

FOUR SHOT IN FIGHT

Others Slightly Wounded In Row Over Card Game.

FIFTEEN MEN ARE ARRESTED.

One Player Accused Another of Cheating, Which Immediately Starts Fight and Led Into Free For All Battle With Guns, Stiletos and Bricks.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Starting with an argument over a game of cards when one man accused another of cheating in a house at Sixth street and Washington avenue a fist fight led to a fierce street row and revolver battle. Four men were seriously wounded, a score of others were slightly hurt, and fifteen men were arrested.

The seriously wounded are Michael Carge, 625 Annin street, taken to the Pennsylvania hospital; Antonio Naderma, 1017 South Sixth street, Pennsylvania hospital; Louis Fallie, 1038 South Fairhill street, Mount Sinai hospital, and Antonio Lombardo, 1036 South Reese street, Pennsylvania hospital.

Half a dozen men were engaged in a card game when one of them charged another with cheating. Immediately the accused man drew a knife and prang at his accuser. A revolver shot sent the knife from his hand, and in less than a minute shots were flying in every direction.

Shooting wildly, the men ran to the street, where many others joined them. Windows were shattered, stiletos were thrown and bricks hurled. Riot calls were sent in.

Eleven of the men arrested and taken to the Central station for a hearing are Frank Lazerotto, Eighth and Ann streets; Rubillo Jacovino, Fifth street and Washington avenue; Frank Lorenzo, Sixth street and Washington avenue; Cornea Minite, Tenth street, near Lombard; Malamit Gemario, Antonio de Salvatore, Donato de Cesso, outh Sixth street, near Washington avenue; Luciano Quietto, South Sixth street, near Washington avenue; Sanp Leonardo, South Reese street; Salvatore Iello, South Fairhill street, and Antonio Jenesse, Fifth street and Washington avenue.

BOY KILLED BY MOTOR TRUCK

Cycling, Had Been Coasting, Holding to Chain In Back of Vehicle.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—While riding school on a bicycle Harry R. Dawck, fifteen years old, 3131 North Carle street, was run over by a motor truck belonging to the Cudahy Packing company and instantly killed.

The boy, who has been making his home with his grandmother at 1313 almer street, was riding east on Girard avenue, and as he neared Fifth street he caught up to the motor truck, extending his hand, he managed to catch hold of a chain on the tailboard, and he applied the coaster brake of the bicycle and let the truck carry him along.

He coasted in this manner for about two blocks, then, trying of this, he attempted to pass the truck. As he did the truck crossed the car tracks and he and his bicycle fell under the rear wheels, which passed over his head.

DRIVEN INSANE BY FEVER.

Engineer at Panama Loses Mind and Attacks Family.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Driven insane by a fever contracted at the Panama canal, where he was chief engineer of the Gatun locks, Herbert Frazier, forty years old, Fifty-second street, near Market, attacked his wife and her at his home by hurling dishes on the dinner table at them. He was taken to the Philadelphia hospital. When Frazier went to Panama seven years ago he was healthy and accustomed to hard work. He was advanced to carpenter's foreman to chief engineer, but his illness compelled him to return home several weeks ago.

CORBETT MUCH IMPROVED.

Former Champion Leaves Hospital at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—James J. Corbett, the former heavyweight champion pugilist, was able to leave the hospital, where he had been operated upon for appendicitis. Corbett's case was a particularly severe one, and at one time all chance was held out for his recovery. His remarkably robust constitution, however, enabled him to pull through. Corbett's physicians have advised him to take a long rest before resuming work on the stage.

Cars Demolished In Crash.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 5.—During a dense fog that hung over the city two street cars collided in the east end, the cars mingling together with such force that they were practically demolished, and seven employees of the Altoona and Logan Valley Street Railway company were injured, four being taken to the Altoona hospital.

Mrs. Goelet In Paris. Paris, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Robert Goelet will remain in Paris until the overhaul of her yacht Nahama at Havre has been completed.

TELLS HOW HE KILLED GIRL.

Conway Held For Coroner's Jury For Murder of Sophie Singer.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Charles Conway and his wife, Beatrice Ryall Conway, were held by the coroner's jury on the charge of murdering Sophie Singer, a Baltimore dress. They were bound over to the grand jury without bail.

Calmly and deliberately Conway told the coroner's jury how he killed the Baltimore dress.

The details of the crime as he related them were substantially the same as he related to Police Captain Nootbar when he made his first confession Saturday. He said that he came to Chicago at the request of his wife, Beatrice Ryall Conway, who was living at the same address as Miss Singer. His wife was ill when he arrived, he said, and Miss Singer met him at the door and kissed him. When he finished the recital of how he struck Miss Singer on the head when she attacked him with a razor and then bound her to prevent an outcry, Conway said: "I am very sorry that I did it. Self defense is my only plea. I had to stand up for my wife when the Singer woman was trying to induce her to begin a life of shame. If a man will not do that he is not fit to be called a man. I am sorry for Miss Singer, for Bill Warthen, because I know he loved her, and I am most sorry for Miss Singer's mother, who does not deserve the pain which this has caused her."

MACFARLAND TO STAND TRIAL.

Man Acquitted of Wife Murder to Be Prosecuted For Coining.

New York, Nov. 5.—Judge Hough decreed that Allison M. MacFarland, who recently was acquitted of wife murder, shall stand trial on a charge of counterfeiting on Nov. 18.

In his room at 100 West One Hundred and Sixth street silver foil molds bearing the impress of the head of a fifty cent piece were found. MacFarland's captors say that the possession of these molds is a more serious offense in the eyes of the law than the possession of the counterfeit money itself.

MacFarland at the time of his arrest claimed that he was merely perfecting a scheme for duplicating silver ornaments of original design by wholesale and at low cost.

PRESIDENCY FOR BRYAN, JR.

Nebraskan's Son Elected Head of Georgetown Law Freshmen.

Washington, Nov. 5.—On the eve of a national presidential election William J. Bryan, Jr., is celebrating a victory that his distinguished father failed to win, for the son of the Nebraskan is now president, although it is only of the freshman law class of Georgetown university.

No "steam roller" methods were employed in young Bryan's election, the electors joining in common cause against the upper class men, who tried to break up the class meeting.

SAVING A WORK OF ART.

Ingenious Scheme of a Restorer of Damaged Masterpieces.

An instance of the ingenuity exercised by restorers of damaged masterpieces of painting is afforded by the rescue of a famous painting now owned by the widow of the late John Hay, secretary of state.

Mr. Hay had a Madonna by Botticelli which was painted on a wooden panel at least 400 years ago. The wood had begun to crack, and it was feared that the painting would be ruined, but a restorer was found who said he could save it.

The first step was to paste thin strips of tissue paper on the face of the picture, pressing the paper into the uneven surface of the paint. Layers were added until a thick body of paper concealed the picture.

Then the picture was turned over, and the restorer began to sandpaper the board away. After many months of careful work he had all the wood removed, and nothing but the paint adhered to the paper. A piece of linen canvas was then glued to the paint, and the work of removing the paper from the front of the picture was undertaken. It required nearly a year to complete the work, but when it was done the painting was left in shape to last another four centuries.—Chicago Record-Herald.

HE SAW THINGS.

The Boy Obedied His Dad and Learned to Use His Eyes.

In the daily half hour confidential talk with his boy an ambitious London father tried to give some advice.

"Be observing, my son," said the father on one occasion. "Cultivate the habit of seeing, and you will be a successful man. Study things and remember them. Don't go through the world blindly. Learn to use your eyes. Boys who are observant know a great deal more than those who are not." Willie listened in silence.

Several days later, when the entire family, consisting of his mother, aunt and uncle, were present, his father said:

"Well, Willie, have you kept using your eyes, as I advised you to do?" Willie nodded and after a moment's hesitation said:

"I have seen a few things about the house. Uncle Jim's got a bottle of hair dye hid under his bed. Aunt Jennie's got an extra set of teeth and a lot of false hair in her dresser, ma's got some curls sewed in her hat, and pa's got a pack of cards and a box of dice and a leather covered flask behind the bookcase."—London Tit-Bits.

Night Jobs For the Jeweler.

Under the jeweler's letter box and door bell was a second bell labeled "Jeweler's night bell." "Kindly explain," said the visitor. "Is the craving for diamonds and wedding rings so insatiable that you have to get up at night to meet the demand?"

"It is not the prospect of making a sale that gets me out of bed after midnight," said the jeweler, "but the misfortunes of my fellow man. About the only people who ring me up after working hours are those who have a piece of jewelry on that they can't get off and don't dare to wear until morning for fear of blood poisoning. These accidents happen often. Every doctor in town knows I can be routed out in an emergency case, so all rings that must be filed off swollen fingers, all earrings that must be removed from inflamed ears, all necklaces and bracelets that must be taken from bruised necks and wrists without delay are brought to me."—New York Press.

The First Fiction.

The "Tale of Two Brothers," written 3,200 years ago by the Theban scribe, Ennana, librarian of the palace to King Merenptah, the supposed Pharaoh of the Exodus, is the oldest work of fiction extant. The tale was written apparently for the entertainment of the crown prince, who subsequently reigned as Seti II. His name appears in two places on the manuscript—probably the only surviving autograph signatures of an Egyptian king. This piece of antique fiction, written on nineteen sheets of papyrus in a bold hieratic hand, was purchased in Italy by Mme. d'Orbigny, who sold it in 1857 to the authorities of the British museum, where it is now known as the D'Orbigny papyrus.

A Wonderful Child.

Zerah Colburn when a child had the most wonderful memory for figures ever known. He performed operations of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division on sums involving from eleven to twenty places of figures without setting one down on paper. Being once asked to raise eight to the sixteenth power, he almost instantly responded, "The answer is 281,474,976, 710,656."

Queer Wasting.

"Mrs. Codgers is dreadfully afraid of embonpoint," remarked Mrs. Gadsley. "Is that so?" chirped Mrs. Wopper. "My favorite awnt had it and the poor thing just wasted away!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Back to the Bench.

"Mr. Spooner, isn't this the third time you have asked me to be your wife?" "I—I believe it is, Miss Jennie." "Well, you've fanned the air three times. You're out on strikes."—Chicago Tribune.

Tact is more important than talent—always remember that people are more easily led than driven.

THIRTY-FOUR STATES NOW FOR INCOME TAX.

Only Two More Are Needed In Order to Ratify the Amendments.

By Jan. 1 three-fourths of the states of the Union will have ratified the constitutional amendment granting congress power to pass an income tax law, according to information obtained at the state department. Notice of approval by thirty-two of the forty-eight states has already been received, and unofficial information has come that two more, Ohio and Louisiana, have recently ratified the plan. Thirty-six states are required for the necessary majority.

The amendment grants congress power to levy a tax on incomes "without apportionment among the several states and without a census or enumeration." It will enable the legislative branch of the government to frame an income tax law which will be safe from attack on the ground of unconstitutionality and will remove from the field of politics a stubborn issue which has furnished ammunition for debate in several presidential campaigns.

The income amendment when adopted will be known as article 16 and will become a part of the constitution by proclamation of the secretary of state.

Notice has been received at the state department that Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Utah have acted adversely on the amendment. Ten states have not yet considered it, but the legislatures in more than half of these will meet in January and probably take favorable action. Only two more are needed to make the necessary thirty-six, but Secretary of State Knox will not issue the proclamation until one or two more than the required number of states have acted. Each state has a right to rescind its approval or rejection at any time.

The states that have officially approved the amendment are: Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin; unofficially, Ohio and Louisiana.

The ten states that have not acted are: Delaware, Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming.
