FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1913.

JUNE.

June, the month of roses, has been overshadowed by May this year, not only in the amount of sunshine but in the production of summer brides. The following from Adeline O'Neill may be taken as appropriate for the month that is opening up before us: June is the month of roses, and all seem so fragrant and sweet; And the flowers are all blooming and blossoming in all their glory, and comfort lays at our feet. June as the month of roses is also the month most famed for the young people who have made up their minds to marry. During the month of May just past Prothonotary Barnes issued nineteen licenses permitting that many couples to wed. During the second day of June three licenses were taken out in the office. This is a good start for the month that promises so much for the welfare of the race. Young man, consider June 13 when you ask her. It is the luckiest day of the year.

A SPIRIT MOVES THE QUAKERS.

The Quakers of the country are aroused. If it were not inconsistent with their line of faith and understanding of the Scriptures, we might be tempted to add that they are "fighting mad" and had actually "donned their war paint."

That denomination tried at the last session of the New York legislature to have a law passed restraining manufacturers from using the name "Quaker" on their advertising on the ground that "it was immoral for anyone to trade for his own profit upon the supposed virtues of another, and a public indecency to exploit for that purpose the name of a religious denomination."

It would seem that all right-thinking citizens would see the fairness of such a request, and that the proposed legislation might have become effective; but the Solons of the Empire State couldn't see it in that light, and failed to pass the bill.

The Brooklyn Eagle, in an article on the subject aptly inquires: "If Quaker whiskey why not Baptist beer? If you ride on Quaker tires, why not carry a Presbyterian pocketbook? If your wife's dress is trimmed with Quaker lace, why not buy her a Lutheran looking glass in which to view it?"

At a meeting held last Saturday in Manhattan by the Quaker society the subject was carefully considered. A report from a committee was the basis of discussion, the report advocating such advertisements, (imaginary, of course), to appear in future copies of the American Friend and the Friends Intelligencer, Quaker publications, for the purpose of attracting attention by satire, to the way Quakers have been treated in current advertising:

- "Baptist Beer is the Best Booze."
- "Methodist Martinis Make Multitudes Merry."
- "Episcopalian Paint—Covers a Multitude of Sins."
- "Catholic Cocktails—A Cure for All Cares."
- "Presbyterian Purses for Plethoric Pockets."
- "Lutheran Looking Glasses Give Pious Reflections."

The report, however, was not adopted, because there was strong probability that those denominations might misconstrue the intent of the imaginary advertising, and Friends want to live in peace and harmony with their religious neighbors. The committee, however, was requested to co-operate with other denominations to bring "Quaker" advertisements to an end, and one of these days it will be as unlawful to use the name of any religious denomination to exploit a private enterprise as it is now to use the star-spangled banner for advertising purposes; and it is certainly far more decent to advertise on a printed cloth than it is to try to make gain out of the name of any organization that stands for Eternal Life and all that is right and pure even in this present life.

Dr. H. B. Ely spent Thursday in Stroudsburg in the interest of the Kibble Lumber company. He will motor from that place to Milford and from thence to Hawley and home. John R. O'Connell, who has been working in the New York office of the Gurney Elevator Co., is home and will be employed in the works here.

DOWN HAWLEY WAY

popular. It came to Hawley one day, and, as it passed the Times office, then located in the little room adjoining Schlager's bakery, among the onlookers was the late Dr. W. L. Marcy, who came in from "No. 19" to see the printer and the sights at the same time. As the last of the process passed the doctor remarked in his peculiarly dry way, with near a suspicion of a smile on his face, "We-l-l-l! If the wagons had only been half a mile apart that parade would have been two miles long. Now, wouldn't it?" And this is by no means a reflection on last Friday's parade. It's just a little bit of back-thought—that's all.

Some Personal Mention of People You May Know.

C. E. Dodge, of Honesdale, secretary of the new Honesdale-Hawley street car company, was a caller in town on Tuesday.

Raymond Baisden, James Monahan, Richard Drake, Frank Baschon, Frank H. McDonald, Joseph Drake, Frank Rowland, Henry Hames and Rev. Father McHale were in Scranton on Memorial day.

Miss Kittie Johnson, of Dunmore, was a Hawley caller on Sunday last.

Wm. Rose, of Scranton, formerly of Cherry Ridge, brakeman on an Erie train, was a caller on Hawley friends last Sunday.

Charles Touhill, of Pittston, was in Hawley on Sunday last.

Abijah Warren, of the Eddy, was in Port Jervis on Memorial day.

Margaret Kinney, of Scranton, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mangan.

Thomas Nolan, of Port Jervis, was a caller in town on Monday.

Thomas Oldfield, assistant cashier of the Hawley Bank, is able to be on the streets once more after quite a serious illness.

James Caprio spent Memorial day, Saturday and Sunday in Hawley.

M. L. Carney has recently had the Bell telephone installed in his business place.

D. D. Weston, of Honesdale, was in Hawley on business on Tuesday.

Thomas Donnelly, of Pittston, a little nephew of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mangan, is spending some time with his uncle and aunt on River street.

James Flynn, of Scranton, spent Memorial day with his father on Wangum avenue.

Mrs. Annie Roche, a trained nurse from New York city, is visiting her mother, Katherine Keleher, on River street.

Marble Hill to the Front With a Grist of Personals.

On Tuesday morning Mrs. James Compton, of Marble Hill, received word of the death of her daughter, Miss Belle May, at the Hillside Home, near Scranton that morning. Miss May was about 30 years of age, and had been at the Hillside for some time on account of an enfeebled condition. The funeral was held on Thursday.

Wm. McDonald and Marvin Morgan, of Marble Hill, were Port Jervis visitors on Memorial Day.

The McLaughlin sisters, of Honesdale, spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Helen McAndrew, of Marble Hill.

Memorial day was spent in Scranton by John Carroll, of Marble Hill, with his brother Joseph, of the Electric City.

The Hawley Coal Company's washery, at Marble Hill is in operation once more. On Monday 10 Erie cars were ordered for their output.

John P. Flynn, of Scranton, who went to that city last fall, and who at one time was a Wayne county auditor, being appointed to that position by Judge Searle, spent last Sunday with Marble Hill friends.

Turn On the Lights Where They Are Needed.

The bed of the old gravity track where the coal pockets used to be located is now used as a street. There are sections of this road that are extremely dangerous at night, and teamsters who have to drive that way after dark have petitioned the authorities to locate lights at the dangerous points. The petition is valid and should be granted. If it is not granted there may be an accident there that will cost a lot of money from the taxpayers one of these days.

It Was a Clean and Close Game of Base Ball.

The game of base ball on Memorial day between the Elm Park team of Scranton and the Hawley team was one of the most interesting games that Hawley ever witnessed. The game was won by Hawley, the score being 9 to 8. The people of Hawley are loud in their praises of the Elm Park boys who comported themselves in a manner that pleased everybody. Indeed, our boys were almost sorry they did not lose to such a clever and clean bunch of young men.

Will There be a Wayne County Base Ball League?

A movement is on foot to form a Wayne county league of base ball teams. The towns that are to be represented are Hawley, Honesdale, White Mills, Ariel and the Waymart-Prompton section. A spirit of heavy rivalry can be worked up without much difficulty, and those who have given the subject considerable thought are sure the plan can be made to pay. It does not pay to bring teams from distant points. The several mentioned above are easily accessible, and the plan would prove both pleasant and profitable if properly worked up.

Pickered Fishers, Beware Of June 15th.

Although pickered and all other kinds of fish may be legally caught on June 15th, yet fishermen should go a little slow before going fishing on that day. Why? Because June 15th is Sunday, and that's why.

The Present Standing of The O. of R. T. Matter.

In previous issues we have given some space to the differences that exist between the Erie railroad and the Order of Railway Telegraphers. It is the intent of the writer to show no bias in the matter. Why should he? What could he gain by "favoring" either side? The simple truth is best in all cases. From a reliable source the following is gathered: A meeting of the Erie officials and the officials of the O. of R. T. was scheduled to take place in New York. Gen'l Chairman Husted and Vice-President Newman, of the O. of R. T., and other assistants, went to the Erie offices, and the Erie officials refused to confer with Newman, but were willing to admit Husted. Announcement was also made that they refused to recognize the O. of R. T. any longer. This means that that organization is at an end if the telegraphers accept the situation. General Chairman Husted at once sent for National President Perham, of St. Louis, and it is now up to him to call a strike, which call will undoubtedly be made, and may be looked for at any time.

The telegraphers claim that if they allow themselves to become disorganized the recent advance in wages will soon be changed to a cut, as they believe the Company wants them to pay for the recent installation of telephones and block signals. They believe that it is the intention of the company to substitute the telephone for the telegraph. As an evidence of this they point to the yard at the west end of Port Jervis, known as the WX tower, where the interlocking plant that was operated by the telegraphers has been disconnected, and the switching is now done by the brakemen.

The wage scale of telegraphers at present is—minimum, $53—maximum, $58, for an 8-hour day, and 7 days a week.

The Band Boys Are To Hold a Ball.

Talking about parades, bands and such things brings to remembrance the fact that the Boys' Band will give a benefit dance at Belmonte hall on Friday evening, June 13th. The proceeds will go to purchase uniforms. They want to look like a sure enough band when they parade on July 4.

White Mills Woodmen Do Some Grave Decorating.

Last Sunday afternoon about 45 Woodmen from White Mills came to Hawley with a splendid band. They paraded the Main avenues of the town, then marched to the Eddy where they decorated the graves of deceased comrades in the cemeteries in that part of our borough.

BASE BALL.

The new Honesdale base ball team with three White Mills players, have been practicing this week, and the prospects for a good team have not been as bright within the last five years. Hustling Manager Spencer has the diamond all cleaned and it is in better condition now than it ever was, especially since the change in location of the bases. The ticket office has been moved, and the bleachers and grand stand repaired. The Carbondale team which is coming over on Saturday is the strongest team representing the Miners since the 0 to 4 days of "Mickey" Walsh and his Semi-Pro team. On Memorial Day this team split even in a double header with the Jermy team of the County League. Jermy is one of the best teams in this organization, which many of the valley people think is almost as fast as the N. Y. State League. Manager Nolan of Carbondale has assured Manager Spencer that he will bring his very strongest lineup and a good game is expected.

WHITE MILLS.

White Mills, June 4.—A very pretty house wedding was solemnized when Miss Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Elmore, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Falk in the presence of only the immediate relatives, Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter Walker, the contracting parties standing under an arch in a corner of the living room. The bride looked unusually well in a handsome embroidered white chiffon over white satin gown, and carried pink and white peonies. The bridesmaid was Miss Martha Falk, sister of the groom. Her dress was of white marquisette, and the maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Elmore, sister of the bride, wore pink messaline trimmed with lace. The best man was Clarence Elmore. After the ceremony an elaborate dinner was served to the guests after which the young couple left for New York city. The wedding trip will include Corning, N. Y., and other points. The going away dress of the bride was blue messaline with a white hat. The numerous gifts showed in what high esteem the young people are held and included linen, cut glass, hand-painted china, embroidered pillow and cushion covers, clocks, rugs, china, money and a large check to the bride from her father. The young couple on their return will go at once to the newly furnished home. Besides the two families were Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, of Honesdale, Mr. Barney Partridge, of Cocheont Center; Mr. and Mrs. Orson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ferry Wilcox and son Earl and Rev. Walker. The decoration in dining, living and parlor rooms were pink and white.

Ernest Reiffer and wife, of Cherry Ridge, entertained a house party Saturday evening, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reiffer, Christ Hartung and wife, of Honesdale; Mr. and Mrs. Spoehrer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spinner, Mr. and Mrs. John Spinner and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ketch. William Jones and Alfred Grimstone spent Sunday at East Honesdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Northwood and Mr. and Mrs. Wells motored to Port Jervis, N. Y., on Sunday.

Hon. Henry Wilson called on C. H. Dorflinger on Sunday morning while on his way from Farview to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Pontinni and son, of New York, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wenders.

Miss Grace Decker, trained nurse of New York City, who has been spending the last two months at Atlantic City, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Dorflinger.

Love Letters and the Model Clothing Shop

All the love letters ever written are not a circumstance to a cosy corner communion of souls.

And all the advertisements we ever write can never quite do justice to our clothing.

Advertisements and love letters are not written for the sake of writing them, but with the object of getting a response.

And if you have not yet responded to our almost daily overtures, let us suggest that you do it now.

We know that you need clothes, you know we make clothes. But, do you know what manner of clothes they are?

Possibly you do, but if you don't then you are not availing yourself of the best clothes at your command.

You are throwing away an opportunity to get a degree of individuality of style which cannot be duplicated in Ready to wear Clothing. Whether you want to pay $15 or $35 or any price between, and whatever model, fabric, pattern or shade you want at that price, we have it in stock right now, tailored with a distinction which is the delight of our clients and the despair of our contemporaries.
