The new "Indian-buffalo" nickel has been counterfeited. Banks and trust companies have been warned that a good imitation of the original is in circulation. So well has the work been done that the only difference the public can notice is the absence of any "ring" when the spurious coin is dropped; in every detail it is apparently like the good coin. But experts have detected that one of the feathers in the red man's headdress is a trifle shorter than in the government nickel.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a splendid story of real life among the Ozark hills of Missouri and Arkansas. If you go there you will easily find a Mutton Hollow, a hill like Deway Bald and people like Sammy Lane, Young Matt, Mad Howard and Father Howitt. Clinging to the beautiful story simply told, is the very atmosphere of the life of the picturesque region which is so sadly unfamiliar to the travelers in search of new scenes. It is a clean and strong play. At the Lyric to-night (Thursday).

From an investigation recently made near Uniondale of the various streams converging at that point it would appear that a recurrence of the high waters of last Wednesday and Thursday would seriously menace the valley between Carbondale and Scranton. The dams at Lewis Lake and Hathaway pond, near that place, are the danger point and there is a feeling there that something ought to be done with reference to them. The water has receded about five or six feet during the past few days but there is still a large volume passing over the Stillwater dam, located about half a mile above Forest City. Marks along the banks show that fully six feet of water passed over on Thursday. If the water on that day had risen eight inches more the tracks of the Jefferson division of the Erie railroad would have been under water. The Erie skirts Stillwater at the lower end and Thursday the water was so high that the road bed was being washed away.

A team of spirited horses owned by Fred Robinson, of Dyberry, ran away from him on Terrace street on Wednesday afternoon, while he was delivering eggs and ran down the hill past Durland-Weston's Shoe factory at top speed. They missed the telephone pole in front of the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank by about two inches and continued on their mad pace down Tenth street until they reached Church street where they turned up. At this point, however, at the speed the horses were going, the turn could not be made and the light wagon crashed into the curb and the horses stopped. The horses did not receive a scratch and the wagon was not injured. A little damage was done, however, to the harness. A case of eggs fell out as the team left Main street and most of the eggs were fractured. J. E. Richmond and wife were being driven to the postoffice about this time and were near Schoell's barber shop when the team rushed upon them. The driver was obliged to turn onto the walk to avoid a collision.

Death of Judge George E. Ferris.

On Tuesday morning, April 1, occurred the death of Hon. George Steele Ferris, of West Pittston, one of the best known and most respected men of this part of the State. He retired as President Judge of the Luzerne county courts on January 1, last, and resided at his home in West Pittston until his death. He was President of the New England society, a prominent Elk, and was also counsel for the Pennsylvania Mine Cave Commission.

Judge Ferris was born in Pittston. Shortly before the Civil war, his father, then connected with the United States treasury department, moved to Washington, and Judge Ferris, then a boy, went with him. After the war the family returned to Pittston and have since made that place their home.

He received his early education in Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa. Graduating from there he entered Columbia law school at Washington, D. C., and after finishing there was admitted to the practice of law in the Luzerne county courts. He was elected judge of the Common Pleas court, Eleventh Judicial district, for ten years beginning January 1, 1901, and on the death of Judge Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, about three years ago, he was made president judge of Luzerne. He remained in that capacity until January 1st last, when he retired.

On September 1, 1875, he married Ada C. Stark, a member of an old and prominent family of the valley. Mrs. Ferris and one son, Edwin F. Ferris, of Wilkes-Barre, survive.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETING.

To Plant New Willow Trees on Bank of Lackawaxen—First Week in May to Clean Up.

Among the many improvements which will be made by the Honesdale Improvement Association the coming season will be the setting out of young willow trees between the old trees now standing, suggestion of which was made in the last issue of The Citizen.

The members of the association met last Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the school building for their regular March meeting. A good representation was present and considerable enthusiasm was manifested.

The matter of the annual spring clean-up was discussed at length. It was the expression of the association that business men especially, clean up their back door yards and one lady thought it would be a good plan if the Business Men's Association took up the proposition, requesting their members to clean at the rear of their respective places of business. The first week in May will be designated as Clean-up Week in Honesdale.

The annual meeting will be held Monday, May 12.

Mrs. H. A. Oday, who has charge of the sale and distribution of flower and garden seed to the children of Wayne county, reported that owing to the increasing interest shown in growing seeds that it was necessary to order 7,000 packets of seeds. A number of these orders were sent in by teachers of the different schools in Wayne county. Next fall the improvement association will hold its annual flower and vegetable exhibit. Instead of articles, money will be given as prizes to the contestants. It is hoped that this will instill new interest in the children and that they will make an extra effort to raise that which is "altogether lovely and beautiful." It is the association's desire to teach the children to become lovers of nature.

A communication was received by the association asking what historical events had occurred in Honesdale, and also what objects of value and interest we had here which might make interesting reading in a book about to be published in the state. The letter was referred to Mrs. Andrew Thompson, who is deeply interested in the matter and will give it her undivided attention.
