The fifty-fourth birthday of William J. Schloss occurred on Thursday of last week. The Citizen extends congratulations. Mr. Schloss has been in the employ of Katz Brothers for the past thirty-two years.

Some of the Progressive party people profess to believe that the third term candidate has a chance to win. Let's figure on it a minute. In 1908 the Republican candidate for president received 7,679,006 votes; the Democratic candidate received 6,409,106. To win Mr. Roosevelt would have to receive a majority of this vote. It is a trait of human nature that men cling tenaciously to long established habits, and therein Taft and Wilson will benefit. Roosevelt running stump, or at the head of a new party, is quite different from Roosevelt running at the primaries. Even presuming that two-thirds of the Republicans would leave their party, which is inconceivable, the third term candidate would have to get nearly one-third of the normal Democratic vote to win. As straws show which way the wind blows we suggest to our Bull Moose friends, in all candor, that they consider just how many Democratic recruits they have had at their two club meetings.

Next Friday will be All Saints Day.

Next Tuesday will be a great and all-important day in the history of the United States.

They will leave as soon as they can dispose of their household furniture, which is advertised elsewhere in to-day's Citizen.

The joint library committee met on Thursday evening of last week in the High school building. Miss Marie Freund, who has devoted considerable of her time and attention in the library of late, was appointed chairman of the publicity committee. The joint committee desires to impress upon the townspeople that the new library is for everybody, not alone for the school and its pupils, but for every man, woman and child. President W. B. Holmes is chairman of the general committee.

Members of the Honesdale lodge No. 218, Free and Accepted Masons, held a past master's session on Thursday evening and the third degree was worked upon a candidate by former officers who are pastmasters. Rev. James P. Ware, of Drifton, and Rev. W. H. Hiller, of this place, gave addresses. The banquet to which over one hundred members of the lodge sat down, was enjoyed by all. It was prepared by the members. A musical program and smoker was enjoyed after the banquet.

Nothing strikes a deadlier blow at liberty than the insidious appeals made in her name in times of public excitement. There is much hysteria, hyperbole and hypocrisy in the present political campaign. Voters should judge of industrial conditions themselves and weigh well the arguments and motives, as well, of those advocating a change. After election, who ever may fill the offices, the problem of getting a living and saving something for the rainy day, will be yours, still, to solve. How will a change affect you and your household? There are many preachers of discontent. They decry present conditions but propose vague remedies, and a great many arguments are suggestive of "sour grapes" and the fable of the man with an ax to grind.

Mrs. Rosetta Millard, of River Forest, Chicago, is visiting with her niece, Mrs. William Mott at White Mills. Mrs. Millard is eighty-one years old and took the journey alone and intends, upon her return, to go by way of Michigan, where she will make a visit among relatives at Imlay City. Mrs. Millard tells very many interesting stories of things which occurred during the Delaware and Lackawanna wars, which were told to her by a friend who was born just after the revolution, and by her grandfather, who fought in the Revolutionary war. She tells of how the settlers, among whom were her grandparents, who settled at Milanville, were warned of the approach of the Indians and left the fort there, which was too small and could be easily taken by a large band of Indians, to go to a larger fort farther down the Delaware. They avoided the river and tramped across the mountains, one of the family carrying a heavy sack of flour the entire journey. The Indians came and found the town empty and killed cattle, sheep and hogs, and burned every building but one, which was left standing, and in that house, with doors for protection against Indians, Mrs. Millard was born.

Judge A. T. Searle in an opinion handed down Tuesday has settled the city assessorship dispute in this place, and he decided that F. J. Varcoe is entitled to the position of assessor. Varcoe was elected in November, 1909, for a term of three years, which would have ended in April, 1912, and which was lengthened to April, 1913, by the schedule to the constitutional amendments. Homer Greene, county solicitor, had advised the county commissioners that the assessors' books should not be given out until the present dispute was settled. Judge Searle stated Tuesday when he made his decision that he did not think it necessary to give an opinion on the case inasmuch as Judge Fuller of Luzerne county and Judge Sadler, of Schuylkill county, New York, had rendered decisions previous to this. Bert Dane claimed that by virtue of his election in November, 1911, for a term of two years, he was entitled to the office. Judge Fuller decided the act of June 12, 1911, is unconstitutional because repugnant to the schedule.

James Slisby, who is employed as a butcher for Mellet, the meat man at Scranton, received a severe wound with a cleaver last week while cutting meat and is home for two weeks.

THE PEOPLE'S MITE.

An Opportunity for Everyone to Help the Library.

There is loyalty and loyalty. One variety inspires people to throw confetti or sit in the front row and shout themselves hoarse. It makes them believe that ours is the progressive town and convinces them that they are devoted townsmen. The other kind of loyalty may make less noise but when, for example, we are requested to help establish a library fund, this kind of loyalty noiselessly drops its mite in the hat.

At last we have an opportunity to give real live expression to the interest we feel in the progress of our town and to prove which kind of loyalty we have. When the subscription list comes your way and you have any money for the library fund, or know any way in which you can earn some, place your pledge—your mite will be appreciated. If there is not a way open to you and you cannot take an active part in adding to the mite, your good will counts for something.

The general library committee, of which W. B. Holmes is chairman, met with W. J. Ward and J. A. Brown, as representatives of the school board, last Thursday evening. A permanent organization was formed with the following officers: W. B. Holmes, president; C. R. Callaway, secretary; W. J. Ward, treasurer; Marie Freund, publicity agent.

The committee decided to ask the people of Honesdale and vicinity for $500 with which to purchase books for the Free Library, located in the High school building.

The Library will be open to the public two afternoons and two evenings per week, the exact days will be announced later. The subscription paper will be started in a few days and it is desired every one may give something so that each will feel that he owns a part of the Library.

ARBOR DAY EXERCISES.

The Arbor Day exercises at the Honesdale High school were attended by a surprisingly large audience. Following the suggestion of State Supt. of Instruction, Dr. Schaeffer, the program was given over to a discussion of the Chestnut Tree Blight. Heumann's orchestra rendered several selections and the piano duet by the Misses Lambert was greatly enjoyed as was the vocal solo by Miss Blanche Pierce. Ten boys from the Sophomore class recited selections on the history, nature and extent of the blight, and the aim and work of the Pennsylvania Chestnut Tree Blight Commission.

Edward G. Jenkins, who is a local field agent of the commission, told of the splendid work that is being done by the men of this commission in searching out the infected trees, creating an immune zone past which they hope to make it impossible for the fungus to spread, of their aim to patrol the western portion of the state, eradicating every newly infected tree, and of the strenuous educational campaign which is being prosecuted to the end that the Commission may have greater co-operation. The High school possesses a very fine stereopticon and 600 views for work in various courses.

After showing a number of forest and woodland scenes from this list upon each of which he spoke briefly, Mr. Jenkins displayed a series of pictures of many phases of the blight which had been loaned by the Demonstration Department of the State Commission, giving an interesting and instructive discussion of each picture.

BETHANY.

(Special to The Citizen.) Bethany, Oct. 29.

Over one hundred and fifty people enjoyed the roast pig supper served by the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society Thursday night at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gammell. The orange tree and apron booth were well patronized. Sixty dollars was cleared. The quilt made and given by Mrs. Ette Oliver of Haines was chanced off and won by Mrs. Fred Hauser. Friends from Dyberry, Waymart and Honesdale were in attendance. Rev. Pritchard's friends in Prompton sent a check.

DENIES ALLEGATIONS.

The Theobald family of Carbondale, has denied the statement that Miss Clara Theobald visited at the home in South Canaan, where Dr. C. J. Hunt recently discovered a case of smallpox. They state that there is no basis for the allegation and claim that the school house is situated only about one hundred feet from the quarantined house and that it was not closed when smallpox was discovered.—Tribune-Republican.

Street Commissioner Weldner and corps of laborers are giving Main street its semi-annual cleaning. The surplus dirt is being dumped on the Gurney Elevator site for grading purposes.

BIG APPROPRIATION ASKED FOR FARVIEW.

At the next session of the legislature a request will be made for an appropriation of $1,200,000 for the Farview Hospital for Criminal Insane. The appropriation will be asked for the purpose of erecting the additional buildings.

The board of trustees of the Institution and the members of the state board of charities made an inspection of the buildings completed Friday.

Fact, Isn't It?

We attribute the growth of our business both to service and to advertising; the former, because only through serving our trade to perfection, can we be sure of holding the patronage once accorded, the latter, because it has proved its use worthy in years before us.
