The committee to secure prizes for the annual euchre and dance of St. John's congregation have decided not to ask the merchants of the town for contributions for the euchre to be held Jan. 22 at the Armory. This will mean that any merchant or manufacturer who donate any article will be doing so freely and without being solicited. Any prizes received in this manner will be appreciated more by the members of the congregation than if they had been solicited and a better feeling of loyalty to the home merchants is sure to exist. Everything indicates that the affair will be a success.

One of the peculiar storms of the season struck Honesdale Friday evening between six and seven o'clock. It was a regular blizzard and Saturday morning no signs of the storm remained. Many of the electric light wires were crossed and broken and service was stopped in many places throughout the day. Friday noon the wind carried with it part of the south wall in the wing of the new elevator works in course of construction on South Main street. The wall was about a story and a half high and had no supports. None of the workmen were injured. The telephone lines along the valley were put out of commission and poles and wires were torn down in many places. At Fallsdale, L. A. Lybolt had a barn badly damaged. Many trees were blown down.

The Episcopal church at Dundaff, Susquehanna county, receives a bequest of $500 by the will of the late Robert W. Johnson, of New Brunswick, N. J., member of the chemical manufacturing firm of Johnson & Johnson. He died February 7, 1910, leaving an estate valued at $3,222,520. Mr. Johnson was a native of Dundaff and was financially interested at Crystal Lake, Wayne county, where he spent many summers. The church at Dundaff is a small one and is under the rectorate of the Forest City church of which Rev. E. G. White is rector.

Mrs. Charles White died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Benton Lawrence, at Carbondale, on Monday night, December 30, death being due to pneumonia which she contracted while visiting Lenoxville some time ago. Mrs. White was born in Wayne county and was sixty-three years of age. The greater part of her life was spent in Carbondale and Jersey. She is survived by four daughters—Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Arthur Allen, of Reading, Cal.; Mrs. Bert Ross, of Lenoxville; Mrs. Charles Briggs, of Starlight, this county; two sons, William of Canaan, and Harry White, of Jersey.

The death early Friday morning of James R. Keene, of New York, removes a figure long familiar in financial and sporting circles not only in this country but abroad. Mr. Keene died in a private hospital, following an operation. Mr. Keene had two passions—his son Foxhall excepted—operations on the bear side of the stock market and horse racing. At both he made millions. He was born in London, England, in 1838. Tutored by private teachers young Keene went to Trinity college, Dublin, to complete his education, but a day or so after he entered his father went broke. Believing his field limited the elder Keene recalled his boy and they came to this country, going West. At Fort Riley, young Keene got a job as a hostler, sticking to that job only long enough to outfit himself as a miner. He passed several years mining, freighting and editing a country newspaper and fighting.

The food crusaders in New York started recently to break the high price of apples. With a carload on hand and "unlimited" supplies behind them, they began selling Baldwin's at five cents a quart, apples as good, they declared as the local retailers had been asking from 12 to 15 cents a quart for. The sale was conducted at the Queen's borough bridge market by Mrs. John Heath, president of the Housewives' League of America. Other sales of other produce are promised. The cold storage egg crusade, begun some days ago, continues, the prices in some parts of the city are as low as 22 to 25 cents a dozen.

A survey of the rivers and creeks of Pennsylvania will be made during this spring by wardens of the State Department of Fisheries with a view to ascertaining the quantity and character of pollution of streams. This work has just been outlined by Commissioner N. R. Butler to ascertain just how much matter deleterious to fish life is turned into the waters. It is probable that the data obtained will be used to inaugurate a campaign for the removal of pollution which has already been started by a number of tanneries and other plants in the upper portion of the State. The wardens will be instructed to name and describe every manufacturing plant and its location on the streams of the districts they cover to tell the character of the refuse drained into streams and the quantity. Where it is found that the pollution is so great that fish will not stay in the neighborhood, steps to secure filtration will be taken and when the waters are cleared up they will be stocked with fish.

Emory C. Stadler, who gave his residence as Paterson, was arrested last week in Liberty, N. Y., charged with having entered the store of Charles Harmon at Middletown Saturday night about 2 a. m., and stealing therefrom a number of small articles. Stadler was arraigned and discharged. As he was leaving the court room, he told the Recorder that he wished to remain in custody as he was a deserter from the U. S. Army, and the officers had wired to ascertain the truth of his story. He was turned over to Chief McCoach. He told Officer Dayton on Sunday that he had deserted the army having been arrested and confined in the guard house on the Isthmus of Panama. He was then ordered to report at Fort Jay, on Governor's Island, New York harbor, and was sent on his honor from Panama. On arriving in New York city, on Nov. 22, last, he deserted, and now wished to go back and finish his term, which was but seven days more. Stadler said that his home was formerly at Narrowsburg, Sullivan county.
