THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

It is one of the beautiful compensations of life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.—Western Christian Advocate.

WELCOME TO OUR VISITORS.

The Borough Council, Burgess and residents of Honesdale extend a most hearty welcome to its many visiting guests. The key of the town has been turned over to you by our Burgess, Hon. C. A. McCarty, and we hope you will avail yourselves of the opportunity and enjoy yourselves as best you can. Honesdale in turn greets you in holiday attire. Its many citizens have spent an unusual amount of time and labor in getting their stores and places of residence looking attractive for your home coming. Now we hope you will enjoy yourselves and we will feel repaid for all we have endeavored to do.

The executive committee of the Wayne county celebration has arranged an excellent program for your entertainment. There will be three daily parades in which hundreds of men will participate. Tuesday, civic and grange day, Wednesday, firemen's day and Thursday automobile parade.

THE CELEBRATION.

The Wayne County Celebration, which has been so extensively advertised through the press and by personal invitation, is with us. The event is being enjoyed by thousands of people, many of whom formerly lived here and to them Honesdale is especially dear. They are coming home to greet old acquaintances and loved ones. What is more endearing than the home coming? Parents greet children, and children greet grandparents and other members of the family. All are happy and the heart is light. This may be the last home coming for some. What does it mean to the dear mother whose golden locks are mingled with grey, as she embraces her only son and plants a fervent kiss upon his cheek? Aside from meeting our many friends in social intimacy, there is another pleasure which we do not want to overlook—that of our prosperity in life and our continued good health. We should not forget to thank our Heavenly Father for these many blessings we are receiving day by day.

THE ISSUE WITH FLINN.

In his authorized statement William Flinn draws the issue in this State as one between himself and Senator Penrose. That may be the Flinn view of it—the view of a cunning and unscrupulous politician to whom no trick is unhandy if it can be made to serve his personal ends.

But the hundreds of thousands of Republicans of the State who are not concerned in the personal fortunes of either Senator Penrose or William Flinn, but who are loyal to the principles and candidates of the Republican party, have no such narrow view of the situation. Mr. Flinn wants to save himself, and he is using all the chicanery of which he is master in the effort to do it, but that is not the issue. The question immediately confronting the Republicans of the State is integrity of their electoral ticket. The matter of first importance is to get a complete list of electoral candidates for whom the Republicans of the State can vote with confidence that they are voting for the regular Republican nominees for President and Vice-President.

This is not a matter to be delayed without doing great injury to the party, but for that very reason it is being delayed. Mr. Flinn, who is a leader in the new party, intending if possible to destroy the Republican party, is able to prevent the resignation of the Roosevelt men on the Republican ticket until all possible injury has been done to President Taft and all the advantages Mr. Flinn can get out of it have been obtained. In open hostility to the party Mr. Flinn is also in control of what is called the Republican State Committee, and every Republican has reason to feel that whatever work that committee does—if it does any at all except for the State ticket—will be in behalf of the third-term Presidential candidate.

These facts have created an embarrassing situation in the State, but they do not make the issue one between Penrose and Flinn. If Mr. Flinn is an issue at all it is with the whole body of Pennsylvania Republicans because he is standing in the way of fair and honorable treatment of their candidate for President. Having got aboard his new craft himself he is leaving his men on the Republican ship to disable it as much as possible and to scuttle it if they can. The presence of these hostile elements both on the electoral ticket and the State Committee has delayed the work of the Republican campaign, as it was intended to do. It has prevented organization and effort that should have been undertaken as soon as President Taft was renominated.

It is evident from the statement of Mr. Flinn that he intends the Roosevelt electors shall hold on for another month at least, unless he can be forced to earlier action. He announces that not less than thirty days before the election the changes will be made. The time remaining will be very short for any effective campaigning which is the purpose Mr. Flinn has in view; the purpose to make it as difficult as possible to give the electoral vote of Pennsylvania to President Taft; the purpose to defeat and destroy the party.

No, the issue is not between Flinn and Penrose; it is between Flinn and the loyal Republicans of the State, all of them, who are supporting the principles and candidates of their party, which Mr. Flinn has deserted, and to which he is in open and declared hostility. His organization is as much the enemy of the party as the Democratic organization.—Philadelphia Press.

PENROSE IS CORROBORATED.

John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil company, in his testimony on Friday last before the Senate Committee, clearly proved that he had contributed $125,000 to the Roosevelt campaign in 1904 and intimated that the Colonel was fully cognizant of the transaction. This is a complete corroboration of the statement made a few days ago by Senator Penrose in answer to the Flinn allegation. Colonel Roosevelt again asserts that he had no personal knowledge of the Standard Oil contribution, but the political pot is boiling and the end is not yet. It is expected that Roosevelt will again assert that he had no personal knowledge of the Standard Oil contribution, but the political pot is boiling and the end is not yet. It is expected that Roosevelt will again assert that he had no personal knowledge of the Standard Oil contribution, but the political pot is boiling and the end is not yet.

A great memorial arch is to be built at Washington in honor of the men who went down with the Titanic that women and children might be saved. It is a touching incident that the women of the little South American republic of Bolivia beg the privilege of taking part in this noble enterprise, by sending a block of virgin silver from Bolivian mines, to be placed in the arch and on which shall be written the names of the American men who, on the Titanic, unflinchingly accepted death to save women and children regardless of their race, class or social standing; whose acts make them heroes and whose self-sacrifice was the grandest and most glorious tribute ever paid to woman, the most beautiful manifestation of love and devotion to children the world has ever heard of.

NEW VOTERS.

The Census Bureau has prepared an estimate of the number of new voters that will take part in the November election. It was made for the Republican and Democratic headquarters in New York. Director Durand said that the number of new male voters would total 3,650,000, making about 24,335,000 male voters. The total number of females voters will be close to 1,347,000. Women vote in six States.

The Church census of Australia shows that during the past ten years the Methodists increased 8-2-3 per cent.; the Baptists 8-2-3 per cent.; the Church of England 14 1/4 per cent.; the Roman Catholics 16 1/2 per cent. and the Presbyterians 31 per cent. The population increase was 18 per cent.

OUR FIREMEN'S EDITION.

To-day's issue of The Citizen is devoted almost exclusively to the valiant fire fighters. Upon nearly every page is interesting matter pertaining to our visiting and local fire companies. The edition is profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts, presenting pictures of firemen longest in service, charter members and others. In addition to these a page is given to Honesdale's beautiful churches, public buildings and street scenes.

This issue of The Citizen will make an ideal number to preserve, owing to its many different features. Extra copies may be obtained at The Citizen office. If you are not a subscriber to this paper let us have your subscription before you leave Honesdale. Although you may live out-of-town you want to know what is happening at home, your native town—Honesdale. The Citizen is published twice a week, price only $1.50 per year. Office in Jadwin building, second floor.

SPORTING NOTES.

Have you awakened to the fact that the Honesdale base ball team is playing good ball? White Mills has the best team this year that we ever knew them to have (and that's going some) but they were not as good as the locals on Saturday. It was the best played game seen here this year; the locals again showing the effects of the coaching of Captain "King" Brader, while the playing of the White Mills boys was, as usual, very good, although Tuman failed to show any of his state league form. Taken as a whole that White Mills bunch are a gentlemanly lot of fellows as well as being good ball players, and we are always glad to see them scheduled to play on our lot. White Mills defeated Hawley in three straight games, which shows that the locals were playing good ball, especially as White Mills had their star slabman Loll in the box, who let Hawley down with four hits on one or two occasions; but either he had an off day or the crowd got his goat (he is a youngster) or King Brader's little boys had their batting eyes open, for they got nine hits and got them just when they were needed. "Mathewson" Hessler pitched his usual "heady" game, being like the wonderful Christy at letting the other fellows hit, except when hits are needed, or forcing them to "pop" to the fielders.

Brader's work at shortstop and at the bat again featured the home team's work, having eight chances in the field without an error. "Duffer" Weaver, by the way, is playing as nice a game on the initial sack as we have seen played here in many a day. Ed. Isbell of Seelyville, umpired the game, and the White Mills boys questioned some of his decisions, but while he did make some mistakes, one side seemed to suffer as much as the other, and on the whole his work was good.

Right here we would like to call the Hawley Times Sporting Editor's attention to the fact that the game passed off very peacefully, no "hirlings" of the ball team crowded the base lines or caused any trouble, whatever, and we would also like to say that we could get along just as good with the Hawley team as the players are also a nice lot of young fellows and get along just as good with our boys if it were not for the outsiders who come looking for trouble. If it were not for the fact that the majority of those outsiders cannot see anything but the Hawley side of the game, and forget all about the stones thrown by Hawley boys "and some others with not every boys' minds" when visitors are playing down there, and if it were not for just such untrue writeups as given in the last issue of The Times to stir up bad feeling.

Going back to Saturday's game: White Mills scored first in the second on a hit by Guthell, H. Lilly's safe bunt and Warner's single which Polt let go through his legs, and pushed their second one across in the fifth on a single by Gill, who reached second on a fumble by Wise, when Brader tossed Wender's liner to him for a double play, Wenders also being safe, and third on a single to right which Jack Schilling fielded quickly enough to prevent a score, and came home on a ball hit to Wise by Lawson and fielded too slow to catch him at the plate.

For Honesdale Mangan was safe in the third when G. Lilly hit him in the back with the ball when fielding his bunt; "Slim" went to the second on Brader's single and both advanced a base on Weaver's sacrifice and Sandy, the reliable, brought them both home with another single. We counted another in the fourth on singles by Dudley and Mangan and Tuman's fumble of Hessler's grounder.

Our fourth and last run came in the sixth on Polt's single, Hessler's sacrifice and Mangan's single. The lineup:

GOLDEN WEDDING IN HILLS OF WAYNE COUNTY.

A golden wedding is an unusual event even where the unusual happens frequently, but when such a wedding occurs in the midst of the quiet hills around Shehawken, in the highlands of Wayne, a special interest attaches to this revival of the memories of a half century ago. Having been born in northern Wayne, and having spent nearly three score years and ten in this immediate section, Mr. and Mrs. John Stanton have a wide acquaintance throughout northeastern Pennsylvania, and the southern tier of the counties of the sister state of New York.

They have lived to see the country here change from the primeval forests, where the deer, bear and wildcat had a home, a rolling meadows covered with fields of grain, and pleasant pasture-lands where herds of cattle and flocks of sheep graze unmolested by the wild animals of former days. Mr. Stanton was born in 1843, and will have reached the seventieth mile stone on the road of life in a few months, while Mrs. Stanton has seen sixty-seven Summers and Winters come and go, having been born in 1844. Mr. Stanton's father, also named John, was born in 1798 and died in 1871, aged 72 years. His mother, Rhoda Tallman Stanton, was born in 1803, and died in 1864, aged 61 years. Mrs. John Stanton's father was Thaddeus Campbell, of Scott descent, and was over eighty when he died, and was also his wife, Eliza Grelett, who was of French descent. Mr. Stanton's father came to Wayne county from Connecticut when he was about fourteen years old, and married Miss Tallman, of Preston.

Eleven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Stanton, two having died, the remaining nine children being present at the celebration of their golden wedding. The following are the names of the children in the order of their birth, Ada H., born 1863, died 1812, married Frank McKane; Ella, born 1864, married Lew Haynes, deceased, married H. A. Lucas; Sidney, born 1866, married Cora Dix, deceased, married Mrs. Jane Travis; Matilda, born 1866, married William P. Stanton; Lovern, born 1872, married Leon Hill; Lela, born 1874, married Philip Faigle; Bert T., born 1876, married Alice Prentice; Nora, born 1878, married Fred Skilleit; May, born 1880, married Burton Thorne; Angie, born 1882, died 1883; Josie, born 1883, married Wayne Dix; Lizzie, born 1885, married Lee Hadden.

The above family, with their children live in various places, some in Carbondale, some in Scranton, some in Binghamton and Endicott, while others still remain near Shehawken.

There were a number of visitors from the distance, a few among others being Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin, of Endicott; Mr. and Mrs. Judson Lott, and S. Nathan Furman and daughter, Eva, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Clark and Mrs. Frank Kilpatrick, of Carbondale; Mr. and Mrs. LaFord Dix, of Forest City, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kilpatrick, Jr., of New York City.

Various gifts were received, among them being a large number of gold coins, cut glass and household linens. Over a hundred guests partook of a plentiful supply of good things to eat, the tables being prettily decorated with golden-glow and golden-rod. Altogether the event was a very pleasant one for the many friends present as well as for Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, whose fiftieth anniversary marks an event of unusual interest to them.

WHAT OUR FRATERNAL FRIENDS SAY.

Wayne county will be in the limelight next week when a three-day celebration will be conducted in Honesdale, the beautiful county seat. Wayne county people are hospitable and evidently believe in giving over a few days for the entertainment of themselves and the folks of adjoining places. Honesdale is a very progressive borough—a veritable little bee-hive of industry—and these gatherings afford an opportunity of showing the outside world, the busy habitation up in the Moosic mountains.—Archbald Citizen.

Stops Scalp Itch

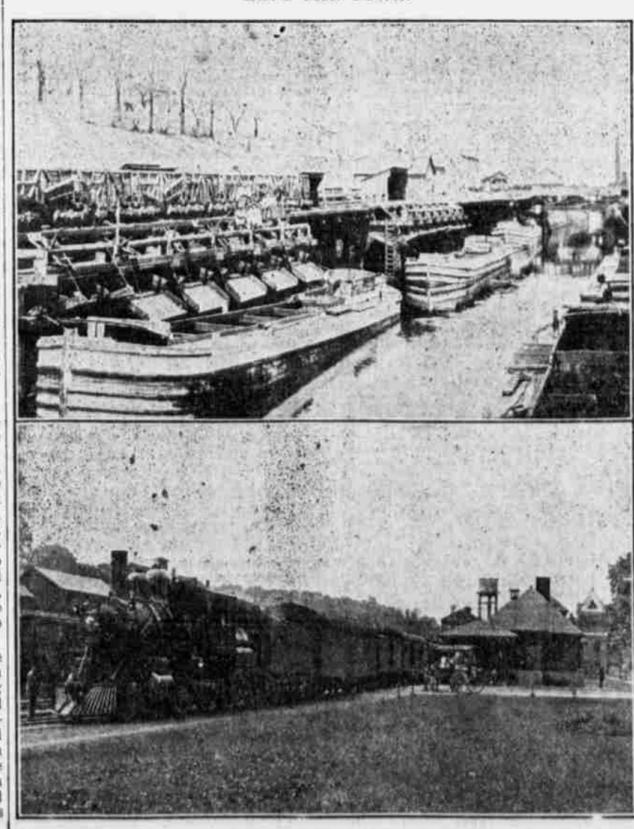

Dandruff and Every Form of Scalp Disease Cured Quick by Zemo.

It is simply wonderful how Zemo goes after dandruff. You rub a little of it in with tips of the fingers. It gets right down into the glands, stimulates them, stops the itch, and makes the head feel fine. No, it isn't sticky! Zemo is a fine, clear, vanishing liquid. You don't have to even wash your hands after using Zemo. And what a wonder it is for eczema, rash, pimples and all skin afflictions. A 25-cent bottle at A. M. Leine's drug store, Honesdale, is guaranteed to stop any skin irritation.

Zemo is prepared by E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., and is regularly sold by druggists at $1 a bottle. But to prove what it will do at trifling expense, Zemo is now put up in 25-cent trial bottles.
