MANY AFFECTED BY CONTAGIOUS COUGH.

Residents of Honesdale are considerably worried over a contagious cough which seems to be afflicting old and young alike. Physicians have been consulted, but have been unable to diagnose the ailment with any degree of certainty. The cough is similar to whooping cough without the whoop. It is not accompanied by colds and is deep seated, af-flicting the lungs. That it is contag-ious is evidenced by the rapid spread it has made through the community.

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR."

The big scene in George Broadhurst's social drama, "Bought and Paid For," which will be the attraction at the Lyric Monday, April 21 has one of the most tremendous and staggering climaxes in modern drama. It is powerful because it is brutally and realistically true, and domineering financier, has married Virginia Blake, a telephone girl. After their marriage, Stafford begins coming home drunk at almost regu-lar intervals, and forcing upon his wife drunken attention. Virginia has borne it as long as she could. On this particular night he is unusually offensive. After the other members of the party family have departed, he begins to make love abnoxiously She pleads with him, tries to appea to his manhood; escapes several times from his embraces. But he is persistent. He follows her about the room. At length he goes to the door and orders champagne brought the apartment with two glasses. He tries to get his wife to drink with She throws him off, and him he is robbing her of her self-re-spect. He becomes ugly and insulting. He tells her he has bought and paid for her; that she was nothing paid for her; that she was nothing until he came and lifted her out of her poverty. He says he has given her everything and that now she spurns his affections; he declares he has a legal right to her, and by sheer brute force he holds her in his arms and kisses her. She tears away from him and rushes into her room locking the door. Inflamed by his drunken passion, he snatches the heavy brass fire-tongs and crying in blind frenzy that he has a right to Robert Stafford, a powerful and her, he crashes in the heavy wooden omineering financier, has married panel of her door and forces his way into her room.

The scene is one of great strength and daring which for over a year, has held great houses breathless.
