

BRYCE FAMOUS FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Great Britain's Noted Representative, Who Has Resigned.

"AMERICAN COMMONWEALTH."

Ambassador Will Return to England and Devote Himself to Literature. Spring-Rice, New Minister at Stockholm, Is to Succeed Him.

James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, who has just resigned that position, is now in his seventy-fifth year. He has been ambassador to the United States since 1907.

The news that Ambassador Bryce is to retire was not wholly unexpected. There has been no break in the harmonious relations of the distinguished Englishman and his government, but it has been an open secret for some time that Mr. Bryce, advancing in years, desired to surrender his post and give entire attention to the completion of the literary work which has occupied so large a part of his life.

Facing the British ambassador to the United States just now are several great and troublesome problems, and it is known that Mr. Bryce's friends feared that if he continued in office at this time he would break down his health and probably have to abandon his literary efforts.

One of England's Foremost Men. Mr. Bryce's appointment as the British ambassador to Washington attracted widespread attention at the time it was made.

Ambassador Bryce was regarded as specially fitted for bringing to a culmination the desire on both sides of the water for a treaty of arbitration which would take the place of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty left unratified by the senate.

This work presented many obstacles. The purpose on both sides of the water was to get a definite and practical instrument which would insure lasting peace between the two countries.

Mr. Bryce was educated at Oxford and began life as a practicing lawyer. In 1870 he was appointed regius professor of civil law at Oxford and held that office until 1883, when he resigned it.

Mr. Bryce was elected to parliament and in 1886 was appointed under-secretary of state for foreign affairs. Since then he has been president of the board of trade, chairman of the royal commission on secondary education and has held many other places of honor.

In recognition of his attainments Edinburgh university, Glasgow university and numerous other institutions of higher education, including several in America, have conferred high honorary degrees upon him.

Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, now minister at Stockholm, who will succeed Mr. Bryce, is fifty-five years old and was created K. C. M. G. in 1906. He has served at Stockholm as minister since Sept. 1, 1908.

WILSON SEEKS LIGHT ON TARIFF

Asks Newspaper Men to Submit to Him Opinions of Men of Affairs.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—Governor Wilson indicated his intense interest in the country wide discussion of the tariff problem by requesting that the newspaper men submit to him the lists published in their several papers of those senators, representatives and men of affairs that have stated their opinions as to the advisability of calling an extra session of congress immediately after his inauguration on March 4.

He said that he had carefully read all of these interviews, and Joseph P. Tumulty, his secretary, is setting aside for the governor's consideration all those letters which deal with the problem. He realizes that this is not a question that may be settled offhand, that its ramifications are fraught with vast importance to the intricate business system of a nation and that its settlement depends upon the consensus of ideas of a great number of men competent to judge of what is for the best interests of the people at large.

Some of the interviews given have suggested as much as they have stated, and it is the intention of the governor to summon a conference of those men whose opinions must be highly regarded both for the character of the men and the nature of the interests they represent.

The governor said that it was not his intention to make any announcement whatsoever regarding the tariff situation until he has returned from the vacation on which he will start Saturday.

STATEMENT BY T. R.

Battle of Progressives Just Begun, Says Colonel.

DECLARES PARTY HERE TO STAY

Congratulates New Movement on Feats "Unparalleled in History"—Will Not Rest Until Entire Platform Is Enacted Into Law.

New York, Nov. 12.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt made public a statement in which he congratulated his followers in the Progressive ranks on their accomplishment in bringing about the crushing defeat of the Republican party "since the theft of the Republican organization by the Republican bosses at Chicago last June."

The Progressive leader reiterates what he has already said, that the Progressive party has come to stay and that the battle has just begun. At the same time he assures the old parties of Progressive support any time they desire to carry into effect policies embodied in the Progressive platform.

The colonel pronounces the achievements of the Progressive party as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government."

Here is the statement in full: I congratulate the Progressives of the country—that is, I congratulate those good men and women who with sincerity of purpose for the common good have had the vision to look into the coming years and see what the future demands from us who work in this present.

What the Progressive party has done since the theft of the Republican organization by the Republican bosses at Chicago last June is literally unparalleled in the history of free government worked under representative institutions. Three months have gone by since some hundreds of earnest men and women gathered to found the new Progressive party.

Without much money, without any organization, against the wealth of the country, against the entire organized political ability of the country, against the bitter hostility of 99 per cent of the press of the country, against the furious opposition of every upholder of special privilege, whether in politics or in business, and with the channels of information to the public largely choked, the Progressive party has polled between four and four and one-half million votes, has hopelessly beaten one of the old parties both in the electoral college and in the popular vote, has carried several of the important states in the Union and has taken second place in the nation and either first or second place in some thirty-seven of the forty-eight states.

No task in any way approaching this has ever before been performed by any party in our country. Such a feat performed by volunteers hastily brought together and without any previous co-operation with each other against the trained veterans of the political arena, those trained veterans including the entire mercenary forces of politics, should be a source of pride not only to those who performed the task, but to all believers in good citizenship and in the capacity of Americans for self government.

Not One Man Party. During the campaign I said repeatedly that this was in no shape or way a one man movement, but a movement for great principles, a movement which has sprung, as all healthy movements in our democracy must spring, from the heart and conscience of the people themselves. This truth must be kept steadily before the minds of all of us.

I am proud indeed that the great, good fortune has been mine to fight shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who in the ranks and in various positions of leadership have waged this great battle for social and industrial justice. So far from being over, the battle has just begun. We will not rest content until every feature of the Progressive program has been put into effect, and when this has been done unquestionably there will have opened to us new avenues, along which it will still be a duty to work for the moral and economic betterment of our people.

Assistant District Attorney James O'Malley made a motion for a special panel for the trial, and the motion was granted.

Dr. Frisbie dressed the wounds on Mr. Kellam's head and he is slowly recovering. It was fortunate that the horse did jump, as the auto was coming so fast and the road too narrow to turn. Mr. Kellam and horse would surely have been killed. Most of the auto owners are very considerate coming over our road, but this one was an exception and was a very bad driver and should at least go back to do what they could to have helped Mr. Kellam and pay the damages instead of asking a passerby to see what they could do. But no one seems to know the parties.
