certainty as to what the new tariff tem. will be. Canada may derive some advantages when laws framed on the principle of a tariff for revenue only are enacted and whatever Canada gains will be without any reciprocity on its part, such as was sought by President Taft. Our steel industries are not likely to be affected by Canadian competition. Steel rails are sold in the United States at $28 per ton, but in Canada the price is $35 per ton and as the Canadian steel companies have a good home market they will not be apt to seek a market here. Lack of coal in the Dominion is a handleap to some of that country's steel companies.

TRADE PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Educated up to the advatnages of early Christmas shopping, the public has already commenced to buy for the holiday season which is only to say that they prize regularity about five weeks off. Merchants are stocking up well to meet the demands of the holiday trade which will no doubt be ahead of last year's record, as money is in plentiful supply among all classes of wage-earners and the farmers have facts as they are the less frequently good bank accounts following the harvesting of exceptionally bountiful crops. > The "safety first" campaign of the railroads is a capital thing, and it ought not to be allowed to degenerate into a defense for chronic irregularity of service. The 18-hour trains to Chicago are to be given up for the winter in favor of 20-hour trains, and this is well; two hours more or less on so long a journey matters little in comparison with safety and regularity. Whatever schedule is adopted should be one that can be lived up to day in and day out; too many of our railroad managers live in a beautiful world of illusion. In Turkey the people go to the station with plenty to eat and wait patiently till a train comes, if it takes all night. Americans want to know approximately when a train is due, and while they enjoy speed, it is safe even more. Of course, safety ought not to be compromised for punctuality any more than for speed; it is better for a train to be hours late than to make up time illicitly. But will this alternative recur. The trouble with many of our lines as the fall pressure comes on is that dispatchers and train crews, so that the risk of accident is greatly increased. Safety is best promoted by a regular service, and the railroads it clear that the time table means Republicans Will Name No Candidate in Mr. Sherman's Place.

The leaders of the Republican party have decided that it is unwise to call a meeting of the National Committee to choose a successor to the late Vice-President James S. Sherman on the Republican ticket.

Ever since election a discussion has been going on at Republican na-tional headquarters on this question. It was argued in favor of the project that a complimentary nomina-tion might be made as a tribute to including a large sun parlor recently a prominent Republican. On the other hand it was pointed out that it was ridiculous to call a meeting at partly covered by insurance.
