Tiny Complete Watch Contained in a Pearl.

An example of ingenious craftsmanship in watchmaking is shown in the accompanying illustrations of a watch contained in a pearl. The illustrations show the watch in its actual size. It took ten months of the time of the best workmen employed by a French jeweler to complete it. The pearl is of his native state weighed forty-five grains and measured 0.57 of an inch in diameter. The movement, which is of fine construction, of course, and presents the most patient and delicate care. The piercing of the pearl, in fact, was exceptionally difficult. The watch is valued at $6,000.—Popular Mechanics.

The Game of Cherry.
You intend having a few of your friends at your house on the afternoon of Washington's birthday send out invitations on cardboard cut in shape of a little hatchet. In one corner paint a little cherry tree and write your invitation. Some fun will be had if, after your guests arrive, you play the game of "cherry," a candy basket and fill it with cherries. Suspend the basket in the ceiling by a long string and your guests, with hands tied behind them, try to catch the swinging net with their mouths. The successful one gets the basket of cherries as a prize. Another form of this game is to hang the individual cherries on strings and allow the children to try to catch them in their hands. Still another "cherry" game is to place a box on a chair at each of the room and give each child a dozen, candy cherries, which he, at a distance, tries to throw in the net.

Washington and the Poacher.
Washington was a fine shot, and the deer and the Chesapeake abounded in bass and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to shoot down his birds. He learned that a poacher was filling his game bags with expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of the gun came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, was in sight the poacher raised his rifle and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest alarm. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. He then turned and fired, hitting the poacher in the chest. He never again repeated his attack upon Washington's birds.

Conundrums.
When did Ruth treat Boaz badly? When she pulled his ears and trod on his corn.
Why is a convivial man like a corker? Because he is fond of the company of friends.
What is that which we all eat and drink, though it is sometimes a woman sometimes a man? A toast.
Why would a tanner make a good fish? Because he understands oxen.
Why is soup likely to run out of the pan? When there's a leak in it.
What is that which you must keep giving to another? Your word.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Suggestion.
Next time the snow drifts into your yard instead of making a snow pile, try to make a snow pig. An abundance of snow forms the body, the legs, nose and ears are made of sticks surrounded by snow. A bit of nicely curled will make a good tail. Various pigs can be shaped and colored, according to the skill of the artist, and will give a lively and pleasing appearance to your yard. Cause the neighbors a great deal of amusement—at your expense.

Frost Pictures.
Other children like to write their names upon the pane of the window. Frost pictures are drawn on the pane. You can see them plain.
Draw all sorts of awkward things, and I would rather see pictures that the white frost kings have painted there for me.
I'm afraid the fairy folk that in these woods might play these ungainly crooked strokes will all be scared away.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

A Simple Garment.

The straight one piece gown of the very finish and simple treatment is one of the useful members of the wardrobe in this season of separate coats. The gown in the sketch is an excellent example of it. It is made of striped ratine, with plain cloth, making a band at the bottom of the skirt and also the shawl collar and gauntlet cuffs. The buttons are covered with the plain cloth.

Fashion Fancies.

Gold lace is used to a great extent to trim white lace blouses. The new lingerie blouses are to be trimmed with fobus, set up high on the waist and giving the effect of a collar.
All hairdressings are low and flat. Few pompadours or elevations of any kind are worn. The hair is dressed to make the head appear small.
A very new skirt has an opening in front with a wide flap, the same idea being carried out in the back seam.
An attractive boudoir cap is in the shape of an empire drummer cap, much like the cocked hats children fold from newspapers.
Ribbon has returned to its own again and is likely to count strongly among hat trimmings during the next three months.

A CRAZE FOR TAFFETA EXPECTED.

Milliners and Modistes Exploiting it in Spring Designs.

If one can judge the future by the present we will be wearing taffeta for everything except underwear. Even the rumors last November of what was to happen in the spring were not half as serious as the condition.
The milliners, as usual, have the first showing, and they have invented hats of every degree in taffeta of every color, shot and plain. If you have seen any of the displays during the last two or three days you must have marveled as to why and how every one seemed to unite on taffeta on the same day.
Whole hats are made of it, large hats have crowns of it, small hats have bows of it, all shapes have brims of it. Straw is quite thrown in the background by the appearance of this soft, iridescent silk that is a rich cousin to the taffetas of other days. It is akin to satin and therefore will find a warm place in the hearts of a large multitude.
The French milliners are not using the silk as lavishly as the American ones, but as both are combining to use it in many ways there will be little chance of escape from it as soon as the spring season in millinery starts in.
It has long ceased to be the fashion to wait for Easter to display one's hats or, in fact, to wait for any glimpse of warm weather.

Concerning Coats.

The cut of the coats again shows the straight line from shoulder to hem, says the Dry Goods Economist. While there is no indication of any attempt to draw in the figure in any exaggerated way, the absence of fullness in the skirt gives the appearance of slowness, which is so essential. The full length coat is considered the most practicable for the season, but manufacturers are working on some new models in three quarter and seven-eighth lengths, in a cutaway effect, which they expect will be taken in the dressier models in silks, satins and charmeuse.

Shawl Draperies.

Shawl draperies regain triumphant. They are made of the daintiest laces, rich brocades, soft silks and chiffons. Hardly an evening gown appears without this form of trimming.

ST. HELENA MEN MAY BE BROUGHT HERE.

Alfred Mosely Plans to Move Population of Napoleon's Isle to California.

Alfred Mosely, an English student of economics and who is now visiting in this country, has a project for taking to California the 3,000 inhabitants of St. Helena, where Napoleon spent his last days in exile.
"St. Helena," he said, "since the decline of sailing ship traffic has decayed until there is little or no work for the capable people who live there. They find themselves in serious straits, and as they are an intelligent, sober and industrious lot of people I have a plan under way to settle them on the Pacific coast."
"I will begin with a few hundred, shipping them there in about a year from next June. My first task will be to find them employment as workers, so that they may learn the ways of the country and how to become self supporting when they are fitted to enter into occupations for themselves."
"They are all English speaking and Protestants, but racially they are mixed. I was early impressed with the superiority of the American school systems to those of Europe in practical results attained, and I sent to your country thirty-five professors from Oxford, Cambridge and similar English institutions of learning to study your methods. Later I took over a number of officials of labor organizations, and the result was published in the Mosely Industrial commission report. I was attracted to American capability by the able engineers who went from this country to South Africa in 1886, who largely deserve the credit for the development of the gold and diamond mines."

Easy to Learn Too.
Newlywed—I didn't see you Sunday. Did you stay home?
Oldhubby—Yes. My wife taught me a new game called hashmarah.
Newlywed—How do you play it?
Oldhubby—You hang a carpet on a line and see how many times you can hit it with a stick.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Unreasonable.

My mind goes back,
While I sit in a draft and sneeze,
To the days gone by
In last July—
When I longed for some days like these.

Pernicious Example.
"That Wilkesbarre man who engaged a special train to go to New York set a bad example to the men of the country."
"I believe he did at that."
"My husband has saved up $25 and wants to go to New York and have a time of it himself."—Buffalo Express.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS.

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.
We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt soothing and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation. It forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not gripe, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.
They come in three size packages. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store
