Taft campaign. The members of the subcommittee who were instructed by the national committee to confer with the president in regard to the permanent organization of the latter committee found Mr. Taft's mind absolutely open on the chairmanship. This was disappointing to some members of the committee. The president insisted on having the views of the committeemen and upon giving his own opinions in regard to several candidates. The result was that the committeemen ended their day's labors without any candidate bearing the Taft tag. The president, now that he has obtained a full expression of views from the committeemen, will indicate his choice more definitely late today.

Think Taft Has Chance.

The most notable thing about the chairmanship situation is that five or six candidates really want the job. Mr. Barnes of New York would like to have it. So would Mr. Daugherty of Ohio. The fact was taken to indicate that the political wisacres think that Taft at least has a good fighting chance. There was a surprising cheerfulness among these committeemen over the nomination of Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic convention and the announcement of the call for the third

The subcommittee consists of General Powell Clayton of Arkansas, chairman; Alva H. Martin of Virginia, secretary; Roy O. West of Illinois, John J. Adams of Iowa, Charles B. Warren of Michigan, Thomas A. Neidringhaus of Missouri, F. W. Estabrook of New Hampshire, Sewell Sanders, United States senator from Tennessee, and Samuel A. Perkins of Washington.

All the members except Mr. Perkins were present. Mr. Estabrook, after the White House conference, was designated to speak for the committee. He agreed not to mention any names for publication. There were eight or ten names mentioned and considered, representing various sections of the country. There was no recommendation in favor of any man for chairman, and it appeared that no one was prejudiced in favor of or against any one. This leaves every one in the field with equal chances."

CLEW IN GIRL'S MURDER.

Boy Finds Knife With Which Crime May Have Been Done.

New York, July 3 - A murderous and a wooden handle upon which was nailed a brass crown, which the police believe may have been the weapon with which little Julia Connors was stabbed forty-one times, was found lying in the street in front of the tenement building where the police believe she was killed.

It was wrapped in a piece of Jewish newspaper and lay amid the dirt near the curb. Jacob Posner, fifteen years old, found the knife, and Garfield Carson, who saw him pick up the weapon, called the attention of Detective Flynn to the knife. The boy and the knife were taken to the police station.

Indiana Leader Says He Wants to Get Out of Politics.

Washington, July 9.-Thomas Taggart of Indiana has resigned his place on the Democratic national committee, to take effect July 14. Mr. Taggart, who is in Washington, made the announcement that his resignation had been forwarded to the chairman of the national committee.

William H. O'Brien, state auditor of Indiana, or Senator John W. Kern will succeed to the place so long held by Mr. Taggart. Mr. Taggart insists that his only purpose in quitting the national committee was to get out of polltics. He said he is perfectly satisfied with Wilson's nomination.

In those days the recipient of a letter paid the postage when the letter was delivered. In the case of the nomination of General Taylor by the Whig convention the chairman, Governor Morehead, wrote the notification letter. After several weeks of silence Governor Morehead became uneasy. General Taylor's mail was unusually heavy, and he gave orders that all mail to his address should be returned to the dead letter office unless the postage was prepaid. The chairman of the Whig convention had failed to prepay on his letter of notification, and back it went to the dead heap in Washington. The captain of the Kowshing agreed to do Chinese soldlers mutinled. After four hours' delay Togo opened fire and sank the transport. For a reason that was not explained the committee was informed that Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks would be at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on and after a certain date. At that time Saratoga Springs was a social center. It ranked Newport. The notification of Mr. Hendricks was timed to take place when the season was at its height.

The notification of the head of the ticket was overshadowed by the social trimmings that were attached to the notification of the tall. A correspondent of a Chicago newspaper who was present telegraphed among other words that "the old Atlantic rolled in majesty before the scene as Mr. Hendricks stood on the veranda of the great hotel." Possibly on account of the hurry incident to making up a newspaper in the early morning hours the old Atlantic rolled before Saratoga Springs in every issue of the paper. In some way not explained the story reached Mr. Hendricks, and he is said to have "hoped to the Lord that Mrs. Hendricks would not hear of it."

It is said, but this is not vouched for, that when Mr. Cleveland heard of the "break" he sent word to his running mate that as he had drawn the Atlantic ashore he hoped he would be able to land the necessary votes to elect the ticket.

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH Farm Journal,

For $1.00 you can get now not only the FARM your choice of any one of the famous booklets, "Money-making Secrets," which other people have bought by the HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Just note what the information given in one of these booklets, "The Million Egg-Farm," did for Robert Liddle, a clerk of Scranton, Pa.

In May, 1910, Robert bought 2300 day-old chicks. He spent just one week studying the methods now given in this book,—his only preparation for the business. Result—this "greenhorn" raised 95 per cent. of all his chicks, and 1350 of them were pullets. ("Poultry Secrets" tells you this secret.) In less than seven months he was getting 425 eggs daily, and selling them at 58 cents a dozen. His feed cost averaged $4.00 a day, leaving him OVER $17.00 A DAY PROFIT,—and this before all his pullets had begun laying. Isn't "Money-making Secrets" a good name for such booklets?

Read what people say of the other booklets, and of the FARM JOURNAL itself:-

"I find your Egg-Book worth untold dollars," says Roy Chaney, Illinois. "What it tells would take a beginner years to learn."

"I am much pleased with the Butter Book," writes F. J. Dickson, Illinois, "and would like to know how I could secure 300 comes, one for each patron of our creamery." "Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. WARNOCK, Penna.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable nformation as the Egg-Book, I would consider them cheap at ouble the price," says F. W. Manariano, New York.

T. F. McCrea, a missionary in China, writes, "I found Garden Gold a great help in my garden this summer. I lost my health in the great famine, trying to save the starving Chinese, and I am trying to get it back by getting near to the soil. After a long tuesle with the Chinese language and mission problems, it is a great rest to get out with the vegetables, trees, chickens, etc. I am saving money and regaining my health. My wife and I both find Farm Journal indispensable.

"The Farm Journal beats them all," writes T. H. Potter, Penna. "Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription."

"One year I took another agriculture!"

"One year I took another agricultural paper," says N. M. Gladwin, Washington, "and it took a whole column to tell what Farm Journal tells in one paragraph."

"I was very greatly helped by your garden page," writes Mrs. Joe Lawernce. Saskatchewan. "I was never successful in growing cabbage until last summer, when I tried the Farm Journal way. Now I have more than I need to use."

"FARM JOURNAL was a regular visitor at my boyhood home," writes Dr. William Davis, New Jersey. When the first copy came, it carried me back ten years, and I felt a boy again. I shall never be without it again—I want home to seem like home. When it arrives, I feel the gladness jump right into me. I begin on the first page and read to my wife until half-past ten, and all through the month I drink of its cream. You must work hard to keep it so rich."

"FARM JOURNAL is good for the man behind the counter, as well as the man in the field," says J. I. SLOAT, a Virginia bank clerk.

"If I could get as good interest on every dollar as I get from the FARM JOURNAL, I would soon be a millionaire." says A. W. WEITZEL, Penna. Farm Journal FOUR full both for $1.00 the booklets, HORSE SECRETS exposes all the methods of "bishoping," plugging, cocaine and sasoline doping, and other tricks of gyps and swinders, and enables any one to tell an unsound horse. It also gives many valuable training, feeding, breeding and veterinary secrets.

The MILLION EGG-FARM gives the methods by which J. M. Foster makes over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. All hack-yard chicken-raisers should learn about the "Ranceas Unit," and how Foster FEEDS his hens to make them produce such quantities of eggs, especially in winter.

STRAWBERRY SECRETS tells how you can have the finest fall-bearing strawherries almost until snow flies. It gives you the fruits of ten years' work and study of experts in this new industry. It reveals the secrets of fertilizing and blessom-removing to produce berries in the fall, tells inside facts about varieties, how to get three crops in two years, how one grower gets 10,000 quarts an aere and nest 25 cents a quart, etc. L. J. Farmer, the famous berry man, says, "Any one who can grow ordinary strawherries can, if they read this book, grow fall berries almost anywhere".

CORN SECRETS, the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King," tells how to get ten to twenty bushels more per aere of corn rich in protein and the best stock-feeding elements. Pictures make every process plain.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells of seven cows that produced half a ton of butter each per year [140 pounds is the average). An cyc-opener for dairymen. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn good ones into record breakers.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your backyard supply fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your greery bills, keep a better table, and get cash for your surplus. It tells how to plant, cultivate, harvest and market. DUCK DOLLARS tells how the great Weber duck-farm near Boston makes every year 50 cents each on 40,000 ducklings. Tells why ducks pay them better than chick-ens, and just HOW they do everything. TURKEY SECRETS, the latest authority on turkey-raising, discloses fully the methods of Horace Vose, the famous Rhode Island "turkey-man," who supplies the wonderful Thanksgiving turkeys for the White House. It tells how to mate, to set eggs, to hatch, to feed and care for the young, to prevent sickness, to fatten, and how to make a turkey-ranch PAY.
