A number of the neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Varcoe tendered them a happy surprise at their home on Liberty Place last Saturday evening in honor of their fourteenth wedding anniversary. Games were played, refreshments served and a very pleasant evening was had.

The hard, steady rains of the fore part of the week made the prospects for a good Memorial Day look dubious but Wednesday night the rain stopped and on Thursday morning the sun came out clear and warm and dried up the streets so that it was possible for the parade to take place in the streets.

An exact model of the Stourbridge Lion, the first locomotive to operate in America, which was run on a track in Honesdale in 1821, can be seen in Bregstein Brothers' window and is attracting considerable attention and curiosity. The model is the work of N. W. Avery and is a miniature of the famous engine and coal car. It is modeled out of brass and steel.

F. S. Stephenson, of Waymart, has purchased a farm of fifty acres located on the shores of Elk Lake of Chas. W. Bailey. There are three cottages on the property, two of which have been occupied during the summer for many years by D. H. Menner of this place. The property purchased covers about twelve hundred feet of lake shore. Elk Lake is situated in Clinton township and is one of the most beautiful lakes in this part of the State.

The base ball season opened in Hawley Memorial Day and the weather was fine for the opening game. The Elm Park team of the Scranton league crossed bats with the newly organized Hawley team and were defeated. The score was 8 to 7 in favor of Hawley. The score stood 7 to 7 in the seventh inning when Hawley secured the run which won them the game. It was a good game throughout. The batteries were: Hawley, McCluskey and Doherty; Elm Park, McWilliams and Hughes.

Thomas Gallagher, foreman of part of the Consolidated Telephone, Scranton, spent a few days with his family at this place. Mr. Gallagher who is one of the lieutenants of Co. E, marched with the boys on Memorial Day, thus making three officers in line. Tom is associated with a young man who of late has been a solicitor for the company. To his surprise as well as that of his friends the solicitor announced to his comrades that he had just been left $100,000 by an uncle who died in Chicago. The will of the millionaire stipulated that in case that his wife should marry again that the legacy would go to his nephew and niece. In this manner Tom's friend has become an independent man.

Mrs. Salo Friedewald gave the last of her delightful readings at the High school auditorium on Saturday afternoon before the usual audience. "The Master Builder," one of Henrik Ibsen's most important works, was the subject of the interpretation. With the force that Mrs. Friedewald is so well a master of, the hidden meaning of the little drama was brought out clearly, as the author alone meant it to be shown. The drama is a characterization of love, beauty and art and the attainment of inspiration. Mrs. Friedewald's course of readings has been very instructive and pleasing and her many friends here sincerely hope that there may be a similar course presented next year.

A new ice cream fountain dish at Leine's is the "Billy" sundae.

The glass cutting shop promoted by C. C. Lozier and in which several local men are financially interested, is well under construction in Prompton on the old Richardson factory site near the Presbyterian church. Work on the foundation is being superintended by A. Odell. It is expected that the shop will be ready for business by September 1. It will be operated by steam power.

Charles B. Edwards, a resident of Sterling township, has presented a petition to the Court stating that his application for relief for his wife and children has been disregarded by the overseers of the poor of that township. Edwards' petition for a mandamus was granted by Judge Searle and made returnable on Tuesday afternoon, June 3, at 4 o'clock with notice to Kimble & Hanlan, attorneys for the township.

Three car loads of revenue paper for the United States government are now being made at the paper mill of the New York and Pennsylvania company, in Lock Haven. The contract this year for revenue paper was awarded to the Hamilton Paper company, of Hampton, Ohio, whose plant was damaged by the flood. Since then the mill in Lock Haven has been turning out paper for Uncle Sam, having prior to this year had the contract consecutive for sixteen years.

A special from Newburg, N. Y., says: One juror saved Burton W. Gibson from being found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo. The jury, which had been deadlocked for almost twenty-six hours, reported to Supreme Court Justice Tompkins that they could not agree, and it then developed that they had stood eleven to one for conviction since the first ballot. The juror who held out for Gibson's acquittal was Charles Reynolds, a farmer, of Walkkill.

The criminal charges of involuntary manslaughter growing out of the breaking of the dam at Austin, Pa., September 30, 1911, which resulted in a loss of 80 lives and practically obliterated Austin, a village of 3,000 persons, will be moved for trial at Wellsboro, Pa., June 2. Upon the representations of the defendants that a fair trial could not be had in Potter county, Pa., where the catastrophe occurred, a change of venue was granted to Tioga county a year ago. Several times the trial of the cases has been postponed, but District Attorney Nelson states that he will insist that there is no further postponement.

SPRAYING WHEN THE FRUIT IS FROZEN.

In many portions of Pennsylvania the fruit crop has been destroyed by the freezing weather, and orchardists are now writing to State Zoologist, H. A. Surface, Harrisburg, asking if it would be worth while for them to spray their trees this spring where the fruit is frozen and there is to be no crop this summer. Prof. Surface does not think it necessary nor especially advantageous to go to the expense of spraying the stone fruits under such conditions, but does recommend spraying the pome fruits, or apple, pear and quince, with a fungicide to keep the leaves healthy, and thus to develop strong healthy fruit buds for next year's crop, as shown in the following reply which was sent to one of the large fruit growers in Cambria county, who is also an officer in the Cambria County Fruit Growers' Association:

"In reply to your inquiry as to whether you should spray your apple trees, even if the fruit is killed, I can say that it will pay you well to spray the apple, pear and quince with a fungicide, such as a gallon and a quart of strong lime-sulfur in 49 gallons of water, or the average Bordeaux mixture, applying this spray two or three times during the summer, so as keep the trees healthy and vigorous. If the trees are kept growing well, they will produce good strong fruit buds which will be the assurance of next year's crop. The first spraying with the fungicide can be done at any time. This is very inexpensive and the only element that means much in the way of cost in summer spraying, besides the labor, is the arsenate of lead. If you have no chewing insects present, and the fruit crop is killed, it is not necessary to add arsenate of lead to the fungicide for the summer spraying. If I were doing it I should spray my pome fruit trees with the boiled lime-sulfur solution, either homemade or commercial, as directed above, omitting the arsenate of lead unless there is evidence of canker worms, caterpillars, or leaf-eating insects of other kinds present or about to appear."

CONVENTION FOR GOOD ROADS.

Harrisburg, June 2.—A vigorous campaign in behalf of the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment to permit the State to borrow $50,000,000 for reconstruction of its highways is to be inaugurated this summer by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and it has been assured of the support of many organizations and of individuals throughout the State interested in the movement to secure good roads for Pennsylvania. The Federation has undertaken to inform the people of the State as to the purposes of the loan and to make the plea for its adoption so that this State may obtain alike for the farmers and the dwellers in cities and towns the advantages of better highways.

The Federation's plans include a big State convention in the interest of good roads to be held in Harrisburg in September. The Federation will ask the use of the hall of the House of Representatives, and the whole subject of highways in Pennsylvania will be gone into. All motor clubs will be urged to send delegations and the public generally will be invited to participate. The road improvement proposition, which can not be undertaken until the next Legislature passes enabling legislation to issue bonds after approval of the amendment, will be utterly divorced from politics and considered from the standpoint of general good, economy and increase of facilities for getting about the State.

This campaign will then be pushed in every county. Good roads meetings will be addressed by speakers on behalf of the Federation and publicity forces employed so that the issue in its broadest sense may be laid before the people. The Federation will co-operate with other organizations interested in the bond issue and a means of advancing the interests of the State. After thorough study of the proposition men active in good roads have become convinced that the $50,000,000 loan proposition affords the only systematic way to get the roads improved and they will work vigorously in its behalf.

THE LEHIGH
The Stove that always Satisfies

A Lehigh Stove will always bake and burn to perfection. A Lehigh needs less repairs than any other stove. All Lehighs are plain finished with heavy removable Nickel. Lehighs have the duplex grate which is suitable for burning either wood or coal without a change of grates. Lehighs have large fireboxes and flues, larger than the majority of stoves, this is why they are such excellent bakers. There are more Lehighs in use in Wayne county than any other make of stove. Prices from $24.00 to $49.00 according to size.
