SPORTING NOTES.

Milford is a good example of a town, small in size, which has boosted itself merely by having a first-class base ball team. For the last three years Milford has had a base ball team second to no independent team in the country, and has had two players drafted to major leagues, both going to the St. Louis National League club, their names being Steele and Salmon. Milford is fast becoming a most popular summer boarding place and its promoters say it is from no other reason than the advertising their base ball team gives the town. Milford is not as large as Honesdale and we are sure if the right people are interested that Honesdale can produce as good independent base ball as any of them. Why don't the Board of Trade take up this matter and "boost" it? Once more—"Who said Milton Salmon?"

Who put White Mills on the map? Dorling's glass works or Eddie Murphy, the base ball player? It is estimated by a writer for Collier's Weekly, that it costs a major league base ball magnate $169,000 per year to run his team. The estimate is a conservative one and shows us that the base ball magnate's bed is not of gold as many people think.

The big game of the season will be next Thursday night at the Rink when the Rink Five play the Alerts the deciding game of the series for the championship of the county. A picked up team composed of J. Polt and O'Connell of the Rink Five and Rose, Hessling, Welsh and Herzog of the G. C. club traveled to Hawley Saturday night and played the representative team of that place. Hawley put it all over the local boys and are now anxious to tackle the "Rink" team.

The Rink Five will journey to White Mills Friday night next, to play the sixth game of the series with them. The Rink team have won three and Murphy's team 2 games in a series of seven.

To Develop New York's Water Power.

Electric light and power for all, at bare cost of water power and machinery, will soon make New York State the leader in electrical use, if the bill introduced in the Legislature last week, at the instance of the State Conservative Commission, becomes a law.

The bill, prepared by George V. S. Williams, of Brooklyn, counsel to the Conservation Commission, provides for the immediate development of the hydraulic resources of New York state, and it will be pushed through by the administration. It is in line with the well-known policy of Gov. Dix, and its adoption will mean a revolution in industrial and domestic pursuits in New York.

Six great power stations are to be constructed. The largest is on the St. Lawrence River, where 600,000-horsepower can be secured for the State at the Long Sault development. The next largest station is to be at Niagara Falls, where 250,000-horsepower, at present unused, is available. At the Portage Reservation, in Wyoming county, 34,000-horsepower can be obtained. On the upper Hudson River 42,000-horsepower can be had, and in the Adirondacks two big stations, one on the Upper Sacandaga watershed and one at the Sacandaga Reservation, giving 73,000 and 42,000-horsepower, respectively.

Negotiable Paper in World, $163,000,000,000.

The Society of Statistics of Paris has just made public facts concerning the world's business: In negotiable paper there is in all the world, in round numbers $163,000,000,000 divided among the countries as follows: England 28 billion dollars; United States 26 billion dollars; France 21 billion; Germany 18 billion; Russia 6 billion; Austria 5 billion; Italy between 2 and 3 billion; Japan 2 billion; other countries 7 to 3 billion.

In other countries the average is but $43,000. International commerce at the end of 1911 is valued at from 26 to 27 billion dollars; public debts, (European) contracted in war preparations are over 30 billion dollars; the annual war debt is over a billion. In conclusion M. Aldrich Neymarch, who, compiled the figures says: Never were there more negotiable papers. Never was the international commerce figures higher. Never was there a greater number of miles of railways in exploitation. Never were the commercial relations of the peoples of the world more active. Never were the public debts bigger; the war budgets large, or taxes so high. Never was the taxpayer more heavily burdened.

SPRAYING THE NOSE.

Keep the passages of the nose clear. A healthy nose secretes about a quart of mucus a day. If you are well this is practically all taken up by the air that you breathe. When you have a cold in the head the nose secretes more mucus than the air can absorb. An atomizer often relieves this condition. Use one only when your doctor prescribes it. A good atomizer should throw a strong spray. Direct it against your hand. A few squeezes of the bulb should make it dripping wet. Hold the bottle between the thumb and forefinger of your right hand and squeeze the bulb between the other fingers and the palm. Then with your left hand hold up the end of the nose. First spray upward to clear the upper part of the nose. Then turn the tip of the atomizer downward and spray until the fluid runs back into the throat. Next spray the throat through the mouth. Always wash the tip of the atomizer after you are through with it and above all things do not use one unless your doctor prescribes it.

Pocono Pines in Reel.

The Lubin Company of players who were in the Pocono region taking pictures for the play, "The Silver Fox," were the guests of the Naomi Pines House, Pocono Pines, Rufus E. Miller, manager, for three days. The pictures for the reel were taken on the property of Mr. Miller at points suggested by him, which proved very satisfactory to the manager of the company, L. B. Carlton. There were fifteen members of the company.

MORGAN GIFT OF $50,000.

Goes to University of Goettingen, Hanover, Where He Was Student. To enable the University of Goettingen, Hanover, Germany, to retain its present supremacy as a center for American and English literature J. Pierpont Morgan has given $50,000. He was a student at the university in his youthful days. Dr. Thomas C. Hall, professor of Christian ethics at Union Theological seminary, announced the gift.

Dr. Hall, who also is a former student at Goettingen and who has acted as intermediary in the bestowal of the Morgan gift, said that up to recent years the connection of the University of Goettingen with England was so close that its collection of books in the English language was probably the finest on the continent. "No doubt it is with Mr. Morgan's most timely gift in view," said Dr. Hall, "that the Prussian government has decided to make Goettingen a center for the study of English letters."

FAT MEN OUT OF STYLE.

Slenderness a Prime Essential This Year, Tailors Rule. Fashion's decrees governing men's dress in 1912 offers small comfort to the fat man. The order of the Custom Cutters' Association of America is as follows: "The slender man is to be the model for 1912. To be considered well dressed and well groomed a man must give the impression of slenderness. If he is not naturally slender his tailor must adopt measures to make him appear so. The effects must all tend to produce slenderness."

PENNSYLVANIA GIANT DEAD.

Ambrose Moose, Who Weighed 525 Pounds, Was Active Physically. Ambrose Moose, the biggest man in Pennsylvania, died recently at Mount Carmel. He weighed 525 pounds, was five feet ten inches in height, measured three feet across the shoulders and was more than five feet in girth. Moose had strength in proportion to his size. He was employed at the Pennsylvania Railroad company's oil house and could lift a barrel of oil weighing 400 pounds without any great effort. His death came at the zenith of his physical powers, for he was only forty years old.

FEATURES OF HOME RULE BILL.

Religious freedom will be secured. The privy council will be able to declare void any law which goes beyond the limits of the home rule bill. The military will remain under the control of the imperial government. The financial proposals will give a fair start to the Irish government, and insidious taxes will not be able to be placed upon Ulster. The Irish parliament will have real control of its finances, but the system used must be consistent with the financial system of the United Kingdom. The imperial government will continue to carry out the land purchase and old age pensions schemes. The Irish representation at Westminster will be reduced.

Just Cheer Up.

Do not go through life a-whining. Just cheer up. Nothing gained by your repining. So cheer up. Life is largely what you make it. There is pleasure if you take it. As for trouble—why, just shake it. And cheer up. Smiles are cheaper than a frown. So cheer up. Don't let trouble throw you down. Just cheer up. Press with courage to the goal. Get some sunshine in your soul. Troubles then from you will roll. So cheer up. J. Andrew Boyd in National Magazine.
