THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

The secret of success is constancy of purpose.—Disraeli.

COL. ROOSEVELT DISSENTS.

The leaders of the Progressive party in Pennsylvania recently formulated a plan by which they proposed to have the same list of presidential electors in both the Taft and Roosevelt columns on the November ballot, and whichever candidate received a majority in the state was to have the entire 38 electoral votes in the college.

Col. Roosevelt is right, because an agreement such as proposed cannot be made by party leaders, and candidates for the office of presidential elector, so as to bind the votes of the several parties. The voters themselves must be the high contracting parties to any agreement of this nature.

It is true that Col. Roosevelt does not give these as his reasons for disapproving of the Pennsylvania Progressive programme. His reason is simply that the presidential electors in the Taft column are bound in honor, if elected, to vote for Roosevelt, because he carried the primaries in the state, and because the Chicago nomination was stolen away from him by Taft.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

It is alleged by the Progressive leaders that one of the principal reasons for the adoption of the ballot plan on which Col. Roosevelt has set the seal of his condemnation, is that in this way the Republican candidates for congress in the state, as well as the Republican state and legislative candidates, will be saved. If the Progressive leaders are really anxious that these Republican candidates should be elected, it is not necessary for them to enter into any such bargain as proposed. They have but to endorse the candidates and give them the benefit of the Progressive vote.

It is an interesting commentary on the wide discrepancy between the professions and practices of the Progressive leaders in Pennsylvania that they should have adopted a plan to control the electoral vote in Pennsylvania, regardless of the rights of either the Taft or Roosevelt voters and without consulting them in the matter.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, July 17. With the conventions over, nominations made and selection of campaign chairmen, another fight for the Presidency is on, with the result in greater doubt than at any election for twenty years. Mr. Taft would easily defeat Mr. Wilson if it were not for the insurgent movement headed by Roosevelt and aided by a bunch of deposed office holders and disappointed office seekers whose whole aim seems to be rule or ruin.

Mr. Roosevelt's claim of fraud is only a pretext and not founded on fact. Every one of the disputed delegates who were seated and who voted for Taft were honestly, regularly and legally elected.

date Taft and under the direction of President Roosevelt, I was one of the engineers of the machine and helped flatten out the minority of the committee, who were in the same condition when we got through with them as were the fifteen men at Chicago at this time.

Again Mr. Roosevelt and his followers do not appear in a very good light when it is known that he would have accepted the nomination if it could have been made by delegates selected by methods that would not compare, as far as regularity and honesty are concerned with those who nominated Mr. Taft.

While Mr. Wilson seems for the time being to be the candidate of a harmonious democracy, he will not rally to his support the people of the country who are interested in its progress and prosperity. Mr. Wilson is an avowed free trader of the worst class, that is, he is an economic free trader who is opposed to every vestige of protection to any American industry.

CONSUMPTION NOT INHERITED.

There are some people who still ask if consumption is inherited. It is not. Because a father or a mother has tuberculosis does not mean that a child will be born with the disease. The danger is that the baby will contract consumption from its parents after birth.

Remember also that people usually contract tuberculosis because they are run down and delicate. Children of delicate parents need special attention as to food, air and rest. Not everybody has money or intelligence enough to afford either good food or pleasant surroundings.

Killam's Thursday. There was no place appointed for holding the next Aid on account of the social being the evening before the regular aid day.

HOW TO CARE FOR BABIES IN SUMMER.

Department of Health Gives Advice to Mothers on Treatment of Infants. The care of babies in Summer is the subject of the weekly health bulletin just issued by the Department of Public Health and Charities. The bulletin follows:

Infant mortality is always highest during the hot weather of the Summer months. It is during this period, therefore, that every safeguard should be placed around the life of the baby to protect it from the diseases which cause such a high mortality. Investigations show that of the large per cent. of deaths which occur in the first year of life, from 60 per cent. to 70 per cent. are due to gastro-intestinal diseases, including the so-called "Summer complaint," which are within the reach of preventive measures.

The essentials to the health of the baby in hot weather are fresh air, proper clothing and cleanliness of food and body. The room in which the baby sleeps should be thoroughly ventilated. In suitable weather the baby should be placed out in the open air as much as possible, but not exposed to the direct rays of the sun.

How to Clothe Baby.

In hot weather the only clothing required by the baby are a cotton slip and a clean diaper, unless a doctor has advised that the flannel bellyband be worn for protection to the abdomen. The baby should, of course, be properly protected against any sudden drop of temperature by the addition of suitable clothing and bed coverings.

Guard Against Overfeeding. Guard against overfeeding both breast and bottle-fed babies, especially in excessive hot weather. The baby is not always hungry when it cries, but, like the adult, becomes thirsty and requires more water than usual during hot weather. Therefore, boiled, cool water should be given freely when desired by the baby between feedings.

Two little MI-O-NA tablets taken at the first sign of distress would have kept many a death notice out of the papers. If you have stomach trouble of any kind, start to get rid of it today. One 50 cent box of MI-O-NA stomach tablets will make you feel like a new man. Two weeks' treatment will make any abused, out of order stomach strong and vigorous.

WEBWORMS ON TREES AND SHRUBS.

"Webworms on trees and shrubs are very abundant and conspicuous during the middle and latter part of the summer," said State Zoologist H. A. Surface in his office at Harrisburg, this week. He then proceeded to discuss this subject in a plain, practical way, giving the results of his own experience during several years.
