THE RELEASE OF C. W. MORSE

Ex-Banker Had Served Two Years of Long Sentence.

FIGHT FOR HIS FREEDOM.

one of the Petitions to President Taft Had Half a Million Signatures-Another Was Signed by Two Hundred Congressmes.

Charles W. Morse, whose sentence ns just been commuted by Presiden: aft, was indicted by the federal grand ary on Feb. 12, 1908, on the charge of clating the national banking laws in is management of the affairs of the ational Bank of North America, New ork, and was arrested upon his arval from Europe on April 30. He leaded not guilty, and on Oct. 15 his ial was begun in the United States istrict court and lasted until Nev. 3 hree days later the jury brought in a onviction, and the following day he as sentenced by Judge Hough to rve fifteen years in the federal prison Atlanta.

From that time he has made an unlenting fight to obtain his freedom. ided by his wife and thousands of riends. Through his counsel, Conressman Martin W. Littleton, who en red the case on Jan. 17, 1909, Morse stained his release on $125,000 ball ending the outcome of an appeal to e circuit court of appeals. This was June 16, 1909. He lost his appeal nd was returned to the Tombs on Oct. 2. Still the light was kept up, and on c. 6 the circuit court denied an aplication for a writ of certiorari.

efore whom he was tried, handed of others own a decision in the circuit court shing that the court had no jurisdictal based upon allegations of impropincked merit."

nn 3, 1910. He had been confined in he Tombs for ten months before he as taken to Atlanta.

While out on ball pending decision gure in the financial district, and on oct. 2, 1909, he stated that he had ande approximately $7,500,000, which e had applied to wiping out his debts nd then had but $500,000 more to pay efore the old scores were all settled. Not many weeks after Morse was aken to Atlanta his wife started peti ons asking President Taft to parden he banker. One of these petitions. ontaining 500,000 names, was sent the president on Dec. 14, 1910. Prito that, in May, 1910, Mrs. Morse old reception in the senate. Morse ad obtained the signatures of 200 conresamen to a petition, but received a ad characterized himself as a "vicm" in an interview, and Mrs. Morse, what was conceded to be one of the ost remarkable documents of the ind ever sent to Washington, declared ant the sentence imposed upon her usband was "outrageous." President aft, however, refused to pardon him On May 24 last President Taft again enied applications for elemency, delaring that the "record shows moral urpitude of that insidious and dangeras kind to punish which the national anking laws were especially enactd." The spirit of Morse was apparatly broken by these fruitless efforts. Friends again appealed to President aft, but the president, relying on the pinions of three government physians, for the third time refused a ardon. It was said then, however, ist the president was rejuctant that dying man should be kept in close onfinement and that if his condition as later declared hopeless he would

Points for Mothers

The Mother Heart Myth. "We hear a great deal of the 'mother heart' of women," says Dolly Madison in her chat on "Mother Hearts," "of the instinct which makes them tender, kind, radiating gentleness. But I sometimes wonder if there is not, after all a certain narrowness about the high estate of motherhood. Does it cramp a woman's sympathies, contract the boundaries of her tenderness, until it includes only her own little folk-the members of her own household?

"I am forced to ask this question when I see the many mothers who cherish their own children, forgetting the other poor bables who with their forlorn mothers make the sacred rela tion such a tragic circumstance.

"Perhaps there is no more self sum cient creature than the really happy wife and mother. She is perfectly absorbed in her own children, her own home, her own husband. And the whole world might go down in darkness and despair without her knowl edge unless her loved ones were affeeted. Then she would cry unto the gods to save her children though all the rest should suffer annihilation.

"I was struck by this manifestation of selfishness during a recent residence in an outlying suburb of a big city. Most of the women who lived there were mothers. By the divine right of that relation they should have felt a brooding tenderness for all helplessness, but did they? I could see no evidence of it. In their perfectly appointed, well cared for homes they lived strictly unto themselves. Few of them reached out for any broader interests than those of their immediate circle.

"We hear a great deal about the superiority of mothers over the single women in metters of heart interest and of home interest. Yet I fancy that the world would be much poorer if the great mother hearts of certain women had not been troubled about the little people of the underworld.

"Yet many a mother sells her birthright of sympathy more from thoughttessness than from actual intent. She has had it preached to her for so many years that all the virtues have been bestowed upon her by the mere fact of motherhood that she does not realize that there is any need for effort on her

"There will be a great dynamic force for good started when the happy wives and mothers shake off their selfiahness and combine to bring happiness to those less fortunate than themselves. During his food. Bridge and books and pictures and music may be perfectly legitimate expressions of one's individuality, but the real mother's heart will express itself in other directions.

"In one of our big cities a rather curious experiment has been tried by a disturbances peculiar to the married worthy woman who has four little state. girls. She has adopted four little boys. Sixth.-Be to your husband's dark because she felt that her own happin Dec. 29, 1969, when Judge Hough, that they must be used to fill the lives

The overdowing are like froth to a parched tongue, love of a happy mother will not be r influence upon the jury which con- content to know of the unhappiness of icted Morse and also that the motion any child. It is not only her own child that she must love, but a world full of Morse began service of his term on little children.

"Perhaps in the winter there is more need for the sympathetic expression of husband that you are a better actress motherilness than at any other time, there are so many little ones who are n his appeals Morse was an active cold and hungry and who need some one to think of them. It is for the hearts of the real mothers to respond to this need and to seek out these shivering little lambs and to shelter them In some fold where they may be cared for and protected."

Dressing the Child. Some children do not lend themselves to any sort of artistic dressing. But, on the other hand, there are a great many who do, the arrangement of the hair having a large say in the consummation of a picturesque ap-

Instance after instance can be recalled where a child with no real claim to beauty has been rendered of most attractive appearance, thanks to a discreet arrangement of the bair. But it seems to those who have the dressing of children very close at heart that we have come to a sort of stand-Still

The lack of any really fresh departure is very marked. The same ground is worked year after year, and anything more deplorable than the spectacle of a little girl dressed in a tight skirt, a travesty of her mother's, is nowhere to be found.

The stage may, perchance, essay a scintillation of any fashionable foible. but a girl so dressed will go in with the crowd.

Fidgeting Children.

The child who shows no disposition to move about and is apparently happler sitting still will grow up to be slow witted, heavy, On the other hand, the haby who is always using its arms and legs will be intelligent, its brain will work quickly, and it will without doubt be clever.

Children should consequently be encouraged when in the infant stage to throw their arms and legs about, to play with their fingers and toes, and when they are older the wise parent will not insist on their keeping still. | taing

Mme. Maeterlinck's Rules For Wives.

MMB MAURICE MARTERLINGS

While it is settled beyond a doulthat Maurice Maeterlinck, the famous Belgian author and philosopher, die not recently come to this country, the arrival of his talented wife, Mme Georgette Leblanc Macterlinck, is # very well established fact. The wife of the great playwright, poet, essayis: and sage, berself a famous singer, is one of the most interesting personall ties that have visited our shores. She is a high priestess of the cult that preaches the perfect wifehood, and she has evolved a philosophy of her own for reaching that happy destiny in matrimony.

From this philosophy of hers Mme Maeterlinck has torn ten burning precepts, which she calls "A Wife's Ten Commandments." They are:

First.-Remember always that the true wife is the inseparable half of the only complete human unit, in which two small and imperfect individualities have become merged into a inrue and perfect one,

Second.-Each half of the wedder whole retains special functions. Yours are to discern, to anticipate, to yield. to cheer, to soothe, and thus to Third.-Never trust to hirelings the

About Bedroom Curtains. Since fresh air at night has become imperative the right way to curtain a bedroom must be studied. Every window must be raised at top and bottom which is better for lungs and complex ion than for hangings. The specialist advises no curtains; s will most men, who rarely like the dainty draperies dear to women. Fehousekeepers agree with this, even the health fanatic. Nothing furnishes : room like fresh white curtains. Be

One woman fastens to the side lin tels of her windows, high above the middle sash, a small hook. In a con venient place she keeps cords for each half of curtain, and her maids are taught when preparing the room for the night to loop the curtains up and back, thus giving a free current of all

The most practical method of cur taining a hedroom is to divide the cur thins in two sections horizontally. A rod is run at the top of the lower sash and the lower half run on it by a nar row casing. The upper curtain is cut longer than the lower one and hung to a rod at the top of the casement so

GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical fournais recently have had much to say M. E. Simons, SYLVIA NEVILLE, Wm. J. Cole, barn and conrelative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach. Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements-to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well. We know that Rexall Dyspepsis

Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indiges tion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.
