

4 UNION MEN FREED

Dynamite Charges Not Sustained, Government Says.

FORTY-ONE ARE STILL ON TRIAL

United States District Attorney Says Evidence Is Not Sufficient to Convict—Calls Tveitmo's Statement Contemptible—No Desire to Punish Innocent.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—Four of the forty-four defendants in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial were discharged by the government on the ground that the charges against them had not been sustained.

The dismissal of the cases, leaving forty-one labor union officials still on trial, came when Charles W. Miller, United States district attorney, announced that the government's evidence was all presented and that the government rested its case.

William K. Benson, East Galloway, N. Y., formerly president of the Detroit Federation of Labor, Moulton H. Davis, West Chester, Pa., formerly member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

John R. Carroll, Syracuse, N. Y., formerly an official of the local ironworkers' union.

Surgeon P. Meadows, Indianapolis, Ind., business agent of the local council of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

The government said its release of these defendants did not affect the merits of the remaining cases.

Tveitmo Is Scored.

"Contrary to the contemptible published statements of Olaf A. Tveitmo," said District Attorney Miller, addressing the court, "the government has no desire to punish any innocent defendant. We have concluded that while Carroll, Benson and Meadows have had guilty knowledge of a conspiracy illegally to transport explosives, the evidence is not conclusive.

Benson since his leadership as a union official at Detroit has retired to a farm and is no longer connected with a union."

Motions by the defense for the dismissal of Michael J. Cunnane of Philadelphia, Clarence Dowd, Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Detroit; John H. Barry, St. Louis; James E. Ray, Peoria; Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill.; Fred Mooney, Duluth, and other defendants were overruled.

"I will say that at the end of the trial I will listen to motions as to a few more defendants, but these motions will not be entertained now," said Judge A. B. Anderson.

WILSON HEARS TARIFF TALK.

President Elect Listens to Discussion In House of Assembly, Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Dec. 3.—President Elect Wilson attended the session of the house of assembly and listened intently for two hours to a discussion of the colonial tariff.

All the members were standing, and the speaker was frequently interrupted by cries of "Hear, hear!" Mr. Wilson replied as follows: "I am able to make a speech while in Bermuda, but I cannot refrain from expressing my extreme pleasure for the courtesy extended to me and my great interest in this city."

"One member said he was sorry for so dull a sitting. I do not consider it so. I have been a student of parliamentary procedure all my life, and I admire your businesslike method of going through the items. I begin to feel that Bermuda is one of my homes, and it is all the more delightful to be received in this manner."

DR. FETTEROLF DIES

Noted Educator Succumbs After Long Illness.

WAS A COLLEGE PRESIDENT.

Had to Resign From Girard Because of Poor Health—Many Notables Will Act as Pallbearers at Funeral Tomorrow.

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Dr. Adam H. Fetterolf, who was president of Girard college for twenty-eight years, died from uremia at his home, 1936 Pine street. He had been ill since his retirement from Girard college in 1910.

The funeral will be held at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Christ church chapel, Pine street, above Nineteenth. Interment will be private.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be former Governor Stuart, Chief Justice Fell of the state supreme court, Dr. John C. Clark and Dr. C. A. Herriek, Dr. Fetterolf's successor at Girard college.

Dr. Fetterolf was one of the noted educational benefactors of the country. He was adviser, counselor and director—father, in fact—of about 1,600 boys in Girard college.

He was born at Perkiomen, Montgomery county, Nov. 24, 1841. His parents were Gideon and Elizabeth Fetterolf, and he was a descendant of Swiss and Dutch ancestry. His great-grandfather on the maternal side was Valentine Hunsicker, who emigrated from Switzerland to America in 1717. Valentine Hunsicker's son Henry and his grandson John were both bishops of the Mennonite church.

Dr. Fetterolf's early life was spent upon his father's farm, and he first attended school about the time Pennsylvania adopted a free educational system. When he was fourteen years old the family removed to Collegeville, and he entered Freeland seminary.

He paid his expenses at school by teaching and other work until he had mastered the common branches. When he was twenty years old he was appointed professor of mathematics at the seminary, an enviable position for one so young.

Dr. Fetterolf was married twice. His first wife was Miss Annie Hergeshelmer, a daughter of George Hergeshelmer of Germantown. In 1883 he married Laura M. Mangam, daughter of William D. Mangam, a New York merchant. He is survived by two sons, Dr. George Fetterolf and Edwin H. Fetterolf, both graduates of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Fetterolf was a member of the Pennsylvania Historical society, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Art club and the Contemporary club. He was also a trustee of Ursinus college.

An incident in his life known to few of his intimates was that during Lee's invasion of Pennsylvania Dr. Fetterolf, then twenty-three years old, enlisted and served as a private in Company C, Thirty-fourth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers.

REPORT ON WRECK THIS WEEK

Findings of Several Bodies Probing Disaster at Glenloch Expected Soon.

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—Reports of the cause of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck near Glenloch last Wednesday night are expected this week from the several bodies that have been investigating the disaster.

Marshal John P. Dohoney of the state railroad commission, it is understood, will report to that body when it meets today to continue its hearings on the anthracite coal rates in this city. It is expected he will fix the breaking of a shoe plate on the bridge over the Trenton cutoff tracks, just east of the wreck, as the cause.

A report is expected also from the committee of railroad men appointed by General Manager S. C. Long of the Pennsylvania. It is possible the report of experts made to the Interstate commerce commission as to the cause of the wreck may be made public within a few days.
