

HORSE RUNS AWAY; FOUND NEXT DAY

M. Lee Braman's Horse Driven By Norman Decker Ran Away Near Seelyville Tuesday Night—Horse Found Next Day.

Norman Decker, who is employed in M. Lee Braman's livery barn, had a very narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday evening when the horse he was driving ran away and dragged him along the road for a considerable distance. His companion succeeded in getting out of danger.

He had been out for a sleigh ride with a friend and a little above Seelyville he tried to turn around in the road to drive back to Honesdale. It was while turning that the horse gave a sudden lunge and started to go toward Prompton. The young lady jumped out of the sleigh as it tipped toward her and escaped injury, but Decker was thrown out and dragged along the road for a considerable distance. He was bruised and scratched but suffered no serious injuries. After disposing of the occupants of the sleigh the horse continued in the direction of Prompton. That was the last seen of the horse or the sleigh. A piece of the harness and the robe were found a little later in the road. No one along the road remembered seeing the horse go by and it is supposed it went off the road into the fields. The accident happened between eight and nine o'clock Tuesday evening.

Wednesday morning about eleven o'clock the horse was found walking along the road by Mr. Ferguson at Seelyville and he put the animal in his barn and then notified Mr. Braman. The horse was still attached to the sleigh and both were without a scratch.

CHAUTAQUA FOR HONSDALE.

The Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania has sent a representative to Honesdale to consider the advisability of establishing a Chautauqua in this community next summer. So far as our information goes, we do not know of any movement which would be of more substantial benefit to the community and would have a more lasting impression behind it. The program offers the very best talent in oratory, music and entertainment, and the prime consideration with the management in forming it is its beneficial effect upon the community which is served. Any one who will take the trouble to investigate can convince himself that the Association is both reputable and reliable. It has the support of a large number of the leading business men and financial leaders of Philadelphia and vicinity. It should be stated, however, that these Chautauquas are not conducted for profit. The association is chartered as a "no profit" stock organization and it seeks simply to provide a high grade program which shall be of real value to the community with the hope of covering the expenses only. This should appeal to our citizens as most of the organizations which seek to operate in our town desire to make as large profits as possible.

Over a thousand Chautauquas were held throughout the West last season, but only a few of them were located east of the Allegheny Mountains. Most of them have carried out in spirit the purpose of the parent Chautauqua in New York and the programs seek to combine instruction, entertainment and amusement. For next season the program includes such attractions as Frank Dixon, Newell Dwight Hillis, Reno B. Welbourne, William Sterling Battis, Rosani, the juggler, The Florentine Concert Band, The Commonwealth Quartet, and more than twenty other features, including a speaker of national reputation in political life. Gov. Hadley of Missouri, is under engagement and each community will have the pleasure of listening to a man who is widely known.

The entertainments are held in a large tent specially constructed for the purpose, with a maximum seating capacity of two thousand. It is seated with folding chairs and all the arrangements are in charge of an experienced platform manager assisted by a tent crew of college students, who look after the comfort of the people in every way possible. Tickets for this superb course of entertainment are placed at the surprisingly low figure of $2.00 and they are transferable. No better investment of that amount of money could possibly be made and we believe it would be easy to guarantee a sufficient number of these tickets to bring the attraction to Honesdale.

How many guessed Tuesday's pen sketches? Honest now. To No. 14 did you have L. A. Howell? If so that was right. Did you guess Miss Theresa Gerrity to No. 15? That was correct. Now for No. 16. We will help you out. It was a description of Fred M. Spencer, the druggist in Jadin's.

You did pretty good in answering the last sketches and now we present four others which will without a doubt cause you to scratch your head before you answer correctly. Here they are:

Conductor Henry Strader, of Port Jervis, Reaches 70th Milestone and Retires.

After a period of 41 years' unbroken service on the Erie Railroad, Passenger Conductor Henry Strader, of No. 8 Ferguson avenue, Port Jervis, went out at five o'clock Monday afternoon on train 27, the west-bound Mountain Express, to make his last trip between Port Jervis and Binghamton, 127 miles, returning on Tuesday morning, he having reached the age limit of 70 years. Mr. Strader was born in Warren county, N. J., on February 5th, 1843, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Strader. He came with his parents to Port Jervis in 1848. While passing through Waterloo, Seesaw county, N. J., he saw several soldiers who had returned from the Mexican War. In 1853, when he was 10 years old, he secured employment as a water boy on the Erie passenger trains at $15 per month, doing this work after school hours. For 16 months, during 1862 and 1863, he served in the Civil War as a member of the 56th Regiment, New York State Volunteers.

On Thursday, February 6th, Mr. and Mrs. Strader will leave Port Jervis for New Orleans, and thence across the southwest to Los Angeles, California, and a trip of five months on the Pacific Coast, visiting Mount Rainier and going as far north as Vancouver, British Columbia, returning east by way of the Canadian Pacific Railroad to Fort Erie. AUDITORS CANNOT EST SHERIFF'S BILL

Chief Executive Was Appointed Last Summer to Protect Working Glass Cutters—Commissioners Cannot Agree—Now Up to the Court to Decide.

County Auditors Gilpin, Avery and Bodie have finished auditing the accounts of Wayne county. The bills were found to be O. K. with the single exception of one presented to the county commissioners for patrol duty by the sheriff and two deputies at the time of the disturbance last summer.

The sheriff's total bill which he presented to the county commissioners for payment amounted to $249. For 49 days' service at $3 per day his personal bill outside of his deputies was $147. J. J. Canivan was deputized 46 days at $2 per day and Levi De Groat five days at $2 per day.

The commissioners question the payment of the sheriff's bill on the ground of its legality. Homer Greene, county solicitor, was called to the rescue by the commissioners. He quoted the law as regarding the sheriff being a conservator of the peace, etc., going considerably into detail in the matter.

Being unable to come to an agreement as regarding its legality after the opinion was handed down the county commissioners, auditors, and the latter's attorney, M. E. Simons, and Sheriff Kimble held a joint meeting Wednesday morning to discuss the matter. The auditors' attorney finally made a motion that the bill be presented before the court for a decision. It was carried.

The secretary of the board of trade was present at an adjourned meeting of the commissioners and auditors Wednesday morning. He read letters to the county officers authorizing the Board of Trade to act and deputize as many citizens as necessary to meet the emergency.

The situation was one that needed immediate attention. The trouble at the time Sheriff Kimble was engaged occurred in Texas township and out of the jurisdiction of the town authorities therefore Honesdale's police could not act. It was then necessary to look to other power in authority, consequently, on recommendation of the Department of State Police, Sheriff Kimble was engaged to preserve peace and order. All of Wayne county's industries, either in Honesdale, Texas township or some other place pay taxes and the money goes toward the maintenance of the county. They all help the county directly or indirectly and any time when there may be a disturbance the men employed therein are worthy and deserving of protection.
