needed, and others send toys, books, scrap books, etc., which add to the happiness especially of those who are entertained in the homes.

There were 6,085 children entertained in the twelve Fresh Air homes managed by the society. Of those cared for in homes, Mr. John S. Lyle, of Tenafly, N. J., paid all the expenses, including carfare, of 323 girls, and Mr. John E. Parsons of New York entertained at St. Helen's Home, near Lenox, Mass., 523 boys and girls, the carefare alone being paid by the fund. These gifts were the largest made by the friends of the children, but amount given is not made public. Like other friends who bear the entire expense of the management of the work, they give what is needd, that every dollar received from the public and acknowledged in Tribune may be used literally for the children.

The meeting is expected to be one of the most important in the history of the organization and Mr. Wheeler is expected by the local men to take a prominent part as he is recognized as a leader in the insurg-ent movement in that body which is fighting wage reductions, which are reported to be contemplated for next The last wage reduction was made three years ago, but the manufacturers held the price of glassware On the assumption that any decrease in wages will be accompanied by a similar holding up of prices the bottle blowers are going to fight to the last notch and Mr. Wheeler, who is prominent in the deliberations of the organizations, is expected to take an important part in the debates that are incidental to the meeting .- Allentown Morning Call.

Mr. Wheeler formerly lived at Hawley.

Scarcity of Good Turkeys.

According to the census bureau, the forecast for the future holiday feast is very gloomy, at least as far as the turkey goes. Instead, chicken or roast beef as a centerpiece will be used instead of the time-honored Ten years from now a multimillionaire may be able to have a duck or goose on his Christmas table, but as for turkeys, they will exist only in fancy or at the National According to the census bureau's report, there were 6,954,695 turkeys on farms in the United States in 1900, and only 2,668,708 in 1910 At this rate of decrease indicated the turkey will be a strange bird in The number of ducks creased with almost similar speed. In 1900 there were 4,785,850 and in 1910 there were only 2,906,525. The geese have gone more slowly. In 1900 there were 5,676,788. last year there were 3,431,980. Chickens are doing well, however, for in 1900 there were 233,966,021 and in 1910 there were 280,345,133, not counting the few that are hatching as this paper goes to press.

LOOKING TO PENNSYLVANIA.

Washington, July 2.—"We are looking to Pennsylvania, which gave the country the Centennial Exposition, for much inspiration and encouragement in our work of building the 1915 Exposition to celebrate the opening of the Panama Canal," said Francis John Dyer, Washington Com-missioner for San Diego, to-day.

"The Centennial was a history maker. It was one of the greatest educational influences this country ever had. Congress has always recognized the educational, as well as the commercial value of expositions. and it has always encouraged them. One or two fiascos helped our lawmakers felt that they should exercise caution, but on the whole they believe in the big displays, which mark and illustrate the progress of the human race.

Arrests for Selling "Soft Drinks," Twenty arrests for the sale of "soft drinks" which contained saccharin or dye stuffs were order-ed made Friday by Dairy and Food commissioner James Foust, Harrisburg, as a result of reports made to him by chemists who had analyzed numerous samples of such beverages taken in a number of eastern and central counties. The raid was ordered by the commissioner about the time the weather began to heatup and the curb stone merchants put their stuff on sale. Some of the alleged birch beers and other beverages contained very little that could be called in accord with the law and coal tar dyes figured extensively in the make up.

The arrests were ordered made in Juniata county, the first of the kind to be made in that county: Schuylkill, Montgomery, Berks and Dela-
