LOCAL NEWS

The election proclamation appears on the eighth page of today's Citizen. Read it over carefully.

—Chris Schadt, of Scranton, who conducted the Lake House at Lake Ariel for some time, left last week for British Columbia, where he expects to locate.

—Sumner Crossley has been selected to represent the boys of the Honesdale schools in the spelling contest. As yet no selection has been made among the girls.

—Farmers are indeed very grateful for the recent heavy rain which filled their wells, springs and the streams. The water supply had begun to look dubious until Wednesday's rain fell. It was welcomed and made many glad hearts.

—Fred Flederbach was pleasantly surprised at his home on River street last Wednesday night in honor of his seventieth birthday. He was presented with many remembrances of the occasion. Refreshments were served. Mr. Flederbach has been a resident of Wayne county for fifty years.

—Passengers, crew and life savers who had been braving fire on board the Merchants and Miners steamer Berkshire since Sunday morning, were taken off the burning liner Tuesday by the revenue cutter Seminole in Lookout Cove, North Carolina. An explosion in the hold, probably of barrels of turpentine, alarmed Captain Hart and he abandoned hope of taking his ship on to Philadelphia with her passengers.

—Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion pugilist, will not fight in Australia. Hugh McIntosh, who had offered Johnson $50,000 for fights with Sam Langford and Sam McVey cabled Tuesday to W. W. Kelly, his Chicago representative, to cancel all negotiations. McIntosh explained that Johnson's part in the alleged abduction had so angered the sporting men and public of Australia that the matches were no longer desirable.

—Dr. C. J. Hunt, of the state department of health, reported Tuesday morning that two new cases of smallpox were discovered in South Canaan township, this county. The date of the onset of the cases was October 8. The patients are in a house under quarantine. They refused to be vaccinated at the time the house was quarantined. The first patients in the house contracted the disease by coming in contact with Miss Clara Theobald of Carbondale, a niece of the master of the house in which she was visiting.

—A resident of Avondale is authority for the statement that a few nights ago that place was visited by some weather which was different from that in this section. Just why it selected Avondale is not explained but it gave the residents a touch of early winter. On water troughs ice formed half an inch in thickness and flowers of all kinds were killed. One man who was seen soon afterwards says that a water pipe at his home was frozen and he was compelled to melt the ice in it in order to secure a supply of water the following day.

—During the coming week officers of the State Department of Health will make a sanitary inspection of more than 5,000 school houses in 656 townships throughout the Commonwealth, which declined medical inspection. Commissioner of Health Dixon has ordered this work done to insure a report upon the sanitary conditions surrounding the school children in every second-class township in the state. The water supply, a most important point, is to be given attention—if from a well, its location and the possibilities of contamination from surface drainage or adjacent cesspools, stables, etc., must be noted.

—A Hallows'en Social will be held by Junior Workers of Grace church Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p. m., in Sunday school room. All welcome.

—William A. Tanner, of Aldenville, and Miss Anna M. Moase, of Pleasant Mount, were married in Carbondale on Wednesday, Oct. 23, by Rev. Charles Lee, D. D.

—Last Monday the Federal grand jury met at Scranton, and squashed the indictment against Fred W. Schweighofer, who had been charged by the government with shipping bob veal.

—St. John's Guild of the Lutheran church entertained their members in a most interesting manner last Tuesday evening. A debate was held and addresses were made by G. Wm. Sell and J. J. Koehler. Fine refreshments were served.

—The names of two Wayne county men, C. A. McCarty and J. J. Koehler, both of Honesdale, appear among the presidential electors. It is unusual that two men from the same county should be named as electors.

—On Saturday of this week H. G. Rowland, jeweler, will conduct the second annual package sale at his store. It is an unique way of commemorating a business birthday and has become very popular with Mr. Rowland and his patrons.

—Dr. C. J. Hunt, deputy state health commissioner of Harrisburg, returned to Carbondale Tuesday from Troy, Pa., where he has been in charge of the typhoid epidemic. "We have traced the source of the disease to the water supply," the doctor stated. "We have begun a systematic sanitary survey of the town, and expect soon to have the disease in check. There are now 150 cases of typhoid in Troy."

—Mrs. M. J. MacCown, of Church street, received a message Thursday announcing the death of her brother, Frank Benjamin, of Scranton, who was killed Wednesday in Johnstown. Mr. Benjamin was a contractor and carpenter by trade. He was born in Scranton and leaves two daughters, both residing in the Electric City, besides two brothers, W. H. and E. H. Benjamin, also of that city, and one sister, Mrs. M. J. MacCown, of this place.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. B. Schermerhorn, formerly of this place, now of Kansas City, is a guest of friends in Honesdale.

Rev. Charles Lee, D. D., of Carbondale, was a guest at the Presbyterian manse the first of the week, having been one of the speakers at the banquet at the Presbyterian chapel on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. W. B. Holmes and Miss Bessie E. Swift left Tuesday morning for Williamsport where they expected to be in attendance at the meeting of the Pennsylvania and Virginia Synodical Home Missionary society, which is in session in the Presbyterian church there this week.

Rev. Robert Bruce Clark, D. D., of New York, formerly of Port Jervis, was entertained at the home of H. Scott Salmon the first of the week. Rev. Clark, who is a boyhood friend of Rev. W. H. Swift who was formerly of Orange county, was one of the speakers at the Men's banquet Tuesday night.

Mrs. Harvey Welsh of East street received several bruises and injuries which has confined her to her bed as a result of a fall on Monday morning down a back staircase leading from her kitchen to the porch. Dr. P. B. Petersen was summoned and found no broken bones. Mrs. Welsh's many Honesdale friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Miss Jane D. Hagaman has returned from a visit with relatives in Newton, N. J., whence she went to take her mother, hoping that a change of air and surroundings would be beneficial. While at Newton, Miss Hagaman attended her cousin, Miss Helen M. Sutton, as maid of honor, at her wedding to Raymond E. Smith.

HYMENEAL.

Allenbacher—Walter Nuptial. William John, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Allenbacher, of High street, and Hazel J. Walter, daughter of Mrs. Vera J. Hoyle Walter, of Seelyville, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Swift, D. D., in the Presbyterian manse. The attendants were Miss Mildred Walter, of Scranton, and Lesley Decker of Honesdale. The bride was becomingly gowned in white net over silk. Her hat was of white beaver, trimmed with pink roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of white material.

Owing to the bride's mother's ill health the wedding dinner and reception was held at the home of the bridegroom on High street following the ceremony. During the evening a select orchestra discoursed music for the guests, of which there were many. The bride's cake was of pyramid form, capped with a miniature decoration representing a bride and bridegroom. The cake was decorated by George Schwenker and was unique in design.

The bride and bridegroom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents, including furniture, cut glass, chinaware, silverware, linen, etc., which bespeaks of the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends. The young couple will go to housekeeping in Seelyville for the present. Mr. Allenbacher is employed in McKanna's cut glass factory. The Citizen extends congratulations and wishes the young couple a happy wedded life.

Among relatives and friends to attend the nuptial event from Scranton were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pellenz, Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman, Mrs. Edward Bircher and daughter Helen, John P. Liebig and daughter Jewel, Miss Alice Cortright, Mrs. H. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Walker, Mrs. John Fives, son Harold and daughter Helen.

SUTTON—SMITH.

On October 19th, 1912, at high noon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hutton, of Newton, N. J., occurred the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Helen Marie Sutton to Raymond Ellsworth Smith, also of Newton. As the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Lelle Smith, sister of the groom, pealed forth, the bridal party entered the parlor where the ceremony was performed under an arch of palms, pine and white chrysanthemums. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Jane D. Hagaman of Honesdale, Pa., as maid of honor, also by two bridesmaids, the Misses Julia R. Nestor, and Lillian Hill, both of Newton. The groom was attended by his brother, Sanford Smith, as best man, and two ushers, Mr. Norman B. Anderson and Frank Dorsimer. The bride was gowned in white satin charmeuse, entrain, trimmed with duchess lace and French pearl trimming, and wore a white lace veil, caught up with lillies of the valley and a magnificent pearl brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley. She made a very beautiful picture, as she entered the room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The maid of honor, Miss Hagaman, was gowned in pink chiffon over pink satin messaline, and carried an arnful of white chrysanthemums, and wore a "Juliet" cap of seed pearls. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in pink satin messaline, and carried white chrysanthemums. After receiving congratulations, an elaborate buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Catterson was the caterer. The bridal party was seated at a table, where the pink and white color scheme was carried out, the centre of the table being banked with white chrysanthemums. The bride and groom left at 1:50 via automobile for an extensive honeymoon, which will cover points of interest in Pennsylvania, and expect to be "at home" to their friends after November 1st. The gifts were numerous and handsome, and show the high esteem in which the young people are held. Mrs. Smith is well known in Honesdale, having visited her cousin, Miss Hagaman. We extend hearty congratulations.

BARTHOLOMT ANSWERS T. R.

Calls Him Ambition Insane—Missouri Congressman Makes Long Letter Public on Return from Europe.

New York, Oct. 24.—Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri, who returned from Europe yesterday, gave out a copy of a letter to Theodore Roosevelt under date of Sept. 12, "off Plymouth, England," answering Colonel Roosevelt's attack on him as "one of the highwaymen" of the Republican National Convention at Chicago. The letter says: "In the newspapers of September 5—the morning I sailed for Europe—you are reported as having used the following language in a speech delivered at Des Moines, Ia., to wit: 'I see Mr. What's-his-name, that Congressman from St. Louis, Bartholdt—he is one of the highwaymen—has asked Mr. Cummings to berate the Texas, California, and Washington contests at Chicago. I hope Mr. Cummings will refuse, for the reason that I wouldn't debate with a pickpocket the ownership of a watch he has just stolen. If the police are handy, I'll hand them over to them. If they are not I'll tend to him myself. Any man, any candidate for governor or other office who has knowledge of the facts, and supports Mr. Taft gives us the right to say that he is not competent to pass upon honesty in public life.'"

"I shall not attempt to answer you in kind, as to do so would mean to stoop to the level of the cowboys in speech and manners, with apologies to the cowboy. Nor shall I discuss with you the merits of the Chicago contests, for your repeated fulminations on this subject show you to be either guilty of persistent perveriance or else innocent of all knowledge of the facts concerning it. In assuming the latter everybody will admit that, in the face of the printed evidence, I am taking a charitable view.

Saying that the letter is not intended as an argument, and adding that you (Colonel Roosevelt) would not admit the truth concerning the contests even if you were convinced of it because it would knock the props from under your candidacy," Mr. Bartholdt gives his reasons for opposing Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy partly as follows: "First—I charge you with being, consciously or unconsciously, the tool of the steel and harvester trusts. If President Taft had disregarded the law and the interests of the people as you have done, through your failure to prosecute these trusts, he would have had no opposition for renomination. But the moment he had authorized his attorney-general to institute proceedings, these powerful combinations looked around for a candidate with whom to beat Mr. Taft, and they settled on you and furnished all the money deemed necessary to carry the primaries.

"Second—I challenge your sincerity in the championship of progressive measures and assert it to be an insane ambition and not an honest desire for progress and reform, which prompted your candidacy. Why did not you propose all these new plans while you were still President and had the power to carry them out? Instead you sneered at Senator La Follette and his followers.

"Third—I charge you with a violation of a solemn promise given to the American people when you declared that under no circumstances would you accept another nomination. Your subsequent explanation that had in mind only a "consecutive term" is a subterfuge and an afterthought, and every sane American citizen is convinced of that fact.

"Fourth—I am opposed to your candidacy because it is for a third term.

"Fifth—I charge you with a deliberate effort to overthrow the Constitution and the courts, for this and nothing else is what the proposed recall of judges and judicial decisions means. If the Constitution guarantees which vouchsafe our inalienable rights and their enjoyment by a minority are to be overturned by the passing whims of a majority, why have a constitution at all and why courts?

Sixth—I charge you with responsibility for the defeat of the arbitration treaties, the greatest progressive measure yet proposed by an American President. The same as in the case of reciprocity, which you both favored and opposed, you advocated the gospel of peace in your Christiania speech, but immediately began knocking it when President Taft submitted a concrete plan to carry it out. The deciding vote by which the treaties were emasculated was cast by your own political manager, Senator Dixon, who had favored them up to the time of a visit with you at New York on the night preceding the vote in the Senate. Your opposition evidently was prompted by envy and jealousy of President Taft's possible success in the matter of this great world reform.

Seventh—I hold up to the sober judgment of the American people your denial of all knowledge of the $100,000 contributed to your campaign by the Standard Oil Company in 1904. As you knew of everything else connected with that campaign, that denial represents one of the most remarkable issues of this remarkable campaign. But why go back as far as 1904, when the present campaign furnishes so instructive an object lesson? George W. Perkins, Frank Munsey, Medill McCormick, Dan Hanna and others, have been publicly charged with having furnished your sinews of war since you threw your hat into the ring, and you have never denied it. And are not these men the representatives of the steel and harvester trusts, namely the trusts protected by you and persecuted by President Taft?

Eighth—I charge you with having attempted by your diatribes against the national committee, to incite the people to riot and bloodshed. Have you forgotten what you said about such a crime—and a crime it is—in your first message to Congress after the assassination of President McKinley? Have you forgotten that you sent your, then Secretary of State, to New York to charge Mr. Hearst with responsibility for that great national calamity? But Mr. Hearst's editorials were mild as compared with your furious outbursts in which you characterized honorable men as thieves and brigands.

Ninth—I charge you with having basely betrayed a friend in the person of President Taft. Even to-day neither he nor the country can account for your faithlessness except on the theory of your own inordinate ambition or the legal procedure against your pet trusts. And was not President Taft, by virtue of party tradition as well as his conscientious performance of duty and progressive achievements justly entitled to a second term?

Tenth—I shall not only support Mr. Taft, but oppose you with all legitimate means at my command, because of the contrast between you and him. Mr. Taft is sane, safe and judicious, and under him the country's progress and peace will be secure. But what is the use of telling you? You know all this to be true and have said the same things yourself, only in much stronger and more glowing language.—New York Tribune.

SOME POTATOES.

Leeland Avery raised 270 bushels of Empire State potatoes from three quarters of an acre of land in Berlin township this season.

Olin J. Barnes, son of Prothonotary W. J. Barnes, also holds a good record as a potato raiser. Last spring he planted two bushels of seed potatoes. After digging for summer and fall use, the harvest was 116 bushels. Olin's many friends will be glad to learn that he is improving from his recent illness.
