To meet the Fourth of July demand, large quantities of tetanus antitoxin have, we are informed by the State Department of Health, been ordered for the sixty-seven distributing stations throughout the Commonwealth. Despite the efforts made for a "safe and sane fourth," the number of accidents resulting in tetanus or lockjaw does not decrease in such ratio as it should. The serum which the Department of Health distributes to the poor is used to immunize the victims of fire-cracker, gun-shot and other wounds. When it is used even 36 hours after the injury the danger of infection is slight, although, of course, the sooner the safer.

An exciting runaway occurred Thursday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. The team of blacks belonging to M. The team whirled around, going between Jadin's and the fire hydrant. The horses had some difficulty in getting over the hydrant, the off-horse receiving a deep gash in one of its hind legs. The horses ran down Eighth street to Church and then up to Tenth street, where they were stopped, doing no damage enroute. THEODORE DAY'S RECORD MOST VALUABLE OF BUREAU

That is What a Government Official Says Regarding His Meteorological Observations.

According to information received from the department of Agriculture, weather bureau, the chief of this department claims that the meteorological observations taken by Theodore Day, of Dyberry, who for over a half century has been sending weather records to the Government are among the longest and most valued of the Bureau.

Notwithstanding this the Government, according to Mr. Day, never gave him any remuneration, whatever, for his services. The circumstances, time of records kept and other valuable information was recently sent Congressman W. D. B. Ainey by Prothonotary W. J. Barnes and at the same time a plea for Mr. Day appeared in The Citizen. Congressman Ainey lost no time in interceding for Mr. Day and at once began an investigation of records. A recent communication received by Prothonotary Barnes from Congressman Ainey stated that in relation to meteorological observations taken by Mr. Day there are on file at Washington, Department of Agriculture, reports made at Dyberry, Pa., for a long period of time, the department having a complete record of 38 years or from 1855 to 1903.

Mr. Day might not be able to receive any remuneration for his services during this time as the Government claims he served during the above-named period in the capacity of voluntary or co-operative observer. This department, the chief of the United States Weather Bureau writes, has at the present time about 4,000 observers of this class, who receive no compensation for their services other than the publication of the bureau, which is supplied them free of cost. If Theodore Day, the veteran climatologist, will be unable to receive no compensation for his services in the past, it will not be for lack of interest of his friends. Congressman Ainey has done his part as well as Prothonotary W. J. Barnes. The Citizen presented the condition of affairs to the public and has worked in Mr. Day's interest.

In a recent interview with Mr. Day he told a representative of this paper that he desired means to kill the tent caterpillar that is defoliating the trees of the country. He said that he has discovered a disease which will kill the tent caterpillar. Mr. Day introduced the disease a few years ago and to within a few months there has practically been no tent caterpillars in Wayne and Columbia counties, where Mr. Day claims they are the worst. In some places in his own township, he says there are trees which have been entirely defoliated by this pest. Mr. Day says he wants to go through Columbia and Wayne counties and spread the disease, but is unable to stand the expense alone. He expects, under the new pension law, to receive double increase of pension and states he will then devote his entire time to study and preservation of the trees, fruit and other kinds.

bridge. That it had nail in hoof. Took hammer clause and pulled nail out. Took pinchers but couldn't budge it. Father pulled another nail out. Father takes horse and leads it up to gravel where accident is said to have occurred. Both Mrs. Loveless and Mrs. Shannon were out of the buggy at the time. Mrs. Shannon again called for plaintiff: I went to the Reynolds home after accident. When horse stepped on stone it backed perhaps ten feet and was in that position when Mrs. Reynolds came down.

Mrs. Loveless again called: Horse backed up on bridge after accident. Mrs. Reynolds was not there at that time. Was all of 10 feet from place of accident when she came down.

Ward Wall sworn: I worked on road with my brother last year after accident occurred. I counted eighteen stones day after picture was taken. Used team and covered up most of the stones.

Mrs. Loveless again called. Testified that picture was not a fair representation of place at time of accident. Mrs. Shannon also testified to the same.

All of the evidence was in when court closed on Wednesday evening. The arguments before the jury took place the first thing Thursday morning.

They found the township liable for negligence in not maintaining the road in a reasonably safe condition. They also found that the horse broke its leg by stepping on a stone as testified to by the plaintiff.

MORE WORK FOR THE BOARD OF TRADE

Scranton Wants One of Our Industries—Sent Representative Here—But Honesdale Won't Give In.

Secretary Mark H. Edgar of the Scranton Board of Trade, spent Wednesday afternoon at the factory of the Honesdale Union Stamp Shoe Co. The purpose of his visit being to induce this live concern to locate in Scranton, as he had heard that they needed more capital with which to carry on their steadily growing business, as well as a larger factory building. He was very much pleased with the success and growth of the company and made them a very flattering offer and states that the Scranton Board of Trade had been looking for and were determined to get a shoe factory.

The Union Stamp Shoe Co. has, to-day, more orders ahead than it ever had, the past week being a record breaker in the amount of orders received. If they had the room and the necessary capital they could easily do a business of $150,000 per year. This estimate is conservative and is based on the amount of orders recently received. A committee appointed by the local board has done some good work for this industry, but no board of trade can get results without the assistance of the money men of the town. On the other hand probably the Scranton Board of Trade has access to or can get almost unlimited means with which to get a live and well-established business like this one.

We are pretty well convinced, however, that our hustling board, with the aid of the citizens of the town will take care of the matter, as they so successfully settled the Gurney Electric Elevator question, and the Scranton board will have to get up pretty early in the morning if they steal anything from under our noses. Let's get going!

HOLLISTERVILLE YOUTH, AS PEACEMAKER, FAILS.

It cost Grover Brown, of Hollisterville, Wayne county, $4 to do the good Samaritan act in town yesterday afternoon.

Brown and Jacob Pontius, of 508 Cedar avenue, were both arraigned before Police Magistrate W. S. Millar on a charge of robbery. The court could make neither head nor tail to the story told by the two men, both of whom were acting in the duel role of prosecutor and defendant. It developed Brown and Pontius and a man named Hammers were in a saloon on Lackawanna avenue. Pontius wanted Hammers to "treat," but the latter said it was impossible as he was broke. Pontius gave him $5 and told him to make himself strong with the waiter. The latter did, according to the story told in court. He walked up to the bar and brought back a round and pocketed the change.

Brown thinking his friend was being made the victim of a game demonstrated with Hammers and tried to make him give back the money.

The original owner of the $5 thereupon turned on Brown and picking him up bodily carried him out of the place. Pontius claimed he had given the $5 to Hammers.—Scranton Truth.

The Horse Knows

The difference between a harness or a bridle that is right and one that is wrong. Many a good horse is spoiled by a poor harness. Many an accident would be saved by a safe harness. A cheap harness may be very dear, but a dear harness need not always be good. It is all in using good leather and knowing how to make them. We have had nearly fifty years' experience in the harness business and we will give you the benefit of that experience whether you buy our own make or a factory harness, but our own make we know is the best for you to buy, because they have the material that will wear. Ask your neighbor, who has used them.
