J. E. Jenkins, of Uniondale, has been appointed corresponding member of the Young Men's Christian Association of Pennsylvania. His chief duty is to keep the state office informed when a young man leaves home to settle elsewhere. The information so furnished is sent to the association or church of the place in which the young man locates and material assistance is given the newcomer.

Company E, 13th regiment, was inspected last Wednesday evening by Major A. Rutherford, of the Third Brigade staff. Thirty-seven men and three officers were upon the floor. The oral examination of the non-commissioned and officers was very good. The boys drilled fine. Major Rutherford told the company that with a little work on the part of each man that Company E would stand first in the brigade. This is indeed encouraging news and the boys mean to work hard and get first position. Watch Honesdale come to the front.

Water Supply Commissioner F. W. Fleitz has retired as a member of the commission after a service of several years, being impelled thereto by personal and legal engagements which are occupying much of his time. In accepting the resignation Governor Tener wrote that he was sorry to lose the services of Mr. Fleitz and referred to pleasant relations, adding that he hoped at some future time the State would be able to have him in its service again. Mr. Fleitz served as Deputy Attorney General and made a fine record in that department and in the Water Supply Commission.

The slayer of the late police officer William F. McAndrew, of Carbondale, is still at large and the latest belief is that he is safely hidden in a foreign land. Sergeant G. W. Freeman of the State police, with headquarters at Peckville, stated that it is now believed that John Chiemilewski, the alleged slayer is in Europe. For two weeks after the shooting the home of Chiemilewski was watched closely and the members of the family appeared nervous and excited. Now he claims they appear contented and the sergeant is of the opinion that the change is the result of having received a letter from the murderer saying he has escaped.

Through the instrumentality of Superintendent Elsele, of the Consolidated Light, Heat and Power company, several of the merchants of Main street have signed contracts to have electric lights burn in their respective windows from dusk until midnight. The lighting and turning out of the lamps is attended to by the electric company. Superintendent Elsele has about 35 merchants signed up and expects to have several others on the circuit by April 1st. This is a step in the right direction and demonstrates the progressiveness of Honesdale's merchants in a marked degree. Within a short time several standard lamps will grace the front of many stores.

A committee from the stockholders of the Honesdale Footwear company waited upon the officers of said company on Monday morning for the purpose of expressing to the officers the attitude of the majority of shareholders. It was told the officers of the Footwear company that it is the desire and ambition of the stockholders to have the plant rebuilt and placed in running order again. According to information received from the management of the concern as to orders on the books and the future business of the company it is evident that the factory will be rebuilt. It certainly seems a shame to allow a factory paying out $30,000 per year in Honesdale to remain idle. It should be built. Several letters received from patrons of the Footwear company since the fire assure the concern of their continued support. One stockholder expressed his sentiments to a Citizen representative as follows: "I have ten shares of stock and if it is necessary to increase it so as to rebuild I will gladly do so four fold."

John F. O'Connell Dead.

John F. O'Connell, an aged and respected resident of Honesdale, died at his late home on Court street early Monday morning. Death was due to rheumatism. He was 68 years of age. Mr. O'Connell was born in Ireland and came to this country when very young. He and his brothers came direct to Honesdale where they engaged in the blacksmithing trade. They were all well known here. His brothers died several years ago.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: W. L. O'Connell and John O'Connell, of New York; Robert O'Connell, Walter O'Connell and Sadie O'Connell of Honesdale; Sister Evangelista, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Death of Ray W. Karslake.

Ray Wesley, beloved infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Karslake, of South East Dyberry, passed peacefully away Feb. 28th, 1913, after a brief illness. All that loving hands could possibly do to alleviate the little one's sufferings was done, but all to no avail. Wesley had filled his place on earth and he is now transplanted with God's children in the realms of the blest. Deceased was born Feb. 20th, 1912, and was the light and the joy of the home and will be greatly missed by the family. The tender sympathy of the entire neighborhood and the Grange of which Mr. and Mrs. Karslake are members, go out to them in their bereavement. Several beautiful floral pieces were presented by friends and the members of Pleasant Valley Grange. Funeral was held at the home on Sunday, March 2, at 2:30 p. m., Rev. W. H. Hiller officiating. Interment in Riverdale cemetery.

"Not in cruelty, not in wrath, The Reaper came that day; 'Twas an angel visited the earth And took our babe away." W. H. B.

Death of J. F. Robinson.

James Frank Robinson, colored, died last Saturday morning in the State hospital, Scranton, where he was taken for an operation on Thursday last. Mr. Robinson, was too weak to undergo the surgeons' knife when he reached his destination and died before any relief could be administered to him. He was one of a family of four brothers and when four years of age was bound out to a German family. The family became separated and it is not known whether the other brothers are living. The deceased was born in Bankville, Conn., April 17, 1860, and therefore would have been 52 years old next month. Seventeen years ago he came to Honesdale and has been in the employ of Andrew Thompson until about a year ago.

Death of Christopher Lowe.

The death of Christopher Lowe, the popular restaurant keeper of South Main street, occurred at his late home about 7:15 Friday morning, at the age of 48 years. Death was caused by heart failure and was a sudden blow to his family and friends. Mr. Lowe had been in the habit of sleeping late, so that no one attempted to call him early Friday morning. When the family went into his sleeping quarters that morning they found that death had preceded them. Mr. Lowe was born in Binghamton, N. Y., and came to Wayne county when very young, settling with his parents in Tanners Falls where his father conducted a tannery for many years. He was married to Miss Rose Murray at Honesdale on Feb. 9, 1886, and had lived here ever since his marriage. He had been in the hotel and cafe business here about twelve years.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Elizabeth, Lucy and Agatha, at home, and Mrs. Joseph Fredericks, of Honesdale; also one brother, Michael Lowe, and one sister, Mrs. Albert Eberhardt, Jr., both of Honesdale.

The funeral services will be celebrated in St. John's R. C. church on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, requiem high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Burke. Interment will be made in St. John's cemetery.
