, all young people from Orson, composed the quartette who furnished music for the occasion. The interment was made in the Starbuck cemetery.

The M. E. Aid society, which was held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Whipple on Thursday, Jan. 11, was quite well attended. Owing to the severe old weather twenty-two were present. The Aid will meet with Mrs. William Sanford on Thursday, Jan. 15 for dinner. All are cordially invited to be present.

The Bell and Big Eddy Telephone companies' lines have become entangled in some way so that parties on one line can call up on the other. We have heard Bell patrons talking more or less ever since they have built their line but have not heard their rings until of late. It is claimed that the wires do not touch but it is thought by many that they are too close in places.

DREHER.

(Special to The Citizen.)
Dreher, Pa., Jan. 22.

Mrs. J. W. Kerr was called to Gouldsboro on Friday of last week to assist in caring for her aged mother, Mrs. Dilworth Cross. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cross are along in the eighties and reside with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Surplus of Lackawanna county and near Gouldsboro. Mrs. Cross is seriously sick and but little hope is entertained for her recovery. Her husband has been an invalid for several years and at times unable to leave his bed.

Mrs. William Newell, Mrs. Kerr's daughter, also a resident of Gouldsboro, is at the Kerr house attending to Mrs. Kerr's household affairs.

GOULDSBORO.

(Special to The Citizen.)
Gouldsboro, Pa., Jan. 22.

John McLaughlin, for a number of years the Lackawanna gate-tender here, was struck by one of the yard engines last Tuesday and died in a few minutes from the effects of the injuries. Although he was a great sufferer, he had a very cheerful disposition and made many friends and was respected by all. The funeral was held in Tobyhanna on Friday morning. A number from Gouldsboro attended. The floral tributes showed the feeling that existed for him here, especially a beautiful anchor from the school children who feel that they have lost a good friend.

A large number of surveyors have been at the St. Charles for several weeks surveying for the new state road from Scranton to Stroudsburg.

At the annual business meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church the following officers were elected: Mrs. John Hawke, president; Mrs. E. F. Sebring, vice-president; Mrs. S. D. Adams, secretary; Mrs. F. E. Bush, assistant secretary.

WHY FRESH AIR?

By Karl de Schweinitz, Executive Secretary, Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

If you think all the fuss about fresh air is exaggerated try this simple experiment. Light a match. Put it in a bottle and then stop the bottle with a cork. In a few seconds the flame will go out. Why? Because it has used up all the oxygen in the bottle.

Your life might be compared to a fire. Your body produces heat just as a fire does and for the same reason it needs oxygen. Oxygen is taken from the air by the lungs and is distributed through the body by the blood. Every day the lungs of a normal person handle 105 barrels of air. If this air is pure the flame of life will burn brightly. If it is not, you will become sluggish and poor in health.

Then don't cork up your home like a bottle. Be sure that you are feeding plenty of oxygen. Night and day you should have fresh air.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. Drakin is to go it alone. That there will be a big field of aspirants on the Democratic side is quite probable. James Haggerty, the Scranton merchant, is an avowed candidate.

Members of the state executive committee of the Keystone party are to confer at Philadelphia, Jan. 26. It will likely be decided then just what part the organization will play in the coming legislative campaign. C. C. Comeys, of Scranton, is a member of the committee.

John Coons, a Wilkes-Barre young man, formerly engaged in newspaper work there, now a student at the Harvard Law school, has been active in the formation of a Wilson club among the Harvard men. He has been made president of the boomers of the New Jersey executive.

The names of former Mayor J. Benj. Dimmick, and W. T. Davis, president of the West Side bank, are being mentioned in connection with the delegation to the Republican national convention.

Harry Townsend member of the house from Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on railroads at the last session of the legislature, is being talked of as Senator. Tustin's likely successor. Mr. Tustin recently entered upon his new duties as recorder of Philadelphia county.

The Seniors rendered the following program last Friday afternoon: Piano solo, Crescentia O'Connell. "Progress of Aviation," Agnes McGraw.

Joseph Pulitzer, "Marie Weir." "Ocean Supremacy," DeRoy Kreitzer.

"The Aurora," Gertrude Coggins. "Mystery of Maine," Charlotte O'Connell.

"Why Canada Defeated Reciprocity," Louis Dein.

Piano solo, Annie Lambert. "O. Henry," Dorothy Weir.

"Early Settlers of Wayne County," Hannah Harder.

Vocal duet, Eda Krantz, Elsa Prosch.

"Fortification of the Panama Canal," Vincent Carroll.

"Mona Lisa," Katherine Fitch.

Board of Trade Envelopes Best.

We notice in the postmaster-general's report a suggestion that people writing letters should sign their full names and addresses to their letters, and there would never be a letter but what could be returned if it failed to reach the person it was intended for. The report suggests a better way than that, too; to have a small card printed on the corner of the envelope. This will cost only a trifle, and if the letter cannot be delivered to the address or the address should be wrong, the letter would come back in the course of five or seven days, instead of going through the dead letter office, and being returned to the writer after two weeks or more. The latter suggestion is much the best, and can be adopted at a very small cost. In fact, the envelopes, procured in 500 or 1,000 lots would cost but little more than if purchased in small quantities without the card.

Call at The Citizen office and find out the price of both envelopes and paper printed with your name and address on in lots of from 500 up.

RAN ENGINE WHILE HIS CLOTHES BLAZED.

When he should have been in a hospital, T. J. Connor, an engineer on the Lackawanna railroad, living at Hallstead, ran an engine fifty-six miles from Summit to Clark's Summit and then came back to Hallstead a few nights ago and now he is in a critical condition at his home with a temperature of 101. His injuries were due to setting himself afire with a torch.

Connor's overalls caught fire as he was piloting a pusher engine from his station in the cab. When he discovered the fire he kept one hand on the throttle and with the other tried to beat out the flames. He burned the other hand and the first ignited his blouse. Then, in desperation he wrenched the top of his lunch pail and with the tea that was in it, tried to put out his burning clothes. This didn't work, so he slowed down the engine and wrapped a coat around his legs, putting the fire out. The right leg was terribly burned, but he stayed at his post and ran to the Summit and then back to Hallstead and knocked off without saying anything about the fire in the cab. The next morning he was unable to report for work and his condition became alarming.

The following real estate transfers were recorded in Register and Recorder Lesher's office Friday:

L. Estelle Paynter, of Carbondale, transfers certain lands in Bethany to A. O. Blake of Bethany.

Mary Wegre, of Hawley, deeds to Erl Treolpierre and Richard Phillips also of Hawley, land in Plymouth township.

Joseph Polven, of Forest City, transferred to Michael Mozellak, of Clinton, lands in Clinton township, the consideration being $450.

GIANT TRIANGLE OF EARTH'S CRUST.

Cleveland.—Following a series of recent earthquake shocks registered by the seismograph of St. Ignace college, Father Odenbach, in charge of the instruments, noted that the earth "floes" on which Cleveland is located, has tilted slightly to the southwest. A triangular stretch of land is effected, extending from Cleveland through Elmira, N. Y., Newburyport, Mass., and southwest to Cincinnati.

This depression, Father Odenbach believes, caused the earth tremors recorded last Monday.

Scientific measurements show the present tilt of the earth surface as far as one-sixteenth of an inch in one thousand feet.

The tilting affects a part of the earth's crust known as a "floes" which describes a giant triangle, with its apex somewhere in Canada.

The effect of the tilting is the same as if a giant hand, within the earth were pulling inward at the upper end of the "floes" and pushing outward at its southern end. The tilting has continued since Monday morning.

Similar tiltings in other parts of the globe are responsible for the disastrous quakes which have at times rocked the world. No such serious accompaniment of the disturbance here is expected.

An earthquake was recorded on Father Odenbach's instruments beginning about 9:45 a. m. Thursday. Its location was not on this continent, he thought.

Appro to the above we reproduce the following interesting article taken from Harper's Weekly:

"One naturally thinks of the earth's crust as being exceedingly solid and stable, except perhaps in volcanic regions where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence. As a matter of fact, however, the shell of our planet is extremely sensitive and most delicately balanced, so that under the influences of causes that seem altogether insignificant in comparison with the gigantic bulk and weight of the earth it yields and fluctuates in a most amazing manner.

"To an eye so placed as to be capable of taking in at one comprehensive glance the whole round outline of the globe it would not appear of precisely the same shape during an entire day or even an hour. Most of the changes referred to are, of course, very slight when compared with the size of the earth itself.

"The operation of atmospheric and oceanic and other similar causes is continually bringing about changes in the shape of the earth's crust. One of the most interesting of the agencies whereby such alterations are effected is the carrying power of rivers. Wherever a great quantity of sand and gravel is being brought down from the interior of a continent and poured into the seas, for instance, along the northwestern coast of Europe or the gulf coast of the United States, the weight of the earth's crust is slowly increasing, and the consequence is seen in the gradual subsidence of the shore.

"Such a sinking has been going on for thousands of years along the North sea coast and on the continental side of the British channel. A similar depression is occurring on the eastern edge of our own country and along the gulf of Mexico. It has been estimated that the gulf coast is sinking at the rate of nearly two feet in a century.
