The question of how much the sheriff shall be paid for boarding prisoners was before the Jefferson county court last week. The commissioners said 50 cents a day was too much, and wanted it cut to 25. The sheriff complained that 25 was not enough, owing to the small number of regular boarders. The judge fixed the rate at 40 cents.

Samuel A. Keagle, convicted of second degree murder for the killing of Norman P. Hill, and recommended by the jury to the mercy of the court, was sentenced by Judge Whitehead at Williamsport on Friday morning to not less than four years nor more than six years in the eastern penitentiary, in solitary confinement, with hard labor. The maximum sentence that can be meted out to a man convicted of second degree murder is twenty years.

William Smith, the well-known lumberman of Damascus township, has commenced work in his new steam saw mill near Tyler Hill. Mr. Smith has a full force of men working for him and expects to do a large business in the way of cutting lumber. William Applegate, formerly of Columbia county, but who for the past nine months has been working for Mr. Smith, is considered one of the best men at the trade in this section. He has been a sawyer for the past fifteen years.

Coatesville's lynching and torturing on August 13, 1911, of Zach Walker, the negro, who in a drunken rage, shot that town's model policeman, figured largely in causing the revocation in court of all the five hotel liquor licenses in that borough. This same barbaric event, which caused Governor Tener in January to recommend the revocation of Coatesville's borough charter, was the actuating basis of a county wide no-license campaign. The result of the work started at that time, was the revoking of licenses of six other hotels, three of them in West Chester, two among the county's oldest and most famous hostleries.

If a new bill that has been introduced in the legislature become law, train crews will have much better cabooses than they use now. The law will require all railroad cabooses to be of steel construction, and at least twenty-four feet long. Each caboose will be equipped with not less than four berths, six feet, two inches in length, and will contain a cooler, locker, toilet, sink and other conveniences for the men while on duty. No cabooses without four wheel trucks will be permitted. This will mean that practically every railroad will have to remodel its cabooses, while some will have to secure all new equipment in this line.

So many plays nowadays deal with problems that cause a natural hesitation on the part of some people as to the advisability of attendance, that it is indeed refreshing to have an opportunity of seeing a clean comedy like "Baby Mine," which comes to the Lyric, Monday evening, March 24. It makes no difference whether you are married or single, whether you are childless or the father of a brood, whether you are auntie, uncle, grandma, grandpa, little miss, or little boy, young married couple, almost engaged couple, or just a high school couplet, there's a jolly good time in store for you at "Baby Mine." Be sure and secure your seats early as the Lyric is going to be packed.

He is survived by one brother, Fred Engle, of Prompton, and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Zugler, of Dupont; Mrs. Jacob Zugler, also of Dupont. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Hightstown and interment was made in Dupont.

Darwin Bryant Dies From Apoplexy. Darwin Bryant, a bachelor, of Carley Brook, died Saturday afternoon in Hotel Commercial, where he was removed on Wednesday last, after having received a stroke of apoplexy in Murray Co.'s store. Mr. Bryant died without gaining consciousness. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Bryant and was born at Carley Brook about 55 years ago. He is survived by one brother, Warren, of Forest City, and a sister, Mrs. M. Covine, of Prompton. The funeral will be held this Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the house in Carley Brook.

F. W. Bunnell Claimed by Death. Fletcher W. Bunnell, a well-known resident of Honesdale, died of pneumonia at his home on Willow avenue, Saturday afternoon after a few days' illness.

Mr. Bunnell was born at Bunnelltown July 24, 1864. He was a son of Henry and Mary Bunnell. He received his education in Honesdale and after attaining his majority engaged in different pursuits. He followed lumbering, was interested in the ice business and in January, 1900, became identified with the Irving Cliff brewery. At the time of Hon. John Kubbachy's death Mr. Bunnell was appointed collector in this section for the Central Brewing Co. of Scranton, which position he held at the time of his death. Mr. Bunnell was married to Miss Emma H. Kinsman on November 3, 1883, who, besides one son, William, survives, also by the following brothers, Harry, of Berlin; Ellery P., of Boyds Mills; Edward E., of East Honesdale. The deceased also leaves three half-brothers and one half-sister, namely, Calvin Bunnell, of Seelyville; Judson, of Clarks Summit; Irvin of Pleasant Mount, and Mrs. Mary Rump, of Kansas.

The funeral services will be held from Grace Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. L. Whittaker officiating. Interment in Riverdale cemetery. Mr. Bunnell was identified with a number of fraternal and other organizations, some of which were the Alert Hook and Ladder company, Hose Company No. 1, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Elks, Honesdale Maencherer.

Death of Frank C. Wood. The Warren Evening News of Mar. 12th contained an article of the sudden death of Frank C. Wood, brother of the late Mrs. C. C. Jadwin, of this place. It reads as follows:

The sudden and unexpected death of Frank C. Wood, Register and Recorder of Warren county, this morning about 10 minutes to 1 o'clock, was a great shock to his family and friends and is a sad ending to a happy and prosperous life. This sudden taking away of a man apparently in the prime of life is the topic of conversation today and through the county, where he was generally known and respected.

It followed a stroke of apoplexy. As was his custom, Mr. F. C. Wood was a frequent visitor to the meetings of the Warren Odd Fellows, and left home last evening for that purpose, feeling well as usual.

A few minutes after 10 o'clock, after the degree work was finished, he was called upon as a visitor to make a few remarks, which he did, closing with the statement: "I will be very glad to visit you often." He then fell back upon a sofa, ill and unconscious. Dr. W. S. Pierce was called as soon as possible and gave him medical attention, and then had him taken to Emergency hospital for further treatment, but Mr. Wood did not regain consciousness and passed away about 12:50.

Mr. Wood is survived by a wife, a daughter, Annie, and a son, Ralph; two sisters, Mrs. David McKelvey, of Titusville, and Mrs. N. V. B. Franchot, of Olean, and one brother, John, who resides at Spring Lake, N. J.

Mr. Wood was born in Seelyville, Pa., a little over 56 years ago, and came to Warren with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wood, when a young boy, grew to manhood here and went to Grand Valley about 25 years ago or more, going into business with his brother, Luman B. Wood. He was an extensive storekeeper, operated in oil and lumber, held responsible positions in Eldred township, and was postmaster at Grand Valley for several terms. In all these positions he was widely known as a gentleman in every sense of the word, of strict integrity and honesty, kind and generous to a fault with his friends, and it was not strange that when he desired to come to Warren as an aspirant for the office of Register and Recorder, that he was warmly supported all over

LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS. That the Wayne County Railway company will be built this spring now almost seems a certainty. On Monday Isaac B. Sandcock made a survey at the foot of Fourth street for a proposed bridge, which is expected will be erected across the Lackawanna river at that point. The survey was made through the property of Lewis Highhouse. The survey comes out just north of the baseball ground. The company has been awarded franchises from both Honesdale and Hawley boroughs. It has received the consent of the county commissioners to build their proposed bridge next to the Herman bridge. The commissioners have also given the railway company the consent to use the State bridge on North Main street. Any county bridges that will be used by the trolley company will have to be reinforced to make them safe for traffic which is in accordance with the permit issued by the county commissioners. The charter for the street railway company has been applied for. H. C. Rettew has rented the Secor house on West street and will remove his family thereto the first of the month.
