@ 1912, by American Press Association.

For the first time since it was estabished the Nobel prize for research in nedicine has come to the United States. Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute For Medical Reearch, New York city, was the redpient of this distinguished honor, which carried with it a financial reward of about $40,000.

Dr. Carrel is a native of Sainte Foy. near Lyons, France, and is only thirtynine years old. He received his educaion at Lyons and there began the inrestigations which eventually brought ilm to this country. That was in 905, and here he found abundant laberatory material and appliances for esearch. Since that time he has perormed some wonderful surgical feats.

About a year after his advent in his country he succeeded in transposng veins and arteries in dogs and proved to the satisfaction of scientists hat artery and vein were much the ame thing. The Rockefeller institute ittle more than a year he announced hand. nd proved before biologists and sureons that he had been able to mainain life in tissues taken from living nimal bodies. He kept first alive its of timene and later entire organs or weeks at a time. This line of york, still far from complete, promes to make many cases surgically ossible where now injury to a vital

Subsequent experiments by Paris orgeons corroborated the results of r. Carrel's work, and then came the lobel prize in medicine as a proof that is claims were considered as seienfically established.

A physician tells a story of a philanthropic doctor in a Pennsylvania coal mining town who presented each household with a nice new thermometer and told the people the necessity of maintaining proper temperature. When making his rounds one day he observed his thermometer hanging in the room, He inquired of the woman of the house if she had remembered his instructions.

"Indeed, sir, I do," was the response. "I hang the thing right up there, and I watch it carefully to see it does not get too high."

Simple Method For Saving Space In Attic Rooms.

There are thousands of homes where attic rooms are "done off," and in al- story frame dwelling. most every instance a lot of space is wasted. This can be overcome in most

Making a room in a top floor or attic is generally done by paneling or plastering the walls, and where the roof slopes down to the floor, or almost to the floor, a large place is cut off by building a short partition down from the roof to the floor.

The partition or wall of such a room is generally not high enough for the average bureau or dresser with its swivel mirror. No old fashioned bureau without a mirror is high enough for a chiffonier. And so a small one is generally placed against this wall. This takes up a lot of space, sticking out into the already small room. This "Good!" exclaimed the doctor. "And can be avoided if, when the room is finwhat do you do when the temperature ished, instead of cutting off this space back of the short partition, a series of Place ham after it is scraped on elevated stand in boiler. Cover with boiling water, add above ingredients and bring to boiling point. Let cook thirty minutes and then reduce the heat and let simmer. Allow twenty minutes for each pound. The ham is done when the bone can be easily removed. Let ham cool in liquor and then pour off, remove the skin and trim. Sprinkle fat side with equal parts of brown sugar and buttered breadcrumbs. Stick with cloves and place in oven to brown.

Steam three hours and serve with hard sauce

A Cooking Hint.

In cooking fish a baking sheet is almost a necessity; it is simply a piece of galvanized or plain sheet iron, just large enough to fit in the bottom of the baking pan, with rings at each end to lift it by. When the fish is prepared for the oven, set it on the sheet iron, which should be well greased; then lower into the pan and bake. When done, lift the sheet by the rings, slip the fish from this on to the platter without breaking it and serve whole.
