

GAYNOR IS BOOMED

Cantor Hits Baltimore Urging Mayor's Candidacy.

SAID BRYAN MAY HELP HIM

Permanent Headquarters Opened and Gaynor Campaign Song Composed to Tune of "Maryland, My Maryland"—Clark, Wilson Et Al Flabbergasted.

Baltimore, June 18.—The Gaynor boom hit town, and before long it had reached the campaign song stage over in the Emerson hotel, where the Wilson, Clark and Harmon boomers already have established headquarters, fifty Baltimore business men gathered to celebrate the formal launching of a Gaynor organization in this city.

Before the celebration broke up an announcement was made that permanent headquarters for Gaynor will be opened in Baltimore and that 200 business men of the convention city had enrolled during the day in the organization that has sprung into being for the nomination of New York's executive. Before the feast was over the diners were singing a Gaynor campaign song to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland."

The Gaynor boom was the most important development in the Democratic situation. Many were inclined to believe that Bryan himself might throw his strength to Gaynor. The Gaynor boom arrived in the keeping of ex-State Senator Jacob A. Cantor of New York. Mr. Cantor had not been in town long before he announced that he had obtained the home of Frederick Beacham for sheltering the Gaynor boomers.

Other Candidates Surprised. All of the boomers of the other candidates read with interest the announcement of the Gaynor movement in New York city, but they were flabbergasted when they heard that these eleven hour boom promoters were about to hold a banquet in their very "midst."

The Clark men, the Harmon managers and the disciples of New Jersey's governor stood around with their hands in their pockets listening intently to the strains of the newly born campaign ditties and buttonholing guests from the banquet room to inquire what "the fiding upstarts" really looked like.

Edwin A. Brownly, a Baltimore lawyer, who has been chosen president of the Gaynor league of this city, presided at the dinner. Resolutions were adopted laudatory of Gaynor and pledging the business men of Baltimore to aid in every possible way in securing his nomination for president.

WOMAN AVIATOR KILLED.

Biplane, After Hitting Tree, Is Dashed to Ground.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Miss Julia Clarke, one of three licensed female aviator pilots, was killed at the Illinois state fair grounds when the tip of one of the wings of a Curtiss biplane in which she was making a flight struck the limb of a tree and the machine was dashed to the ground, crushing her skull.

Grimly suspicious of the machine, which was alleged to have had an unlucky record, Miss Clarke left a note requesting that if she were killed that her body be taken to Denver for cremation at the Riverside cemetery and that she be buried in Denver in a black dress. The flight was in practice preliminary to an exhibition to be given here next Friday and Saturday.

Because some question had been raised to the safety of the machine which was finally wrecked today, Lansing Callan made the first flight in it, circling about for about five minutes. He descended and pronounced the machine in good shape.

VOLCANOES ARE QUIET.

There is No Confirmation of Reported Loss of Life.

Seward, Alaska, June 18.—The revenue cutter McCulloch is here direct from Kodiak with the news that conditions in the district covered by ashes from Katmai volcano are much improved, and that there is no confirmation of reports of heavy loss of life on the mainland.

All inhabitants of Katmai, a main land village near the volcano, are safe having been taken to Afognak.

MEN FAVOR STRIKE

22,000 "Penny" Employees Cast Vote.

NONE WERE OPPOSED TO IT

Ballot Taken at Altoona Among Conductors, Firemen, Engineers and Other Trainmen and Result of First Poll Was 1,200 in Favor. Road Appeals to Men.

Pittsburgh, June 18.—In an appeal sent to the 25,000 employees of the lines east of Pittsburgh, who are voting this week on whether there will be a strike, the Pennsylvania railroad urges the men to carefully consider the issues before casting their ballots.

"It would be most unfortunate for the public, for you and the company," the letter reads, "should you decide to sever your relations with an employer who has always endeavored and will continue zealously to guard all your interests."

Attention is called to the fact that twenty-nine of the thirty-five requests made by the men have either been settled satisfactorily by the company or withdrawn by representatives of the employees. The decision to hold a strike vote was made following the failure of the railroad company to adjust the remaining differences after numerous conferences at Philadelphia.

One of the important points of difference is that the men charge the company with submitting the electric operation of lines in the east to a holding company that hires men other than railroaders. The company denies any breach of contract in this.

A vote was taken among the conductors, firemen, engineers and other trainmen in Altoona, where the Pennsylvania has 22,000 employees. The result of the first poll was 1,200 in favor of striking and none opposed.

OLD POLITICIAN DIES.

Hugh McDowell, Ninety-seven, Hoped to See Taft Nominated.

Pittsburgh, June 18.—Hugh McDowell, aged ninety-seven, one of the founders of the Republican party, died at his home in Peters township, Washington county. Death was due to general debility and to the venerable man's excitement over the bitter fight at Chicago.

Less than a week ago Mr. McDowell gave the newspapers his picture, which was printed with the photographs of two other survivors of the first Republican national convention, held in Pittsburgh in 1856, at which John C. Fremont was nominated for president. Mr. McDowell was a delegate.

Although feeble Mr. McDowell evinced keen interest in the present fight at Chicago and insisted upon having the papers read each day that he might be familiar with developments. He expressed the hope that President Taft would be renominated. Mr. McDowell was born within a short distance of where he died.

DIES NAMELESS IN HOSPITAL.

Coroner Trying to Fix Identity of Woman Who Died in Institution.

Philadelphia, June 18.—The coroner's office is investigating the identity of a woman who was brought to St. Mary's hospital in this city by another woman, and who died ten minutes after she was admitted. The woman was about fifty-eight years old, five feet eight inches tall and had gray hair. She was poorly dressed in black. The hospital physicians say death was due to a complication of stomach trouble and asthma, and there is no hint of foul play.

DIES DURING CHURCH SERVICE.

John McMurtrie Had Just Addressed Class of Young Men.

Philadelphia, June 18.—John McMurtrie, eighty-two years old, of this city, died suddenly of heart failure while attending a meeting of the Brotherhood class of the Frankford Avenue Baptist church. The aged man had addressed the class a few minutes previously, and by a singular coincidence had ended with the prophetic words, "There is nothing between me and my heavenly home."

STRANGLER BY WINDOW SASH.

Child Meets Death When It Falls on His Neck.

Philadelphia, June 18.—While leaning out of a window at his home in this city, George Rath, three years old, was strangled to death when the sash fell on his neck and held him fast. The child was unable to cry and his mother, who had left him asleep in the room, found him dead.

Dr. Theodor Sprissler, was called in and expressed the opinion that death must have been almost instantaneous.

PREPARE NOW, SAYS DIRECTOR-GENERAL, OF PANAMA CANAL

Otherwise South American Trade Will Go To Other States.

Philadelphia, June 18.—"Unless Philadelphia and Pennsylvania are up and doing they will be outdistanced by New York, Boston, Baltimore and New Orleans, in the race for South American trade that will come with the opening of the Panama Canal."

This significant statement was a part of a vigorous speech delivered before the Poor Richard Club by John Barrett, Director-General of the Panama Canal, urging Pennsylvania to make all haste in her preparations to receive and hold her pan-American trade that will come with the opening of the new waterway across the continent.

"It will not do to sit idly by, satisfied with your present foreign trade, or with the business you are now doing with Southern countries, and expect to gain your share of the future commerce developing in our sister republics," he continued.

"I say, without exaggeration and without prejudice, that there is no more vital question affecting the future progress and standing of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania than that of appreciation and development of its relationship with the markets and countries which will be reached by means of the Panama Canal. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on this warning, and you may mark my words that, unless you do exert yourselves, you will awaken some years after the canal is opened, regretting that you did not heed my advice."

The twenty countries, reaching from Mexico and Cuba, south to Argentina and Chile, are just now entering upon a period of great material prosperity. There may be a few revolutions and local troubles at the moment, but these will soon pass away, to be followed by an era of wonderful advancement. These countries have the resources, the products and the position to take a front place in international trade.

The governments and the business interests of Europe and even of Asia are aware of this fact, and they are leaving no effort neglected to get their share of pan-American commerce.

"If Pennsylvania, and if the United States, will make a corresponding effort, or will work as hard to build up their exchange of products with Central and South America as they have with different sections of the United States, and with Europe, they will get splendid returns."

"That I may be talking the truth and not indulging in fantasies, let me call to your attention some salient figures."

Commerce Exceeds Two Billions.

"The foreign commerce, last year, of the twenty countries of Latin America exceeded a total of $2,300,000,000. This surprising sum is all the more astounding when we realize that it represents a growth of $1,000,000,000 in the last ten years."

"The share, however, which the United States has in this foreign trade is larger than is generally supposed. It will amount, this year, to fully $700,000,000. This represents an increase of nearly 100 per cent. in the last decade."

"Therefore, I ask you, if all Latin American can do a commerce of $2,300,000,000, and if the share of the United States is $700,000,000, without the Panama Canal and without our full appreciation of these countries, will not those totals advance enormously when the canal is completed and when our whole country is aroused to the possibilities of pan-American trade?"

"There is not one of these twenty Latin American countries that does not need, in increasing quantities, the products of the principal manufacturers of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania. As they grow they must buy of you in increasing amounts, if you will only give them the opportunity, and if you will, in turn, buy from them their raw products, which are needed for our material and industrial interests."

"Pennsylvania's great manufacturing, exporting and importing firms should now be sending their best men all over Latin America to find out what they want to buy down there and what they want to sell."

BASE BALL BRIEF.

The regular Carbondale base ball team did not play yesterday owing to inclement weather, and consequently the attention of the local fans was centered in the game on Duffy's field between Frank Healey's team, which is making a desperate effort to equal Murtha's aggregation in popular favor, and the Honesdale team. This was the first game played at Carbondale by Healey's team and was witnessed by a crowd of about five hundred fans. They lost to Honesdale by a score of 3 to 1.

The game was called in the seventh inning in order to allow the Honesdale team an opportunity to catch the train home, and a dispute arose in that inning as to the score. Healey's team claimed that it was a tie, 8 to 8, and there was no official scorer to decide the question. Honesdale claimed the game by a score of 9 to 8 and a tally of runs per inning bore out their contention, and they left for home claiming the victory. Healey's team still claims that it was a tie game.

The manager of the Honesdale base ball club has arranged for two games with Jermyn to be played here on July 4. The Jermyn team is at present tied for first place in the Valley League and as Honesdale has only lost one game this season, a good game is expected and assured.

The first of the series of five games with Carbondale will be played here on Saturday, June 22. Nick Murtha, manager of the Carbondale team assures us that he will bring a first-class team. Much interest was manifested in former years on account of the Honesdale-Carbondale games and the locals hope by putting up a good game next Saturday to revive those good old times. Come and see.

The game played between Forest City and White Mills at White Mills on Sunday was very interesting, it being the first game that Forest City has lost out of 12 games. When Sandereck came to the bat he said every ball looked like a balloon and he could not miss it. It was a very interesting game, and here is the score:

MT. PLEASANT MAN KILLED IN AUTO.

Word was received last Wednesday to the effect that Raymond Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schroeder, of Lincoln avenue, Carbondale, was injured in an automobile accident near Binghamton Tuesday night in which one man, Lewis H. Morgan, was killed and several others, including Harry Lumley, deposed manager of the Binghamton team of the New York State league.

Schroeder had been spending the past several days in Binghamton as the guest of George Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Morgan, formerly of Carbondale, and the automobile was owned and driven by the latter.

The party consisted of George Morgan and his cousin, Lewis Schroeder, Lumley and H. Pierce Weller, a member of the staff of the Binghamton Press. The five had attended the Troy-Binghamton game Tuesday afternoon, and were returning through Harpurville, a suburb of Binghamton, when something went wrong and the car, skidding, crashed into an iron bridge. Lewis Morgan was thrown from the front seat and crushed between the body of the car and the bridge. He suffered a fractured skull and died about fifteen minutes after the accident.

Weller plunged forward at the impact and was doubled up in such a manner in the tonneau that his left leg was broken in several places. Lumley suffered a severe scap wound that had to be sewed up. Schroeder had his right ankle sprained and George Morgan escaped with a few slight bruises, although he suffered considerably from the shock.

Mr. Schroeder is employed as a clerk by the Consolidated Water company, Carbondale. Lewis Morgan was formerly a resident of Carbondale and up to a few years ago was employed as teller in a Forest City bank. Before that time he lived in Pleasant Mount where he was born and raised, and has many friends in this locality who will mourn his loss.

Farm Notes.
Clover is the greatest pasture for hogs—provided it is not allowed to mature.
The successful feeding of poultry is among the most difficult of feeding problems.
Most farmers have learned before this that it is expensive to haul green corn fodder.
Rape seed is cheap, it germinates strongly and furnishes plenty of palatable forage.
If a hog seems to be ailing, separate it from the herd at once and give watchful care.
One advantage in feeding steers on the farm is the maintenance of the soil fertility.
Deal gently with the cow of nervous temperament. She usually is one of the best in your herd.
If you get an incubator, assign the running of it to one person, and let him have sole charge.
