

T. R. WILL NOT QUIT

None Will Abandon Cause, He Declares.

CONFERS WITH SUPPORTERS.

Says That Call For Convention Likely Will Be Made Monday—To Notify Provisional Committee by Telegraph—Makes Light of Osborn Desertion.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4.—All reports that the backers of the third party had weakened and were about to withdraw their support were emphatically denied by Colonel Roosevelt.

"Not one of them," he said, "has the slightest idea of abandoning the cause."

This statement was made after a long conference with the inner circle of the Roosevelt leaders. Those present were Frank A. Munsey, Senator William E. Miller of Pennsylvania, Senator Joseph M. Dixon, E. A. Van Valkenburg, the Philadelphia editor, and George W. Perkins. After a preliminary meeting in New York they came down together for luncheon at Sagamore Hill and spent some time with the colonel, putting the finishing touches to the plans which have been prepared for the new organization and for the new Chicago convention in August. Colonel Roosevelt said that although the call for the convention was practically ready he did not believe it would be possible to have the call out by tonight.

"In fact," he added, "I think Monday will probably be the day, for some twenty members of the provisional committee will be unable to be present in New York, and it will be necessary to put the matter up to them by telegraph."

The question of the exact name of the new party has created some confusion. Manager Dixon is inclined to allude to it as the National party. The colonel himself had evidently not given the problem of a name much thought.

"You can search me," he replied to an inquiry. "Progressive is the name that is best known. But national progressive is also a good one." It is believed that the latter name will be used in the convention call.

The statement of Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan, one of his original "seven little governors," indorsing the Wilson candidacy and denying the necessity of a third party, was waved aside by the colonel with a careless smile.

"There isn't anything new about that," he said. "I did not expect him to stick. We looked for secessions like Hadley's and Osborn's into the Republican fold on one side and into the Democratic on the other."

GIRL DEAD IN AUTO CRASH.

Ex-Governor Stokes' Father a Victim. Two Others May Die.

Camden, N. J., July 4.—Ida Adams, fourteen, was killed; her mother, Mrs. Emma Adams, and Mrs. Fanny K. Wislham were mortally injured, and Edward Stokes, father of the ex-governor of New Jersey, was seriously hurt when an automobile, in which they were driving, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad electric train.

Mr. Stokes, who lives in Millville, drove his car to Vineland, where Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Wislham live, and with the two women and child started for a ride.

The automobile was on the railroad crossing on the Malaga turnpike when the train, which was going fast, struck it, smashing it to pieces and tossing it 100 feet from the tracks.

The train was stopped and the crew ran back. Mr. Stokes, who is seventy-three years old, was conscious and was trying to drag the wrecked automobile from the bodies of the unconscious women and child.

SEN JAMES A. O'GORMAN.

Persistently Reported That He May Be New York State Leader.

There are many new lineups talked as a result of the nomination of Governor Woodrow Wilson. Senator O'Gorman always was regarded as a staunch Wilson man. If Wilson is elected it is conceded that O'Gorman will have more influence with the administration than Charles F. Murphy.

DAMASCUS.

(Special to The Citizen.) Damascus, July 4.

Farmers generally through this section have begun haying. The crop is likely to run lighter than last year. Some pieces of new seedling are good but old meadows are very light.

A severe gale accompanied the thunder storm last Saturday afternoon. No buildings were razed that we have heard of but many trees in the direct path of the storm were torn up by the roots by the wind in its mad fury. Only a small amount of rain fell here but reports say that it descended in torrents at Callicoon.

Miss Elizabeth Johnston, a native of Dundee, Scotland, daughter of James Johnston, and niece of K. P. Johnston, of Tyler Hill, is now on a visit with this Tyler Hill uncle. Miss Johnston has been in America for the past five years, staying most of this time in Florida. Recently she came to Liberty, N. Y., with the family employing her. She wrote her uncle from Liberty. It was a pleasant surprise for him as he did not know of her whereabouts. To make matters more complete he sent an auto for her and had her brought to his home at Tyler Hill. She will make but a brief stay there as she must soon return again to her duties. Miss Johnston thinks these United States of America a much grander place to dwell in than even her own seagirt land of bonny brigs, and we all heartily agree with her.

Harry and Helen Bender, of New York City, came up Saturday last to spend the summer with their uncle, Charles Selph, of Tyler Hill.

Forest Canfield and wife lost an infant son last week, the first of an interesting family of eight to make a breach in the family circle.

Sidney Brush, the Tyler Hill meat man, who supplies the people of our village from his wagon three times a week, is experiencing serious trouble with a throat ailment. A few weeks ago he could only whisper. There is a slight improvement in his voice at present but not such as he and his friends would like to see. A Port Jervis specialist is treating the case.

Last Thursday the men of this place had a frolic at the M. E. church. They removed the pile of dirt from the side of the church and placed it in the road in front of the building.

Mrs. Uiner and daughter, Miss Olive, are back in town. We are all glad to see them back.

Miss Mildred Pethick, of this place, is visiting friends in Windsor, N. Y.

The Loyal Daughters of the M. E. Sunday school will hold a Kwan Koba on the High school lawn on Thursday evening, July 25. Among the attractions there will be a snake charmer and a sugar plum tree. Ice cream and cake will be served.

Edward Moran, of Deposit, N. Y., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Burke, of this place.

PROBE MAN'S DEATH

Poison Found at Farm Where Green Lived.

DETECTIVES ARE ENCOURAGED

They Assert They Have Obtained Additional Evidence Against Lillian Green, His Young Widow, Who Is Now in Prison at Mauch Chunk, Pa.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., July 4.—Detectives investigating the death of Allen Alvin Green, twenty-nine years old, at his home in Stemlersville, June 25, assert they have obtained additional evidence against his young widow, Lillian Green, who is under arrest on a charge of having mixed poison in his food. They say they have found a small bottle with a grain or so of poison in it on the farm of Adam Diehl, where Green and his wife lived.

The bottle bore the label of a druggist six miles from Stemlersville, and was not the one, it is said, which Mrs. Green had admitted she purchased from a druggist in Weissport. Dan Thomas, the detective said to have found the bottle, is alleged to have declared he is more convinced than ever that Green was killed by small doses of poison given him during the last few months. Mrs. Green told him she knew nothing about the bottle in question. "That may be the bottle of poison my husband used to kill rats," she said, and she added that the discovery leads her to believe her husband hid the bottle.

Thomas did not deny that a man may be arrested in connection with the case, but he said he did not think it necessary to take him into custody at this time. "We are waiting developments," he said. Mrs. Green has recovered her composure in the Mauch Chunk prison and passes most of her time reading magazines. J. M. Breslin, her attorney, will apply for a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to have her released the early part of next week.

MELLEN GRANTED DIVORCE.

Banker Wins Decree Against Wife on Ground of Desertion.

Pittsburgh, July 4.—A decree of divorce has been granted to Andrew W. Mellen, the Pittsburgh banker, from his wife, Nora McMullen Mellen, according to the record in the office of Prothonotary W. B. Kirker, completed here.

This ends, practically by agreement of the principals, what promised to be a bitterly contested action. The original petition contained serious charges, but later it was amended to contain the charge of desertion.

A commissioner was appointed by the court to take testimony in England, France and cities of this country. The testimony was filed with the court, without argument, with the recommendation that the divorce be granted on the ground of desertion.

Miss Hartman was held tightly against the corner of the barn by the rope with the mule at the other end of it. The rope cut deep into her face and broke her neck and jawbone. She died almost instantly.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

ANDREW ATTACKS MACVEAGH.

Tenders His Resignation as Assistant Secretary of Treasury.

Washington, July 4.—A. Piatt Andrew tendered his resignation to President Taft as assistant secretary of the treasury.

In a spirited letter Mr. Andrew writes of conditions in the treasury department, which he says are due to Secretary McVeagh's attitude toward many of his subordinates.

These subordinates, Mr. Andrew asserts, "have been hampered and discouraged at every turn by Secretary McVeagh's idiosyncrasies and his incapacity for decision."

The letter makes a scathing arraignment of the secretary's administration of the government's financial affairs and has created a profound sensation in official circles.

"THE FOURTH" IN LONDON.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid Hold Reception at Dorchester House.

London, July 4.—The Fourth of July was celebrated in a rational manner by Americans in London. There were only vocal fireworks. This afternoon there was the usual crush during the reception of Ambassador and Mrs. Whitehall Reid at Dorchester House, where Americans gather to celebrate the national holiday.

This evening the American society will hold its annual banquet at the Savoy, at which 350 guests will be present. The Marquis of Bristol will propose a toast to the United States, and Lord Emmott will offer one to the health of Ambassador Reid. The ambassador will reply. Then Chauncey M. Depew will deliver an address on "The Day We Celebrate." Sir Harry Johnston and Rear Admiral Edwards will reply for the guests.

TAFT'S OLD HOME SOLD.

House to Which President Took His Bride Goes at Auction.

Cincinnati, O., July 4.—The former home on East McMillan street, near Forest avenue, Walnut Hills, of President and Mrs. Taft was sold at auction. The property was sold to a real estate broker named Barbour for $8,500.

The sale is considered an excellent one, as the house has been standing for more than twenty-five years. It was built by the then Judge Taft, and he took his bride there to begin housekeeping. It has recently been the property of J. W. Zarrow, a contractor of theaters. Mr. Barbour said that he had purchased the property for Dr. Charles L. Bonfield.

New National Committee Calls on Nominee.

TO NAME MACK'S SUCCESSOR

William F. McCombs Talked of as Chairman—Committee Hears Greene-O'Shaughnessy Row and Again Decides That Claim of Latter Hasn't Any Merit.

Baltimore, July 4.—Nearly every delegate to the Democratic national convention has left the city. The only Democrats visible on the horizon were members of the national committee who were still held in Baltimore because of their meeting. The meeting of the new committee turned out to be smooth and harmonious except for one brief period when an attempt was made to revive the Greene-O'Shaughnessy controversy over a seat in the national committee. This is a Rhode Island row.

Ordinarily, the new chairman of the national committee is chosen at the meeting immediately following the election of the candidates for president and vice president. The committee, however, decided that the officers of the old committee should hold over in a temporary capacity until the permanent officers were named.

This action was taken so as to give Woodrow Wilson and Thomas Marshall, the candidates, an opportunity to express their wishes in regard to the officers of the committee.

Wilson to Name Chairman.

A subcommittee of seven was appointed to wait upon Governor Wilson and Governor Marshall and ascertain their wishes in regard to this matter. Governor Wilson will, in fact, name the new chairman of the national committee to succeed Norman E. Mack. There is no doubt here that William F. McCombs, who managed the governor's prevention campaign and steered his boom to victory at Baltimore, will be named to run the national campaign. The entire new committee will visit Sea Girt today and congratulate Governor Wilson on his nomination.

The Greene-O'Shaughnessy row was hot while it lasted. George S. Greene is the national committeeman from Rhode Island. George F. O'Shaughnessy was his opponent at the state primary.

Following the election O'Shaughnessy charged that Greene had been chosen fraudulently. He filed the written protest with the subcommittee of the national committee and his fight was later carried to the committee on credentials. Both of these bodies sustained Greene.

When the temporary roll of the new committee was being called today O'Shaughnessy arose and protested against the seating of Greene. Chairman Mack, banging his gavel fiercely, said he saw no good in reopening old sores. There was a lot of bickering and Greene arose and said that if there was any necessity of reopening the case he hoped it would be done at once. Finally a motion was made that O'Shaughnessy's case be dismissed. It was carried unanimously and the committee departed with O'Shaughnessy still protesting.

MEMORY FEAT OF BLIND MAN

Can Give Populations For 285 Cities in Last Four Censuses.

In addition to telling the population of these cities, it is said, Coffin can reverse the test, and when the census figures are given he is able to give the city that has that population. It is said that Coffin is preparing to give public exhibitions of his skill and will combine some musical acts with his memory feats.
