

Down Hawley Way

HAWLEY is ahead of the blue birds this year, for a fact. Although Spring is not exactly in sight—she is too far across the March corner for that, you know—yet in every part of the town there are evidences of the march of town improvement.

Here Are a Few of The "Evidences" Mentioned.

Michael J. Leonard, one of the proprietors of the L. & P. Knitting Mill, has recently completed a modern residence on River street. Mr. Leonard has not only built a very beautiful home but he was wise enough to purchase the lot on the river bank across the street and directly in front of his residence.

It is not so long ago that River street was considered an inferior part of Hawley; but that day is past, and people owning property thereon will hereafter be fortunate. Were Mr. Leonard's example followed and the river bank in time converted into a beautiful lawn from the upper bridge to the new garage, that would be to Hawley what the river common is to Wilkes-Barre.

C. S. Houck is Improving His Maple Avenue Property.

C. S. Houck, cashier of the Hawley Bank, is doing things with his recently acquired property on Maple Avenue. This is the property that at one time was known as the Arthur O'Hara property, and Mr. O'Hara was an engineer on the Hawley branch of the Erie.

Ex-Sheriff R. W. Murphy has lumber and building materials piled all over the corner lot adjoining his dwelling on River street. But those piles are not to remain there very long, for it is common talk about town that the ex-Sheriff will speedily build on that corner a residence that will be right up to date in every way and a credit to town.

Another River street improvement is that of the Lynch property, away up near the upper bridge. This property was occupied by the Waugum Cut Glass Co. until that institution moved into its own handsome cement block building.

Away Up at the Head Of Progressive River Street.

"All Aboard for Honesdale! Fare, Please!"

Hawley people are delighted over the prospect of the soon coming of the Honesdale & Hawley street railway. On Monday night at the regular meeting of the council the good will of the borough's Salons was very much in evidence.

The Hawley Inn Was Opened on Thursday Night.

After ten weeks that have been required to put in proper condition what was known as Hotel Dennison, the last finishing touches were given the interior of the building. It has been thoroughly overhauled, painted, papered and remodeled.

Mrs. Fred Rutledge is in Honesdale for a few days.

LEAPS TO DEATH.

Woman Plunges Out of Hospital Window.

WAS SOUTHERN JUDGE'S WIFE.

Mrs. Robert W. Winston Takes Her Life by Leaping From Sixth Floor of Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia — Was Leader in Raleigh Society.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Robert W. Winston, wife of Judge Winston of Raleigh, S. C., and a prominent woman of the south, leaped to her death from the sixth floor of the Jefferson hospital here. She had been a patient at the hospital since Jan. 2 and underwent an operation.

Mrs. Winston had gradually improved, and at the time of the accident she was walking about, feeling cheerful, and had expected to return to her home in the course of a few days.

No intimation was given to the hospital authorities of her intention to take her life. It was not thought necessary to watch her every action, and in a moment when she was left alone she jumped from the window of her room on the sixth floor to the courtyard below.

She was carried into the accident ward by the doctor and orderly in charge, where it was found that death had occurred instantaneously from fracture of the skull, fracture of the spine and concussion of the brain.

The hospital authorities say in a statement regarding the affair that they feel greatly appalled at this accident in view of the fact that they had no intimation of the patient's intention to take her life and because of the fact that since the opening of the new hospital five years ago this is the first accident of this sort to occur in over 25,000 admissions.

Mrs. Winston was fifty-one years old. She was the wife of Judge Winston of Raleigh and a sister of Bishop Junius Horner of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of western North Carolina. She was a daughter of James H. Horner, who founded the Horner Military school at Oxford, S. C.

Mrs. Winston, who was actively connected with civic and philanthropic work in Raleigh, became ill some time ago. First she was taken to the mountains in New York, where she remained until early last month. She seemed to be improving, but physicians advised that she be brought to this city for an operation.

Mrs. Winston was prominent in club life and a leader in Raleigh society. She was deeply interested in the plan for civic improvements, and her arduous work for a "city beautiful" is blamed for her breakdown. She was a leading spirit in the Woman's club of Raleigh and strongly opposed to woman's suffrage. She was an active and generous worker in the Protestant Episcopal church. She is survived by her husband and four children.

MILANVILLE.

It is rumored that John Skinner has sold his hotel at Skinner's Falls, N. Y., to a New York party.

William Pulls surprised his many friends last week when he returned from Buffalo accompanied by a bride. Mrs. Pulls was formerly Mary E. The happy couple are receiving the congratulations from all who wish them many happy years and are glad to welcome Mrs. Pulls to our midst.

Dr. C. D. Skinner has architects estimating on the cost of rebuilding Callinan Hall which was burned the first of the month. Although insured in several companies the loss is very heavy not only for the school but for the boys who lost all their clothing and books. Only the promptness of the fire companies saved the rest of the seminary and the Baptist church.

Merchant T. J. Fromer was in Binghamton last week.

The many friends of Dr. W. W. Appley are very sorry that he has been in ill health and hope for a speedy recovery. Dr. Appley has been faithful to us many years and we wish now he might find a worthy assistant who would lessen his work. There is probably no better location to be found than in this vicinity.

Mrs. Luke Margridd, who has been very ill, is able to be out again. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hipe are entertaining a young son.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Tegeler of the Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Valentine of Damascus, were callers at L. B. Price's the last of the week.

C. attended these services in a body. The Morning Glorie choir, twelve little girls, rendered several beautiful selections. Miss Madeline Matthews sang a solo with chorus by the choir of the church. In the afternoon the Sunday school held an union service in which the flags of all nations were shown. As a number who were unable to attend the Sunday school exercises are anxious that the program should be repeated, it will probably be given at some evening service later. The home of Mrs. Helen Sutter at Leigh was on fire Friday afternoon. The children at school discovered the fire. Mr. Kelley and Mr. Leader hastened to the scene and succeeded in extinguishing it before much damage had been done. The fire started in a ice house which was burned to the ground.
