APRIL 11 AND 25 SET ASIDE AS ARBOR DAYS

GOVERNOR TENER IN PROCLAMATION ISSUED FRIDAY FIXES DATES FOR PLANTING.

Friday, April 11, and Friday, April 25, were designated as the arbor days for Pennsylvania by Gov. Tener in a proclamation issued at the Capitol. The proclamation which calls attention to the importance of conservation is as follows: "The prosperity and commercial independence of a nation depends very largely upon the ratio of its production of raw products to its consumption of the same. As the rate of consumption relatively increases, the cost of living advances and dependence upon other nations finally follows. During the last fifty years our State and nation have experienced a wonderful industrial development which has been attended by a tremendous increase in the rate of consumption and a relative decrease in the rate of production.

"This industrial development has made heavy demands upon our forests, as a result of which the rate of consumption of forests and forest products has been and is now far in excess of the rate of production. Wasteful methods of lumbering and forest fires are contributing factors. Diseases such as the chestnut tree blight are exacting their annual toll. Unless the rates of production and consumption can be made to approach each other, we shall soon become forest poor. By the practice of intelligent, conservative methods this ratio can be controlled.

"It requires, first, a knowledge of the remedies for existing conditions, and, second, the initiative to put these remedies into operation. In order that the citizens of this Commonwealth may be intelligently informed concerning the forest conditions of the State and of the country at large, and, further, that tree planting, reforestation and the practice of correct forestry methods may be stimulated, the custom has been established of setting aside one or more days each Spring for the observance of Arbor Day.

"In accordance with the above custom, I, John K. Tener, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, do hereby designate Friday, April 11th, and Friday, April 25th, 1913, Arbor Days throughout the Commonwealth.

"All public and private schools are urged to participate in the observance of the day by planting trees and by conducting such exercises as will give a clear conception of the importance of this subject.

MORE MEAT ANIMALS IS DEMAND OF HOUSEWIVES.

League Starts Campaign Against High Food Prices.

The National Housewives league, satisfied that the present high price of meat is due, in part at least, to an actual shortage in the supply of meat animals, has undertaken an educational campaign among eastern farmers to persuade them to raise cattle for food consumption. Mrs. Julian Heath of New York, president of the league, was enthusiastic in discussing the plans of the league to provide a food supply.

Mrs. Heath wired to Arthur G. Leonard, president of the Union Stock Yards company, in Chicago, asking the cause for the increase in the prices of meats. Mr. Leonard wired back:

"For the period since Jan. 1 as compared with the same period of 1912 there has been a total decrease in the receipts at Chicago of 445,000 meat animals of every type, amounting to an aggregate of 200,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Leonard further explained the shortage on the ground that a large amount of range country was annually being cut into small farms and made unsuitable for the raising of cattle. He said the annual shortage had been increasing for seven years, and it would take a similar period of time to build the cattle industry up to a point where there could be a reduction in prices.

Mrs. Heath said: "If we can persuade the farmers to raise enough meat animals to supply the local demand then the dealers could procure their whole stock from local sources and would be free from the influence of the packers, and the dealers would be glad to do this if they could feel assured that a sufficient supply would be forthcoming. The farmers should be glad to co-operate because of the profit which would accrue to them, and the Housewives' league would co-operate by buying none but home raised meat."

NARROW TROUSERS DICTUM.

"Sausage Suit" Is Decree of Clothes Cutters.

The "sausage suit" remains in vogue, only tighter. This is the law of fashion given forth at the garment exhibit of the Custom Cutters' club at its semiannual meeting held recently in New York. This is the edict of the city's tailors, from the "club plan" nine dollar man to the most exclusive Fifth avenue shop. Only the Adonis-like will halt the new styles with elation.

The coats will be shorter and shapely. The shoulders will be narrow and without padding. The lapels will be peaked and the coat fronts without stiffening. The trousers, too, will be even tighter. The more fashionable will be narrower at the knee and will have a spring at the foot. For afternoon wear the striped trouser has been resurrected after six years of desuetude. Vests will be cut high and will have a notched collar. English homespun promises to be a popular material, and the prevalent colors will be striped blues, fancy brown stripes and plain gray flannel effects. More Norfolk jackets will be worn this summer than have been worn before.

A LEARNED CHARGE TO THE JURY.

"Murder, gentlemen," said a Western Solon, "is where a man is murderously killed. The killer, in such a case, is a murderer. Now, murder by poison is as much murder as murder with a gun. It is the murdering that constitutes murder, in the eyes of the law. You will bear in mind that murder is one thing, and manslaughter another; therefore, if it is not manslaughter, it must be murder; and if it be not murder, it must be manslaughter. Self murder has nothing to do in this case; one man cannot commit felony on another; that is clearly my view. Gentlemen, I think you can have no difficulty. You can retire upon it, if you like." —Tiddbits.

AGED MAN REGAINING LOST FACULTIES LIKE A CHILD

After Removal of Tumor In Brain, Patient, Sixty-three, Is Born Again.

Every morning a number of the leading surgeons of Denver gather at the county hospital to watch the remarkable spectacle of a man sixty-three years old literally a baby. Each day the patient acquires the use of one or two more of his faculties until he can now move, eat, recognize persons and speak a few words.

The man is Luther Dionne, who for five years has been practically dying from a tumor in his brain. He was paralyzed, speechless, sightless and outwardly dead on Dec. 30 last, when Dr. Leonard Freeman, assisted by Dr. Clarence Hall, operated upon his brain. They removed a tumor larger than a walnut from the cortex of the brain. This tumor had destroyed all the nerve fibers except those running to the heart and lungs.

For two weeks after the operation Luther Dionne lay as if dead. He was fed through the nostrils. Then he began to undergo a complete second birth into life. His fingers began to move. The next day his toes moved. On the third day he could lift his arm slightly, and so on, day after day, the rejuvenation continued. At the end of ten days he regained his sight, but was like a baby and knew no one. When two weeks had passed he spoke a word or so, repeating after the nurses "food" or "doctor" or "nurse."

TO PHOTOGRAPH NEW PLANET

Astronomers on the Alert For Celestial Body Recently Discovered.

Astronomers the world over are nightly expectant that they may be able to show to the world the card "up their sleeve," which consists of a new planet immense in size and which is making its force felt without the remote orbit of Neptune.

Whether the new planet will prove to be inhabited or merely a formation without sustaining life is still a matter of conjecture, as the astronomers have not been able to obtain a photograph of the coming planet.

The Rev. Father Odenbach of St. Ignatius college, New York, says the first announcement of the impending discovery came some time ago from Professor Pickering, noted Harvard university astronomer. At the time of Professor Pickering's announcement to his brother astronomers it was said the new planet had manifested itself by its influence on Uranus and Neptune.

Ever since Pickering's message the world of astronomy has been busy searching the heavens with powerful telescopes hoping every minute to "snap" a photograph of the new world. "The discovery of the planet and its final placing will be one of the greatest achievements of modern astronomy," said Father Odenbach. "Astronomers nightly are searching the heavens with photographic telescopes to prove its existence. It will be by means of photographs that it finally will be discovered."

WILL EXPLORE THE AMAZON.

Expedition Off to Pierce Darkest South America.

Dr. William C. Farabee, formerly in charge of the Peabody museum, at Harvard university, left Philadelphia recently at the head of a costly expedition to penetrate "darkest" South America. The party plans to be gone for three years and to explore the Amazon river and its tributaries.

The University of Pennsylvania has furnished the expedition with a private yacht, fitted with electric lights, copper wire screens to keep out insects and an elaborate medical equipment.

The explorers plan to obtain some historical remains of the native tribes. Dr. Franklin B. Church of New York, who will accompany the expedition, will make an extensive study of tropical diseases.
