Bayly and wife, J. F. Marshall and family, Robert Marshall, wife and son, Alonzo Williams, wife and daughter, John Reining and wife, Jacob Hiller and wife, Wm. A delicious oyster stew was served under the supervision of Mrs. H. H. Crosby and Mrs. Henshaw.

After this hymns were sung and with a few well chosen words S. K. Dills presented Mr. Henshaw with a handsome arm chair as a token of the high esteem in which he and his good wife are held. J. H. Penwarden presented each with a beautiful china plate, cups and saucers. Although it was a complete surprise to Mr. Henshaw he was equal to the occasion and thanked everyone for the kind remembrances. All repeated the Lord's Prayer and after singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," an expectant hush came over the merry crowd as the clock struck twelve and the distant whistle, gongs and bells of the neighboring towns could be heard proclaiming the arrival of the new year. Mrs. Geo. H. Ham and daughter, Mary, have returned from a most interesting visit to Lynn, Mass. The trip by rail and boat of nearly three hundred miles, though tiresome, was very interesting. A side trip up Riverside Drive to Grant's Tomb in New York for connections, gave a beautiful view of the Hudson and Tomb, also the return through Fifth Avenue, New York's most stylish shopping district, where pedestrians, autos and vehicles of all kinds made the passage through very slow.

Some of the noted places visited in Boston were the Massachusetts State House, Granary burying ground, King's Chapel, Shaw's Monument, etc., also a number of large department stores and of course a ride through the subway, Copely Square, and the immense South Station depot in that city, Chelsea, the town which was so nearly burned out a year or so ago, is rebuilt and the burned district can be distinguished only by the newness of its buildings. On the return trip, though the cars and steam boat were crowded with the holiday rush of people from Boston to New York, everybody was made as comfortable as possible and the passage through the Sound was very smooth.

SENDS 1,820 WORDS A MINUTE

New Telegraph Instrument Said to Revolutionize Service.
A Madrid dispatch gives details of a new invention which is said to revolutionize telegraphy.

The machine, which is declared to be an improvement on the Hughes instrument, was invented and manufactured by Senor Balseira of the Spanish telegraph department. It is capable of sending and receiving 1,820 words a minute, three times the velocity of the Hughes machine. Senor Balseira's machine possesses a type wheel similar to that of the Hughes apparatus; but, whereas with the latter only five impressions or letters can be effected per revolution, with the former fourteen may be made with a keyboard of the same size.

The instrument, it is stated, has been thoroughly tested by the Spanish telegraph department, which has ordered twenty machines.

SEES SISTER KISSED; HE DIES.

Man is Overcome With Anger at New Year's Party.
Overcome with amazement and anger because he saw a stranger kiss his sister at a New Year's party, John Albus of New York dropped dead.

Albus, with several friends, went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Uhl, and all were having a merry party. Other friends called, and presently some one unknown to Albus put his arm about Mrs. Uhl and kissed her. She resented it, as did Albus, and the man was put out of the apartment. Albus dropped to the floor. The coroner investigated and said death was due to heart disease.

The year 1912 was notable for the large number of benefactions for educational and philanthropic purposes. The total benefactions, accruing from amounts of $10,000 up, were approximately $302,000,000. It is probable that the sum of the lesser donations would reach about $25,000,000, making $327,000,000 in all. These figures exceed the preceding year by $152,000,000.

Educational works were the most popular channel for the distribution of this money. Hospitals and the care of the aged came next, with gifts for religious enterprises a close third. Besides the known amounts, there were innumerable donations by persons whose identity was not disclosed or disclosed to only a few.

In England during 1912 the benefactions aggregated only about $20,000,000. The American benefactions would more than pay for a year's maintenance of the army and navy. The aggregate is more than the capital of the Bank of England or of the Imperial Bank of Germany and exceeds the amount of money in the subtreasury in New York.

During the past twelve years $1,502,000,000 has been given away in this country, which if distributed to all the inhabitants of the earth would be 92 cents for each individual, or it would supply $16.33 to each inhabitant of continental United States.

Carnegie Benefactions.

Andrew Carnegie leads among the givers, although the actual disbursements of his wealth are not all shown in items for 1912. He announced that he had placed all of his fortune except $25,000,000 in the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Other donations made by Mr. Carnegie ran to more than 1,000 separate items, which would total over $10,000,000. Among the larger sums were $2,000,000 to the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, an endowment fund (not yet accepted) for future retired presidents of the United States, which would allow them $25,000 a year each; $2,000,000 to the Carnegie Technical schools for the establishment of a school for fine arts; $100,000 to Yale Forest school; $75,000 for a library in the northern section of New York city; $50,000 to the University of Denver; $50,000 to the University of Vermont; $25,000 to the Western College of Ohio; $20,000 to Albion college; $20,000 to Pacific university; $18,000 to Wells college to complete its library; $15,000 to Shurtleff college for a library, etc.

J. P. Morgan's Gifts.

The gift of J. P. Morgan in art treasures valued at about $50,000,000 was made to the Metropolitan Museum of Art on condition that an addition to the museum should be built for housing them. In addition, a large sum was paid to have them brought to this country. This large donation, coupled with his other benefactions, makes Mr. Morgan one of the leaders among the givers of the year. His other gifts included $200,000 to the Trinity college for a library, $100,000 to the Peabody College for Teachers, $100,000 to the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church and $50,000 each to the University of Gottingen, in Germany; the London Y. M. C. A. and a fund to build a hotel for sailors.

The Bell Telephone company announced the establishment of a $10,000,000 pension fund for employees who have been in its service for more than a year.

John D. Rockefeller has fallen off considerably in the matter of giving during the past year. In 1910 his gifts totaled $17,000,000 and in 1911 about $5,000,000. In the last twelve months the amount of his known benefactions was about $3,000,000.

GROWING WAYMART BIDS YOU WELCOME

The hustling little borough of Waymart, located on the Honesdale branch of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, at the base of the Moosic mountains, is growing rapidly. There is only one house vacant in that village and it is one of the best built houses there, too. It contains eight rooms and is a store and dwelling combined. Can be used for two families. The property is located in the center of the town and is directly opposite the postoffice. It would make an ideal place for almost any kind of business. The lot is 60x160 feet and can be bought on easy terms of the Buy-U-A-Home Realty Company, Honesdale, Pa., Jadwin building. If you cannot come to Honesdale use the telephone or write and further description will be cheerfully given. 991f.
