THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

If all men had to earn all they lived upon they would know better how to use money and how to save it.—Samuel Barrow.

The Scranton Board of Trade has just issued a book telling of the advantages of that city. It certainly is a credit to the Board as well as Scranton.

Wilbur Wright conquered the air but unlike the rest of the aviators who have died up to date, his death was a natural one. It was a strange manifestation of the irony of fate that where others, whom he showed the way, met their fate, he escaped its pitfall. The secret was that he knew when he had enough. He saw the trend of aeroplaning toward the "show business" and he realized the temptations and dangers it led to. So he left the show business to others.

SWAT THE FLY.

Flies carry more germs and carry more sickness than anything else we know.

Flies walk over manure and vile dirt and then come into your house and walk on the food you are going to eat. They leave this dirt on your food. Do you want to eat after the fly walks there?

Kill the flies you see. Keep everything clean in your house and your yard.

Have screens in all doors and windows and fly traps on doors and garbage pails. Keep all food covered and have no dirty dishes for flies to feed upon. Do not let a fly touch anything which a baby puts into its mouth.

Keep your milk bottles covered and wash as soon as empty.

THE DUTY TO SAVE LIFE.

Captain Lord, of the Californian, and his officers are tolerably certain to have to stand a trial for his failure, in a measure shared by them, to follow up the distress signals from the Titanic which were seen on his vessel and reported to him.

The evidence taken in London confirms what had been already known from testimony here, first that the distress rockets from the Titanic were seen from the bridge and deck of the Californian to the number of at least five; second, that later her masthead and upper deck lights were seen with a list of starboard under conditions which pointed to grave accident, and third, word of this was sent to the sleeping captain, who asked enough to learn that the signals were white, distinctly distress signals. All this was intentionally left out of the log of the Californian.

Had either Captain Lord, Chief Officer Stewart or Second Officer Stone called the sleeping wireless operator to his key, the Californian would have been alongside of the Titanic two hours before she sank and probably saved every life.

The common law makes it a crime to fail to use reasonable means and effort to save human life, known to be in danger. An English statute makes it a crime in case of shipwreck. Our own law corresponds to the English common law. So does the code of most States. In this State, a father has been convicted of involuntary manslaughter for failing to send for a physician for a sick child.

Captain Lord by the ruling and reasoning of the court in this case would be liable for his failure to answer the Titanic signals. Their terrible meaning was known at ten minutes before six the next morning when the wireless operator on the Californian sent out a general call and learned that the Titanic had struck a berg and had sunk five hours before. If English law does not act in this case, English justice has ceased.

ABOUT FLIES.

Nobody likes to think of flies. But the best way not to be compelled to think about them a whole lot later on is to be a little advance thinking now. We hear a good deal about by traps right now. The other day, in a magazine, was a picture of a boy and a heap of flies, and a fly trap which the boy had used to catch the flies. There was something like 22,000 flies in that heap. The boy won a prize of $25 offered for the largest catch of flies. Fly traps and fly swatters, of course, have their use. But they are the "pound of cure." Wouldn't it be far better not to have so many flies to catch or swat?

Here is the ounce of prevention: Don't give the flies a chance to breed in your immediate vicinity. Clean up. Keep cleaned up. Allow no manure or garbage about your house. Use plenty of soap and water inside of the house. Teach the children the value of cleanliness. Teach them, also, not to leave doors open, so that when the screen door is open they will be thoughtful enough to close it when they go in or out. Keep all foods covered, for if there is no filth around flies will feed on your edibles and infect them with disease. Screen your house from attic to cellar. Leave no way of ingress for the fly and you will have no cause to complain of his company.

Too many people are stingy about screens. Stinginess in screens means either that you are not getting sufficient air into your house because you dare not open unscreened doors and windows, or that you are letting in filth and disease with the flies when the unscreened windows and doors are open. If you can't afford good wire screens fitted to every window, tack netting, across the window frames. It's cheap and will last until cold weather kills the flies. It is not necessary to fill the house with nasty fly traps, poisoned fly-paper or to organize the children into a swatting brigade. Keep the flies out of the house and keep the place clean—that's all.

ENCOURAGING OUTSIDERS.

Strangers who visit Honesdale go into ecstasy over the beautiful and changeable scenery of our town. "Honesdale is unlike other cities and towns," remarked a New York City visitor to us a few days since, "in that there is so much sunshine but it is hidden to a certain degree by the many beautiful and large shade trees."

He remarked what a beautiful town Honesdale is and how he was surprised not to see more summer guests here, it being one of the prettiest places he had ever visited including Scotland and Europe.

Honesdale is a beautiful town is true but it takes something more substantial to erect summer boarding houses. There are many sites located on the different roads leading in and out of Honesdale that would make ideal locations for cottages and boarding houses for the accommodation of summer guests. Then, too, there are lakes nearby that privileges could be secured for boating and bathing. The erection of these buildings would immediately cause an ingress of city folks who have heretofore spent their vacations at seashores, abroad or traveling. To come to the country would be an ideal change. Here they could roam over the many hills, visit the waterfalls and walk along side the tiny brooks that wind their way through the woods. Pluck flowers, sit underneath the "old apple tree" or drink from Nature's spring. All this and more can be done in the country and near Honesdale. We welcome visitors.

The Greater Honesdale Board of Trade is extensively advertising Honesdale by sending out thousands of folders telling of the town's advantages industrially and otherwise. They will go into the homes of capitalists and retired gentlemen whom might be induced to leave the stifling heat of the Metropolis and locate among the highlands of Wayne county. Honesdale's gates are open to the world. Come and see. Result—dwell here.

DAMASCUS HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

The twelfth annual commencement week of the High school combined with the Decoration Day celebration closed a year of hard and successful work for the school. Very large crowds of patrons and friends joined the seniors in their week of entertainment and pleasure.

Owing to the fact that the Decoration Day union services of the churches fell on Sunday, May 26, the baccalaureate sermon was preached May 19 in the Methodist church by Rev. F. E. Moyer, M. A., to a large and appreciative congregation. Mr. Moyer, a man of strong personality, gave the seniors and those present an eloquent and practical address.

Tuesday, May 28, the Sophomore class held their picnic at Lake Huntington during the whole day, while the Freshmen chose Laurel Lake for their retreat.

Thursday, May 30, is a day that will be long remembered in Damascus. In the morning it was cloudy and it looked as though the weather man was trying to upset the plans of the school in their effort to furnish a day's outing to all and incidentally raise the debt of $100 that still remained on their new gymnasium. When it came time for the parade people began to pour into the town from all directions and a well filled church listened to Chester A. Garratt, Esq., of Honesdale, deliver an address to the veterans of the surrounding country.

Immediately after dinner the athletic carnival began. Charles Hocker of Milanville won the 220-yard dash and a silver cup in the event for boys under sixteen. The open race across Cochetown Bridge had so many entries that it seemed necessary to run the event in heats but when the starter called the roll only six contestants appeared. Guy Reilly of Cochetown won the silver cup by a good spurt on the end. The boat race was one of the finest of the day. It seemed to be a very even match until the end when Russell Pethick pulled away from his opponent and won by only two or three lengths. The half-mile race was won by Merle Bogart, of Ursinus College. There were no entries for the tub race. The time was not taken in any of the races. Dr. B. L. Tyler was starter and Rev. T. E. Moyer, Henry Bahner were judges at the finish.

The ball game resulted in a victory for Damascus. The game had been arranged between St. Joseph's College and Damascus. The game was cancelled only four days before hand. St. Joseph's wishing to dictate who should play on the Damascus team, having been walloped a week before by the score of 11 to 4 (the first time in four years) they demanded that three substitutes be put in or they wouldn't play. Damascus, naturally, wishing to show up its best team on Decoration Day arranged a game with Callicoon, N. Y., town team. The visitors played good ball, but couldn't do much with Reilly and Loy. A lost ball netted them three runs. The score was 9-5.

The Senior Class presented the amusing short comedy "Ici On Parle Français," in the Baptist church that evening. The staging, costumes and Dorin's orchestra of Honesdale helped to rub off the amateur features of the play. The interpretation of the characters was good throughout. Every available bit of space was used for seating and standing room, the hall was filled and many came who, not being able to get in at all, returned home. The cast follows: Major Regulus Rattan, Spencer C. Noble, Victor Dubois, a Young Frenchman, Guy F. Reilly, Mr. Spriggins, and Mrs. Spriggins, "Lodgings to Let," Mrs. L. Tegeler, Anita Skilhorn, Angelina, their daughter, Fay, Abraham Julia, Wife of Major Rattan, Eva H. Snavely, Anna Maria, Maid of All Work, Myrtle L. Reynolds. Scene: Dipwell, a fashionable watering place. Time: Present Day. The proceeds of the day were $167.50.

The commencement exercises brought the same crowd back again on Friday evening. Many came early knowing the condition the previous night so that by 7:30 the church was packed. All were at their best. Miss Sheard delivered her oration with a conviction that the country girl's natural advantages are far superior to those of her less fortunate city sister. Miss Mosher in her arguments for woman's suffrage presented the matter clearly, earnestly and cleverly. Mr. Greene pleased his audience to the very last one and gave the most forceful address that was ever heard in Damascus. With his easy manner, good humor and wonderful power as a speaker, Mr. Greene drove what he had to say directly to the hearts of the people. Some of the people may differ from Mr. Greene in their political views and the reason for his defeat in Damascus may be as he said himself "not that the people love Homer less but that they love Teddy more." Nevertheless they look up to him as a man of sterling integrity and good judgment and a man who in his broad activities has brought as much honor to Wayne county as any other man. The orchestra once more distinguished itself. The principal of the school announced while presenting the diplomas that the new gymnasium started last fall and costing $716 was entirely paid for. The people deserve much credit for their generosity.

As the exercises came to a close the entire school seated together broke out in "Where the Hills of Old Damascus," the new school song and then each class sang to the Seniors.

TAFT WILL WIN, SAYS SENATOR PENROSE.

Despite Roosevelt Successes in Primaries, Senator Penrose Insists President Will be Victor.

Philadelphia, June 6.—Increasing prospects of a fight-to-a-finish at the Republican national convention, at Chicago, have led Senator Boies Penrose to change his plans. He will be present at the first meeting of the national committee and will probably remain there until all of the delegate contests and all of the convention preliminaries have been arranged to the satisfaction of the Taft adherents.

In spite of the recent Roosevelt successes at the primaries of several states, Senator Penrose, who came to Philadelphia from Washington, still holds to the opinion that Taft forces will control the convention from start to finish. He declares that the most reliable advice indicates that the Rough Rider candidate is still at least one hundred votes away from convention control. The indications are also, he declares, that the Taft forces are standing fast. If they do, Taft will be the nominee on the first ballot, according to the senator.

HAWLEY.

Rev. MacKellar Preached Baccalaureate Sermon—Literary Prizes Awarded—Memorial Day Fittingly Observed.

Hawley, June 6. Vacation days are near at hand. Children's day will be observed in the M. E. church next Sunday morning at the regular hour of service, 11 a. m.

Union services were held in the Methodist church Sunday evening at which time Rev. D. S. MacKellar preached the baccalaureate sermon. There were only two of the sweet girl graduates in the class of eight. Following are the names of the graduates: Allen Gilpin, Wilson Ames, Abraham Harris, Walter Quinney, Frank Rowland, Edward Dapper, Margaret Kahles, and Mary Miller. The class, chaperoned by Miss Underhill, will start for Washington, D. C., first of the week. Mrs. Jennie Bingham will also accompany the party.

Mrs. Alfred Oschman and son, Edward, returned Tuesday evening from a two months' visit with relatives in the cities of Brooklyn and Newark.

Miss M. L. Goodrich, after spending the winter in Minneapolis, returned to her home here Saturday. Miss Goodrich attended several sessions of the general conference.

On Friday, J. H. Smith killed the first rattlesnake of the season at Fairview Lake. The snake measured 5 feet 6 inches. Smith is a noted snake killer and he said that he will make a strong effort to not fall below his record of last season of killing every rattler he has chance to see.

Frank Bea will move this week from Wilsonville into his new home. Mr. Bea on learning some months ago that he would be asked to vacate his home at Wilsonville where he has lived for many years, purchased the home and since then has had it comfortably remodeled until now it is a very convenient and modern house.

Wm. T. Schenk, a former minister of Lakeville charge and Miss May Allen of Pleasant Mount, were married at the latter place on Wednesday morning by the Rev. J. H. Boyce.

A delegation of the Modern Woodmen of the White Mills, accompanied by the Junior corner band of that place, visited Walnut Grove cemetery Sunday and conducted memorial services at the graves of their departed comrades.

Erwin Buck, who is suffering with a nervous trouble, left town Tuesday evening for a trip to the Northwestern part of New York state where at the home of his brother he hopes the salubrious mountain air will most speedily restore him to good health. Mr. Buck is connected with the general merchandise store on Church street and is a close applicant to business. He has probably overdone and no doubt a complete rest is what he is in need of.

which went to the following capable young people: Norman Swingle first prize and Harriet Golden first prize, each receiving $5.00.

Mr. Stiller and daughter Adelaide of Brooklyn, were guests of Mrs. May Plum on Memorial Day.

The Memorial Day celebrations were enjoyed by a good-sized crowd. Considerable patriotism was shown in the decorations, etc. The parade was a pleasing feature.

The marshal of the day, D. James Colgate, was given place of honor in Street Commissioner E. Tutill's carriage, driven by Harry Tutill, who had taken no small pains to make his rig look exceptionally nice. The Kohlman children's pony and cart deserve especial mention for artistic effect; go carts in which little ones were wheeled along on sidewalks were also adorned with Old Glory.

At the Eddy bridge a very fitting eulogy for the dead was paid by Rev. Mr. Buchanan. Flowers were strewn on the waters. From thence they proceeded to the cemetery where services, according to the G. A. R. ritual, was conducted at the grave of Capt James M. Thorpe. Upon the return of the parade a feast was spread for them in I. O. O. F. hall by the Daughters of America. Here the crowd was made merry by feasting and music until the hour for going to athletic field. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Harloe entertained a small party of the young friends of their daughter, Delliah, Friday evening, May 31, in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Augusta Keyes was recently tendered a surprise by a few of her friends on her birthday. Games were played and delicious refreshments served.

WHITE MILLS.

"Todd" Smith Quicker Than Lightning—Jumps From Window as It Enters His Home—Baseball Team Ready to "Play Ball."

(Special to The Citizen.) White Mills, June 6.

The White Mills band went to Hawley on Decoration Day and several of the boys attended the ball game.

The White Mills base ball grounds are in a first-class condition. Louis Popke took the contract to get it in readiness but some days it was a little too wet for him to make much progress. However, the boys are well satisfied with the job.

We are now ready for base ball to all comers. Sunday will be our first game between Honesdale and White Mills. This will be the opening game of the season. Jack Hensley, the manager, says that his boys are all in the pink of condition. For the past two years base ball in White Mills has been somewhat slow owing to the fact that the people who like to see a good game of ball have not come out with the goods. Our boys are mostly factory boys who work six days a week and when they play for the pleasure of the town and vicinity we must be a little more liberal towards its support. The more money they have the better teams we will be able to get, consequently better base ball. About three years ago we had a very fast ball team, with John Dorfinger as manager. John says with the younger players mixing in with the old time players, that the new team looks more promising than it has for a number of years.

The thunder storm of Sunday evening was very severe in this vicinity. The lightning struck Clarence Smith's house and Todd, as he is called, as the lightning came in one window jumped out the other just in time to save himself from being struck by it. He, however, felt both the shock of the electricity and the high jump and had the town been wired with the fire alarm Todd would have sent one in to see the boys go.

Joseph McCloskey of Hawley called in town on Tuesday on business.

The Modern Woodmen of America, No. 10959, held their Memorial Day on Sunday. They went to Indian Orchard cemetery at 12:30 and returned in time to take the 3 o'clock train for Hawley to decorate the graves of their deceased brethren.

Charles Suffleman went to Honesdale on Monday to call on friends.

APPORTIONED TO MISSIONS.

Large Part of Lutheran Ministerium Fund Goes That Way.

Bethlehem, June 6.—At Monday's session the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania apportioned the following amounts for various causes: Home missions, $9500; education, $3500; theological seminary, $3000; pastor's widows, $800; Kropp Seminary, $3000; Muhlenberg College, $10,000.

President Dr. E. T. Horn ordained seven young men to the ministry, all of whom have accepted calls.

It is reported that the pro-Masonic party in the Ministerium has won its main contentions. The several young Lutheran clergymen who joined the Masonic order may not be forced to withdraw; the anti-secret society stand of the church may be somewhat modified, and generous gifts will not be alienated.
