A bargain hunter (a woman of course) bought several articles a few days since. When she got home she discovered that all her pretty bargains were for the same foot and she could not wear them and immediately took them back to the party of whom she made her purchase. It is evident that everything is not "mated" in this world.

For the first time in years a Bradford county grand jury was dismissed recently with the understanding that they might be called upon to reconvene within a few days at the order of the court. All business was disposed of and just why they may be recalled is known only to a few. It is supposed important matters now pending against persons now outside the state may be the cause of the grand jury being dismissed with a proviso attached.

Details of the engagement between the Turks and Arabs and an Italian column near Zhugariah, a small oasis about ten miles along the coast from Tripoli, on January 19, have reached here and showed that at the time of the fighting the Italian destroyers had withdrawn. Boats laden with contraband approached the shore and opened a heavy fire on the Italian forces. At the same time 1000 Turks at Aluzara prepared to attack the Italians from the rear. They would inevitably have been annihilated if by chance an aeroplane coming out to try its motor, had not been seen by the Turks, who became so alarmed that they were unable to carry out the turning movement. They kept their firing, however, until night-fall. The Italians lost fifty killed and thirty wounded.

Twenty-two years ago the ice houses at Lake Henry were built but owing to the open winter very little ice was harvested. The ground was bare and croquet was played on the late Henry O. Silkman's lawn on Christmas day. Since that time the ice houses have always been filled and about seventy men are employed each winter in harvesting the ice. The houses there hold about twenty-two thousand tons and about three hundred car loads are shipped to all Scranton and Dunmore houses. The Consumers' Ice company of Scranton, who own the houses at Lake Henry, own large houses and lake property at Poyntelle. Philander Black of that place is in charge of the work at Poyntelle and Aaron Black is in charge at Lake Henry. No serious accidents have ever occurred at the ice work at Lake Henry although each winter some one of the packers gets picked with a pike, generally in the foot or ankle. The only accidents this year have been the picking of Mike King in the lower limbs and the wetting of a team of horses owned and driven by Seth Moore. The horses were pulling a blow, making the last out when a whole block, six fakes long and four feet wide, broke through with the team. They were quickly taken out, however, and suffered only from a few scratches and the wetting.
