CRIMINAL INSANE HOSPITAL WILL BE READY EARLY IN FALL

Trustees Hope to Have Farview Institution Open for Patients by October 15.

In order to have the new State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, at Farview, ready for occupancy Oct. 15, the date named in the contract, the executive committee of the board of trustees of the institution, headed by Colonel Walter McNichols, of Scranton, is working diligently.

A contract for farming implements to be used at the hospital is to be awarded August 21. The committee expects to award the contract for the furnishings about September 10. These furnishings are to be installed within a month after the job is let.

When the new hospital is ready the criminal insane now being cared for in the several asylums throughout the state will be brought to Farview. At the start accommodations will be ready for 200. Dr. T. C. Fitzsimmons, of Carbondale, is to be the superintendent.

SUMMER BOARDING HOUSE BURNS.

The home of Edward Kelly, Lords Valley, Pike county, was burned to the ground Monday noon, entailing a heavy loss to Mr. Kelly. The residence, which was recently renovated, was one of the finest in that section of the country.

The fire started from an open fireplace. It was cold for the summer boarders so a fire was kindled to take the chill off the room. Before the family noticed it flames were shooting out of the roof and the building was beyond control.

Mr. Kelly carried $800 insurance on his home, but that does not begin to cover the loss.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Sunday, Oct. 27, Has Been Set Aside By the National Society for Prevention.

Churches and religious societies, to the number of at least 100,000, will be urged to give special attention to the prevention of tuberculosis on Sunday, October 27, or on some day during the week preceding or the week following that date.

This season has been set apart and designated as the Third National Tuberculosis Day by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which makes this announcement to-day.

Tuberculosis Day was originally set on April 28, but was postponed because of a conflict with Conservation Sunday of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, which was held on that date.

Every one of the 600 and more anti-tuberculosis associations allied with the National Association, will be urged to promote Tuberculosis Day in their respective communities.

That tuberculosis is a serious problem among church congregations is evidenced by statistics which the National Association gathered last year, which show that 10 per cent. of all deaths among church members are caused by tuberculosis.

CENSUS REPORT SHOWS RAPID GROWTH OF PENNA.

Million Persons Now Employed in Manufacturing at Half Billion Wage.

Clothed in a verbiage as unromantic and monotonous as that of a legal document, its almost endless columns of figures and comparative data making it a discouraging document for the lay mind to peruse, the census bulletin just issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor upon manufactures in Pennsylvania is, nevertheless, a virtual modern-day romance of what has grown to be one of the wealthiest commonwealths in the United States.

The industrial prowess of Pennsylvania to-day can best be judged by the figures themselves--27,563 different manufacturing establishments, giving employment to 1,062,171 persons, turning out products to the value of two and a half billions of dollars annually, and paying in salaries and wages $566,524,000 each year.

Steel works and rolling mills, and blast furnaces, ranked, respectively, first and third among the industries of the State, says the census report. "The three allied industries, considered as one group for convenience, gave employment to an average of 143,778 wage-earners, and turned out products valued at $694,156,000 in the fiscal year taken."

Comparison with industrial statistics for Pennsylvania sixty years ago is sufficient commentary upon this magnificent growth. Then the total number of wage-earners engaged in manufacturing pursuits in this state was only 146,766 in all lines of manufacture, and the value of the entire production was less than that now attained in a single industry.

The report further specifies that while for the entire census of the United States 264 classifications were compiled, all but 19 of these are represented in Pennsylvania's manufactures.

"The natural resources of the State," it is pointed out, "are varied and of great importance. They have had a marked influence in the establishment and growth of many industries. Some of the materials used in manufacture, such as petroleum, bituminous and anthracite coal, iron ore, limestone, clay, glass, timber and tobacco, are produced here in great quantities. The accessibility and supply determine, in a large measure, the location of many large manufacturing establishments, especially in the iron, coke, lumber, wood pulp and similar industries."

When it is considered that the above figures are irrespective of the tremendous number of persons engaged in mining industries and agricultural pursuits, added significance is given to this statement in the census report.

"The transportation facilities of the State, both by rail and by water, are excellent. The State is traversed by numerous lines of railway, some of which are the main lines of the most important systems in the United States. The total trackage within its borders in 1909 was 11,296 miles, which was exceeded by only two States, Texas and Illinois. Philadelphia is one of the most important ports in the country."

Though this report in part deals with the same subject from a somewhat different angle, the above statement is considered a strong confirmation of the arguments and recommendations made in a recent report to the Secretary of War by a board of engineers considering water transportation problems and harbor improvements.

WHAT WAS THE MOTIVE?

Enigma Just Developed Points to Jealousy of Husband for Man Who Later Murdered Him.

Since the murder of Thomas Dolphin by Marsden Hubbard at the former's home near Waymart, some time ago, there has been rumors among the family's immediate neighbors to the effect that Mrs. Dolphin and Hubbard were more friendly than was brought out by their testimony immediately following the murder.

The neighbors tell of how good Dolphin had always been to his family in providing for them in every way. They did most of their trading at Dymond's store at Waymart where it is said Dolphin's pay checks were always cashed. The needs of the little household nearly always took all the money so Dolphin hardly ever had much left over to use as he pleased. He was never known to get drunk. He took a drink once in a while when he had the money but used it properly. In fact, the stories of the people of that neighborhood tend to disapprove the stories previously given by Mrs. Dolphin or Mrs. Lora Leonard, her mother.

Another side of the story that has just recently developed is that concerning the dealings of Hubbard and Mrs. Dolphin. They were often together and he made himself agreeable to her and the children during his stay in the vicinity. Dolphin was overheard to remark one time, that he wished his wife would be more careful with whom she went out with. As the testimony of many of these neighbors plainly show, there was jealousy there, and that being the case, Hubbard had no business in Dolphin's house. He should have left and avoided all the trouble.

County Detective N. B. Spencer, while working on the case recently, stumbled on several bits of fine evidence for the state. Just what he has found has not been disclosed, but we have been informed that certain things that were in evidence that Sunday morning at the Dolphin home, have been removed or done away with.

A HISTORIC ROAD MAY BE VACATED

Part of East and West Turnpike in Paupack Viewed by Commission Will be Part of Great Lake.

Part of what is known as the East and West turnpike, located in Paupack township, was viewed on Saturday by a commission appointed by Judge Searle, consisting of W. H. Lee, Isaac B. Sandercock and W. A. Gaylord, to find out whether it was policy to vacate the road. That part which was viewed by the commission extends from the middle of the Paupack bridge, across the turnpike and westward along the said East and West turnpike 4200 feet. This part of the road is flooded every spring and in some instances it is impassable. Pike county viewers were also present the same day and looked after the section in their county.

The findings of the Wayne county viewers will be made to the court next October. The road in question will be flooded when the proposed dam at Wilsonville will have been erected. The lake will be 40 feet above the flow at the Paupack bridge.

The old road viewed by the Wayne county commission is one of historic bearing, being originally used by the Indians who formerly occupied this section of Wayne county. It was followed by the refugees of Wyoming county at the time of the massacre in 1778 when about 200 whites traveled 60 miles to get away from the tortures of the Indians. Those who escaped took refuge in Fort Paupack in Pike county, near this road.

Chapman, in his history of Wyoming says, when describing the sequel of the massacre at Wyoming: "The remainder of the inhabitants were driven from the valley and compelled to proceed on foot 60 miles through a great swamp almost without food and clothing. A number perished on the journey, principally women and children, some died of wounds, others wandered from the path, now the East and West road, in search of food and were lost and those who survived called the wilderness through which they passed, 'The Shades of the Death,' an appellation which it has since retained."

The settlers in Paupack township, whose account is sustained by Miner, in his history of Wyoming, asserted that there in that dread swamp a child died, and the frantic hunger of the sufferers led them to cook and eat it, the abstaining mother standing by and weeping. The next day they crossed the Paupack, after which she went back and drowned herself.

BONEAR REUNION WEDNESDAY.

The descendants of the Bonear family in Wayne county will assemble today at the home of Mrs. Mead Sandercock at Hoadleys. There will be about 80 persons present.

HONSDALE POSTOFFICE TO BE IDEAL

Equipment Will be Up-to-date and Most Convenient Made--Contract Awarded to Corbin Company.

The building committee of the town council, composed of W. H. Kreitner, C. H. Rettew and T. J. Canvan, who have charge of making the changes in the city hall for the new postoffice, has held daily meetings of late. The committee has given considerable time and attention to the remodeling of the city hall and when completed Honesdale will have one of the most modern and up-to-the-minute postoffices in this section of the state.

The contract calls for delivery of the equipment in two weeks' time. The committee told Postmaster Allen that the new office would be ready for occupancy by September 1st.

NEGRO QUESTION PARAMOUNT

Bull Moose Followers Struggling With Issue--Clash is Feared Between Delegates.

(Special to The Citizen.) CHICAGO, Aug. 6.--The negro question occupies the attention of the Bull Moose conventioners here today. It is claimed to be as large a question as will come up and a clash is feared between the Southern and Eastern delegates over the matter.

Although the expected speech of Colonel Roosevelt outlining the views of what the party stood for overshadowed all else, the delegates themselves admit they fear a clash from the action of the credential committee in the southern contest.

HALLSTEAD TO VOTE ON IMPROVEMENTS.

A special election for the purpose of increasing the borough indebtedness will be held Tuesday, Aug. 6, at the usual voting place.

The purpose for which the indebtedness is to be increased is macadamizing, improving, grading, curbing and guttering Main street, said amount asked for by Borough Council being $5,000, or as much thereof as is necessary to make the street a proper width for the traffic on said street.

The council desires to make the width of Main street about 34 feet, which necessitates an extra expense for 18 feet which must be paid for by the borough.

BUILDING LOAN ASSOCIATION TO BE ORGANIZED.

The constant demand for houses in Honesdale and Texas township is a good sign that the town is not going backward. The demand for new and modern dwellings is growing. There are a number of young men who at present are not financially situated so they can build without aid. A building loan association is in course of formation and as soon as the Gurney Electric Elevator bonds have been disposed of one of Honesdale's leading institutions will launch the proposition.

DESERTED AUTOMOBILE.

CARBONDALE, Aug. 6.--The police of this city are looking for three young men who deserted an automobile on the Westside mountain last night. The machine bears a New Jersey state tag.

The Honesdale Dime bank has voted to increase its capital stock from $75,000 to $100,000.

The choir of the Methodist church will hold a concert in the church on Friday evening, Aug. 23.

The Alpha Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school will hold an ice cream social upon the lawn of the Misses Wilder, East street, this (Tuesday) evening.

The regular meeting of the Wayne County celebration committee will be held this (Tuesday) evening at the City Hall, at which time the prizes for the firemen, civic and grange and auto parades will be selected.

The Greater Honesdale Board of Trade has donated $25 toward the Wayne County celebration and there is a possibility of the Business Men's association doing the same. The merchants are responding liberally for which the executive committee is very grateful.

Mrs. William H. Bader of Thirteenth street, and Mrs. Christian Bergman of East street, entertained a number of friends at Five Hundred on Monday afternoon. First prize was won by Mrs. John H. Krantz; consolation prize was won by Mrs. Thomas Baker. Refreshments were served.

The Paupack Power company has purchased 12,000 acres of land as a basin for the proposed large reservoir. This is 4,000 acres more than is absolutely necessary, but the additional acreage will allow a raise of seven feet of water. This will take care of spring freshets, ice and water from snow. The normal height of the proposed lake above tidewater will reach a point of 1,198 feet.
