

Fine Job Work Promptly Executed at The Citizen Office.

The Citizen.

Subscribe For The Citizen The People's Family Paper $1.50 Per Year.

State Library July 13

70th YEAR -- NO. 86

HONESDALE, WAYNE CO., PA., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1912.

PRICE 2 CENTS

RESBYTERIAN MEN'S BANQUET HELD IN CHAPEL

One Hundred and Sixty Guests Present—Good Speakers—Fine Supper Served by Ladies

The time selected by the Presbyterian society for their Men's Banquet was very appropriate and the decorations of the chapel were suggestive of the season, when the trees are dressed in their most gorgeous colors—deep red, rich oranges, greens and browns in every shade. Autumn leaves and sprigs are used profusely and presented a beautiful picture.

The tables were arranged in the auditorium of the chapel and covers were laid for one hundred and sixty guests, as that number of invitations were sent out. The number which sat down to the feast was one hundred and sixty, men and women.

The tables were artistically arranged and were decorated with crimson vines and lighted candles. The effect was altogether pleasing. The following is the menu:

- Beef Bouillon Croutons
Oyster Timbales
Saltines
Creamed Chicken Mashed Potatoes
Squash
Celery Olives Pickles
Jelly
Rolls Brown Bread
Pineapple Salad
Wafers
Rum Pudding Coffee Hard Sauce
Salted Nuts Confections

A bouquet of chrysanthemums were the favors at each plate. After the last course had been served, Rev. N. H. Swift, as toastmaster, arose and in his pleasing manner spoke a few words to the assembled guests. He introduced R. M. Stocker, one of our lawyers, and an elder of the church, as being the person selected to make the welcome address. His welcome to the clergy, members of the press and the guests was sincere and pleasing.

Dr. Swift next introduced the Rev. Charles Lee, D. D., of Carbonale, who spoke on the work of the Presbyterian church and mixed in his remarks much wit and humor. The next speaker, Rev. Robert Bruce Clark, D. D., of New York, formerly of Port Jervis, who was a boyhood friend of Dr. Swift, spoke for an hour on the "Individuality of Man" and of the latter's attitude toward woman. Rev. Clark is a forceful speaker and held the close attention of his audience throughout. During the evening the orchestra, composed of Emmanuel Freeman, violin, and Miss Julia M. Storm, on piano, rendered the music. Several solos were rendered by Charles Truscott.

The committees in charge of the banquet were:

Reception—Rev. W. H. Swift, D. D.; the trustees of the church, A. T. Searle, H. S. Salmon, Wm. H. Lee, J. D. Weston, W. T. Moore, E. A. Penniman, Charles T. Bentley, J. E. Richmond and the elders, W. B. Holmes, Andrew Thompson, William J. Ward, J. A. Bodie, R. M. Stocker and Adam Reitauer.

Decorating—Mrs. C. Harry Rockwell, Mrs. J. Sam Brown, Mrs. E. W. Burns, Miss Clara Torrey. Mrs. John Krantz superintended the arrangements for supper, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Mills, Mrs. Oscar Bunnell, Mrs. George Penwarden, Mrs. M. S. Fritz, Mrs. W. H. Swift, Miss Emma Brown and Mrs. Thomas Brown.

Thirty-six young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. P. B. Petersen and Mrs. W. J. Yerkes, acted as waitresses and served the guests. The Men's Banquet was started five years ago and with the exception of last year has been a yearly occurrence and has afforded much pleasure and sociability among the men of the Presbyterian church.

JUDGE CANNOT MAKE A REPORTER TELL

Court Holds That Newspaper Man's Confidence is Inviolable.

The question whether a newspaper reporter can be required to reveal under oath the source of information on which he bases a newspaper article came up before Judge Turner in Milwaukee, Wis. Judge Turner ruled in effect that a newspaper man's confidence is inviolable. John Killilea, who had caused a reporter to come into circuit court, requested the court to require a reporter on oath to reveal the names of the persons from whom he had obtained information which was used in a news article. Killilea said the publication of the article during the pendency of the case tended to prejudice the jury and that statements made in the review of the history of the condemnation proceedings were incorrect and evidently supplied to the reporter by persons interested in the case. Judge Turner decided that he had no power to require the reporter to be sworn or examined unless the reporter volunteered.

HANKINS HOUSE SOLD.

Frank Kellam, of Hankins, has sold his hotel to Fred Kille, of Obernburg, who will take possession Nov. 1. Mr. Kellam is undecided as to what he will do in the future. Mr. Kille is an old and popular hotel man and should make a success of his new venture.

FOURTH CLASS POSTMASTER EXAMINATION NOV. 16.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on the date named above an examination will be held at Hollisterville as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster of class (b) at Callapoos and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office is $53 for the last fiscal year.

Application forms and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at Callapoos or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Margaret Tyler.

The death of Mrs. Margaret Tyler, of Conklin Hill, occurred Friday morning. She was aged 78 years and lived with her son, Hudson Tyler, who, for the past summer has been working away from home and Mrs. Tyler was living alone at the time of her death. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the house, Rev. Scott Bush officiating and burial was in the Damascus M. E. cemetery in charge of Undertaker Valentine. Mrs. Tyler is survived by one son, Hudson, and one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Bush, besides numerous other relatives in this section.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY, OCT. 27

Country-Wide Movement Among Religious Organizations to Observe That Sunday by Special Services.

All creeds, religions and political beliefs are joining in the movement for the observance of Tuberculosis Day on Sunday, October 27th. Letters commending the movement have been received from some of the most prominent leaders in thought in the United States.

President Taft, former President Roosevelt, and locally Archbishop Prendergast, Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia; the Interchurch Federation which embraces all of the Protestant churches interested in social activities, Bishop Rhineland of the Episcopal church, and many others have endorsed the campaign against tuberculosis and the plan of devoting some part of next Sunday to a consideration of the principles underlying the prevention and eradication of consumption.

"I hope and believe that Tuberculosis Day in the churches will be productive of great good," says President Taft in a letter to Homer Folks, President of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Former President Roosevelt, who is an Honorary Vice-President of the National Association, gives out this statement:

"I am very glad indeed that arrangements are being made to have attention directed throughout the United States on 'Tuberculosis Day,' October 27, to the immediate urgent duty resting upon us all to do all we can do to prevent this preventable disease. It is particularly fitting that clergymen, churches, and church organizations should impress upon their members and attendants the duty of actively supporting in every practical way their local agencies, hospitals, dispensaries and the like, engaged in the suppression of tuberculosis. The amount of suffering, misery, orphanage, bitter poverty, and economic loss that would be obnoxious knowledge as to the causes and prevention of tuberculosis is simply incalculable."

Archbishop Prendergast of the Diocese of Philadelphia, in a letter to the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, said:

"I am pleased to know that you are continuing the good work towards the prevention of Tuberculosis and that you have set aside the 27th of October as Tuberculosis Sunday. I am sure that all our priests will be interested in your efforts and will comply with any request you will make of them in furthering this worthy work in which you are engaged. Wishing you every success, I remain, Sir, your obedient servant, Charles J. Prendergast, Archbishop of Philadelphia."

Mayor Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, endorsed the movement in the following words:

"I am glad to learn that the National Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has set aside October 27th as a day for the special consideration of the means of eliminating consumption. Tuberculosis is a social disease. Its greatest aids are ignorance and poor living conditions. It is to be fought through the education of the people. Tuberculosis Day, as I understand it, has this end in view and I therefore urge all the citizens of Philadelphia to co-operate through their churches and other organizations in making the observance of this day as widespread as possible."

Clergymen from every part of Pennsylvania are arranging to preach on the subject of the White Plague and will distribute literature among their congregations. In this way more than one hundred thousand cards containing the principles for the prevention of tuberculosis, will be distributed. In addition, International Typographical Union No. 2 has instructed all of its locals to assist the branches of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in conducting the campaign for the observance of Tuberculosis Day. The various locals in Pennsylvania are in communication with the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis and are arranging for services in the churches in their respective cities.

INSPECTOR J. N. SHARPSTEEN ROAD BUILDING PROGRAMS ADOPTED

Ten States in Line; Many More to Have Plans for Highway Improvement This Year.

Ten states have adopted comprehensive road building programs in the last three years and within the next twelve months almost a dozen more will have committed themselves to definite plans for highway improvements. The United States government is assisting the general movement by construction of model roads on its reservations and by experimental work to determine the best wearing materials and means of keeping roads in order and free from dust. In some states, notably New York and Massachusetts the road building programs are about to be enlarged and in Ohio and Virginia the rebuilding of numerous highways is to be undertaken on a systematic basis, experiments similar to those now being made by the Pennsylvania State Highway department being now under way.

Pennsylvania has a road building program for the first time, the Legislature of 1911 having enacted a plan which had been demanded for years by taxpayers, farmers, land owners, economic students, members of the State Grange, automobilists and others. This program was inaugurated through an appropriation of $3,000,000 for road building purposes in 1911, but to carry it out it is proposed to amend the constitution so as to permit issuance of bonds for road construction. If the next Legislature approves of the amendment, the people will vote on the proposition next year. The State is now without debt, because its sinking fund contains thousands of dollars above the outstanding obligations, and as the state has adopted a road building plan it will be up to the people to furnish the means to make it effective.

If the bond issue should be by any mischance be defeated good roads in Pennsylvania would be set back perhaps ten years. The constitution prohibits the submission of the same amendment oftener than once in five years. Thus it would be 1917 or perhaps 1919 or even later before the people if the $50,000,000 projects so generally endorsed should be rejected at the polls. But it is not believed to be at all probable that the bond issue will fail of approval next year. Too much depends upon it and too many people are interested in providing good roads. Its defeat would make the building of new highways dependent on appropriations from current revenues with consequent reduction in allowances for construction of "State aid" highways, systematic repair of State roads, sign posts, bridge work and township roads. By providing funds for the main highways from the proceeds of the bond issue the Legislature will be enabled to be more liberal in allowances to townships.

INSPECTOR J. N. SHARPSTEEN.

and fifty letters and post cards that Mrs. Dolan had sent out, and that there were more than that number in Susquehanna that he didn't take. Mr. Sharpsteen's Honesdale friends congratulate him on his success in this, his first case under his new office and hope that it will continue.

Mrs. Dolan was arrested some months ago on information obtained by Inspector Sharpsteen for misusing the United States mails. The penal code provides for a fine of not more than $5,000 and not less than $500 fine, or an imprisonment of from one to five years, or both, for sending obscene literature through the mails. Judge Witmer, however, stated that he took heed of the attorney's plea and was lenient with the woman.

The case has caused much excitement in Susquehanna as Mrs. Dolan was a member of the best society of that place.

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO OBSERVE ARBOR DAY

Program to be Instructive as Well as Entertaining—Illustrated Lecture by Lantern Views by Fred Jenkins.

The local schools will observe Arbor Day and Friday, October 25, has been designated by State Superintendent of Schools Schaeffer as the day set aside by the state for that celebration. The same will be observed in the local schools in the evening. The public is cordially invited to attend. The following program, which is both entertaining and instructive, has been prepared for the occasion. The program, which will begin at eight o'clock sharp, will be followed by several lantern views, which will be explained by Fred Jenkins. No admission.

- Program.
Orchestra Heumann
History of Chestnut Tree Blight...
The Importance of the Chestnut Tree...
Piano Duets Lewis Spruks
Anna and Priscilla Lambert
Cause and Symptoms of Chestnut Tree Blight...
Daniel Dudley and A. Morrison
Means of Spread and Entrance...
Norman Decker
Orchestra Heumann
Locating and Destroying Infection...
Charles Tolley
Advice to Owners of Chestnut Trees...
William Gager
Vocal Solo Miss Pierce
The Chestnut Tree Blight Commission...
Philip Sommer and Benj. Burkhart
A National Loss Edw. Turnberger
Orchestra Heumann

"Freckles" Will be at the Lyric Next Tuesday.

An attraction which should cause more than the usual desire to see a play, is Nell Twombly's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read story "Freckles," which will be the attraction at the Lyric theatre next Tuesday, Oct. 29. When it is considered that this fascinating story of Indiana's great swamp country, "The Limberlost," has had more than a million readers, there is no wonder that the drama is causing far more than the ordinary attention. Where a book contains the vital requisites for dramatization, the play is always of more interest than the story, because the imagination is not taxed and the characters are living, breathing ones. Those who have read "Freckles" will understand the possibilities for a drama of far more than ordinary strength in action, and environment. There is unlimited scope for the scene painter, the electrician and the stage mechanic, and in these features the production is said to be of surpassing magnificence.

ROAD BUILDING PROGRAMS ADOPTED

Ten States in Line; Many More to Have Plans for Highway Improvement This Year.

Ten states have adopted comprehensive road building programs in the last three years and within the next twelve months almost a dozen more will have committed themselves to definite plans for highway improvements. The United States government is assisting the general movement by construction of model roads on its reservations and by experimental work to determine the best wearing materials and means of keeping roads in order and free from dust. In some states, notably New York and Massachusetts the road building programs are about to be enlarged and in Ohio and Virginia the rebuilding of numerous highways is to be undertaken on a systematic basis, experiments similar to those now being made by the Pennsylvania State Highway department being now under way.

Pennsylvania has a road building program for the first time, the Legislature of 1911 having enacted a plan which had been demanded for years by taxpayers, farmers, land owners, economic students, members of the State Grange, automobilists and others. This program was inaugurated through an appropriation of $3,000,000 for road building purposes in 1911, but to carry it out it is proposed to amend the constitution so as to permit issuance of bonds for road construction. If the next Legislature approves of the amendment, the people will vote on the proposition next year. The State is now without debt, because its sinking fund contains thousands of dollars above the outstanding obligations, and as the state has adopted a road building plan it will be up to the people to furnish the means to make it effective.

If the bond issue should be by any mischance be defeated good roads in Pennsylvania would be set back perhaps ten years. The constitution prohibits the submission of the same amendment oftener than once in five years. Thus it would be 1917 or perhaps 1919 or even later before the people if the $50,000,000 projects so generally endorsed should be rejected at the polls. But it is not believed to be at all probable that the bond issue will fail of approval next year. Too much depends upon it and too many people are interested in providing good roads. Its defeat would make the building of new highways dependent on appropriations from current revenues with consequent reduction in allowances for construction of "State aid" highways, systematic repair of State roads, sign posts, bridge work and township roads. By providing funds for the main highways from the proceeds of the bond issue the Legislature will be enabled to be more liberal in allowances to townships.

BENJAMIN'S AUTOMOBILE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

A five-passenger Stoddard-Dayton touring car, owned by Contractor C. M. Benjamin, of Carbonale, was totally destroyed by fire at the residence of L. C. Swingle at South Canaan Thursday night of last week. Mr. Benjamin and a party motored from Carbonale to South Canaan. He had experienced some motor trouble on the way over and as soon as they arrived at the Swingle home he raised the hood of the automobile to make an investigation. As soon as it was raised a blaze shot out, which is supposed to have been caused by a leak in the gasoline feed. In a short time the machine was ablaze and the fire gained such headway that efforts to check it were of no avail.

SWEEPING OUT BAD AIR.

Nothing spoils an evening at home so much as a drowsy feeling. Bad air is perhaps more often the cause of this than anything else. Three persons can use up all the good air in an ordinary room within an hour. So keep introducing pure air as much as possible.

If an open window is uncomfortable, try sweeping the room with air every half hour, or even more often. Open all the doors and windows. Let the outside air flood through. In an instant you will feel invigorated. When the atmosphere seems pure again, shut the windows and doors. The room will heat up quickly, for while the bad air has been swept out, the walls, ceilings and heavy articles of furniture have retained their warmth and thus it requires little furnace heat to make the room cosy once more. Repeat this operation as often as you find it necessary and your evenings will be less drowsy and more healthy. The best thing about this rule is that it can be applied in daytime as well as at night.—Karl de Schweinitz, Executive Secretary, Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

TOWN PURCHASES PARK STREET SEWER

Committee in Charge at a Special Meeting today Paid $300 for Private Sewer.

At a special meeting of a committee representing the town council, Thursday, the Park Street Sewer company was purchased by the borough for $300. The town will assume one-third of the cost of digging the trench and paying for the sewer pipe to the Bentley lot.

OFFICIAL BALLOT GOES OUT TUESDAY.

Copies of the official ballot for 194 congressional, senatorial and assembly districts in which elections will be held this year were certified to the commissioners of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania by the Department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth Tuesday. The law requires that this shall be done fourteen days before election and as a matter of fact most of the counties had their copies in hand by noon Tuesday. Monday is the last day for making any changes in the ballot and a few belated withdrawals which were made on Saturday were received and a contest in a Philadelphia district held up that country's papers.

The ballot contains party squares for the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Keystone, Socialist, Bull Moose, Industrialist, Lincoln, Progressive, Roosevelt, Progressive and Washington parties. The Keystone party has no electoral ticket, but it has State candidates for all offices, and the Lincoln and Progressive parties have no State tickets, but men have been named to run under those names in some districts. There are eight electoral tickets, three being the same.

The State will elect 38 presidential electors, on State Treasurer, one auditor general, 4 congressmen-at-large, 32 district congressmen, 26 senators, one in the Fourth district for a two-year term, and 209 representatives. No judges or county officers will be elected this year.

GRAND JURY REPORTED TODAY

Ten True Bills Found—Four Bills Ignored—County Buildings Inspected—Chairs Recommended For Traverse Jury Box.

The grand jury reported at 2:30 this afternoon and found the following true bills:

- Com. vs. Tony Perry; selling liquor without license.
Com. vs. Ernest Miller; selling liquor without license.
Com. vs. Ernest Miller; selling liquor without license.
Com. vs. Morton Hinds; selling liquor without license.
Com. vs. Frank Konig, assault and battery.
Com. vs. Benjamin White; arson.
Com. vs. John Ryan; assault and battery.
Com. vs. Richard Sotherton, Allen Bodie, Henry Herbst, Henry Keigler, and John Thomas for riot and assault and battery.
Com. vs. Anna Neiman; arson.
Com. vs. William Polt, Jr.; larceny and receiving.

The following bills were ignored:

- Com. vs. Benjamin White, assault and battery; county to pay costs.
Com. vs. John Meehan; Larceny, receiving and larceny from person. County to pay costs.
Com. vs. Florence Watson, Myrtle Sossenhammer; larceny and receiving.
Com. vs. Ernest Miller; selling liquor on Sunday. County to pay costs.

John Meehan, who has been in the county jail for three months, was discharged on Thursday afternoon, the grand jury failing to find a true bill against him on account of lack of evidence. The jury also inspected the county buildings on Thursday morning and found everything in good shape. They, however, recommended the purchase of a few new chairs for the traverse jury box. Judge Searle dismissed the jury after thanking them for their faithful work and their attendance. The jury were out a little over three days.

The report of the viewers of the bridge in Dyberry township was approved.

COURTESY BRINGS ITS REWARD

Conductor Charles Lord Accommodates Business Manager Which Results in Getting Large Shipment of Freight for the Erie.

The following clipping taken from the Erie Railroad's Magazine gives an interesting account of what courtesy did for a passenger traveling upon the Erie Railroad. The party extending the courtesy was Charles Lord, of this place, the popular and genial conductor on the Honesdale branch of the Wyoming division of the Erie road. The article reads:

"Eric Courtesy Rewarded." That conductors and trainmen, by acts of kindness and courtesy to the traveling public, secure for this Company many shipments of freight from competing lines, is again proven in the following instance which occurred recently.

The business manager of a large manufacturing concern in Brooklyn, with main office in Philadelphia, had occasion to go to Honesdale recently, and on his returning to New York, Sunday morning, could not make connections, necessitating a wait of about 6 hours at Lackawaxen. Conductor Lord of the Honesdale branch consented to try and have Train 4 stop for him, which was done.

He felt that, if Erie employees interested themselves in his welfare to that extent, he would do what he could for the Erie, and accordingly wrote his firm in Philadelphia for permission to route their shipments over our lines, which was granted. This firm's business is of considerable importance, shipments going to many points in the West.

CITIZEN TO INSTALL WIRE

Election Returns Will be Flashed Over Private Wire to This Office From New York City—Complete Returns to be Given.

The Citizen has completed arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph Company to install a wire in this office to receive election returns on the evening of November 5. Arrangements will also be made to give the news to the public as soon as it is flashed over the wire to our office. Complete returns will be given.

In addition to news from the National and State ticket The Citizen will give out returns from Wayne, Lackawanna and adjoining counties, including the congressional and senatorial districts.

This office will also be equipped with two Bell phones and the Consolidated phone.

If you want the complete election returns come to the Citizen building.

SALE OF SECURITIES.

Securities held by the late John Kubbach were sold at auction in the office of C. A. McCarty on Wednesday morning. The following stock, represented in the different concerns and institutions, local and otherwise was disposed of:

- Five shares Farmers and Mechanics Bank stock, to R. J. Miller, brought $295 per share.
Fifteen shares of same bank stock, to Miss Theresa Gerety, $293.50.
Fifty-four shares of Wayne Cut Glass stock, to J. Samuel Brown, at $34 per share.
Eighteen shares Pocono Distilling Company stock, to J. S. Brown, at $5 per share.
Ten shares Honesdale Realty Co., to W. A. Sluman, $5 per share.
Two shares Herald Press Association stock, to C. E. Sandercok, $5.

ARCHDEACONRY MEETING

Held in White Mills and Indian Orchard Monday and Tuesday—Program of High Order.

The autumn meeting of the Archdeaconry of Scranton was held Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 21st and 22d, in White Mills and Indian Orchard. They were entertained by the people of the missions of Grace church, Honesdale, in those places, except for the Bishop and Dr. Jones of St. Stephen's church, Wilkes-Barre, who to take an early train Tuesday morning, were the guests Monday night of J. W. Lambert and the Rev. A. L. Whittaker respectively. The entertainment of so many in Indian Orchard and White Mills was made possible only by the generously granted use of automobiles all owned in White Mills. A supper was served at Harry Decker's in White Mills Monday evening by the Episcopal Guild of that place for the guests who had arrived on the 3:38 Erie train or had been conveyed by auto from the 3:15 D. & H. train at Honesdale. This and the two meals served in the basement of Christ church, Indian Orchard the next day by the Ladies' Guild of Christ church were highly praised as among the best ever served at Archdeaconry meetings. The total number present was over twenty. The most distant places represented in the Diocese were South Bethlehem, Easton and Pottsville. But a former member of the Archdeaconry, the Rev. W. H. Decker of Empire in the Panama Canal Zone, on a vacation in the country for a few weeks, was easily able to claim the longest distance traveled. The others from outside the Archdeaconry of Scranton were the Rev. Howard Diller of Pottsville, and the Rev. D. A. Rocca of Easton, who were speakers, and the Rev. Francis M. Wetherill, who as Warden of Leonard Hall, South Bethlehem, is ex-officio included in the invitation list.

The program, which follows, was of a high order of merit. There were large congregations both at the Methodist church where the Monday evening service was held, and at Christ church on Tuesday evening, the church in both cases being comfortably filled. The review of Book White's "The Call of the Carpenter" was spirited and well done. The Rev. Mr. Decker gave an extremely illuminating description of the mechanical features of the Panama Canal project, of the Panamanians, negroes and other people of the zone and of the missionary work there. The need for this latter will soon be very much less than at present, for the canal will be finished and the laborers will have gone back to their homes in the West Indies and elsewhere. The greater part of the missionary work of the Episcopal church in the zone has been in providing for the spiritual needs of the negroes who have been reared in the Church of England in the island of Jamaica.

The sermon at the service, in the morning, which was preached by the Rev. Ernest W. Wood of Montrose, was a unique and thoughtful one. The theme was "What God Cannot Do." From every nature of God it is impossible for Him to do some of the things which man with his inferior nature seems to find it possible to do. At the communion service several gifts to Christ church were consecrated, a font, a brass cross, a silver communion service and a silver alms basin.