

DOLMETSCH--SEELY WEDDING

Miss Marguerite Constance Dolmetsch, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Dolmetsch Russell of Honesdale, Pa., was married to Mr. Hart Irving Seely, of Spencer, New York, on Saturday evening, June 7th, at the Hotel Seville, Madison Avenue and 29th Street, New York City. In the parlor of the suite reserved for the wedding, a bower of pink and green had been erected and adorned with pink carnations and peonies together with palms and ferns. At six o'clock, the stringed orchestra played the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, and the bridal party entered the parlor and advanced to the bower of flowers. Miss S. Blakeslee Gale, the maid of honor, came first, followed by the little flower girl, Janet Dunsmore, carrying a basket of pink carnations. The bride was escorted by her uncle, Mr. William H. MacMillan, who gave her in marriage. The groom and his best man, Mr. Harold Dresser, awaited them in the parlor. Reverend Doctor Houghton, the Rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, performed the ceremony and pronounced the impressive ring service of the Episcopal church. The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe meteor and wore a veil and carried a beautiful bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids. Miss Gale wore an attractive gown of white lingerie over pink mesquite and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. After an informal reception, the guests repaired to a large private dining room on the first floor where an elaborate wedding supper was served, the gold and white room being tastefully decorated with pink roses and candles. At the bride's table were seated the bride and groom, Miss Gale, Miss C. Lou Hardenbergh, Miss Grace Seely, Mrs. John G. Pemberton, Mr. Dresser, Mr. Harold Davis, Mr. John G. Pemberton, and Mr. George L. Genung. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts, tokens of the high esteem in which she and her husband are held by a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Seely is a young lady of rare accomplishments and charming personality, a graduate of Wells College, Aurora, New York, and deservedly popular. Mr. Seely is a young man of character and ability, a graduate of Cornell University, and a successful business man. Mr. and Mrs. Seely will spend their honeymoon on a boat trip to Nova Scotia and Eastern Canada. After their return, they will spend the summer in Spencer, New York, and later take up their residence in Waverly, N. Y.

Among the guests present were: Mrs. Jessie Dolmetsch Russell, Honesdale, Pennsylvania; Mrs. S. Alfred Seely and Miss Grace Seely, Spencer, New York; Mrs. John A. Gale and Miss S. Blakeslee Gale, Binghamton, New York; Mr. and Mrs. William H. MacMillan, Miss Anna MacMillan, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Law, West Pittston, Pennsylvania; United States Attorney and Mrs. A. B. Dunsmore and daughter, Janet, Wellsboro, Pennsylvania; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Studwell, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Miller, and Miss Bernice Brown, Port Chester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. Holmes, Montclair, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Swinton, Port Jervis, New York; Mr. and Mrs. John G. Pemberton, Owego, New York; Miss C. Lou Hardenbergh, Honesdale, Pennsylvania; Miss Stancliff, Spencer, New York; Miss Delphine Murray and Miss Isabel Watson, Brooklyn, New York; Miss M. Lucille Genung, Waverly, New York; Miss Mary E. Tibbets, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Howell and Miss Mae Penwarden, Honesdale, Pennsylvania; Mr. Harold Dresser, Newark, New Jersey; Mr. Harold Davis, Scranton, Pennsylvania; Mr. and Mrs. George Bladworth, New York City; Doctor Harry Murray, and Perry M. Armstrong, Brooklyn, New York; Thos. E. Kane, Doctor Nathan B. Van Etten, and Mr. George L. Genung, New York City; Mr. Henry Z. Russell and Miss Lucy Russell, Honesdale, Pennsylvania.

On Friday evening, June 6th, at the Hotel Chelsea, West 23rd street, New York, Mrs. Gale and Miss Gale gave a dinner in honor of the wedding party at which the guests were Miss Marguerite Constance Dolmetsch, Mr. Hart Irving Seely, Mrs. Jessie Dolmetsch Russell, Mrs. S. Alfred Seely and Miss Grace Seely, Mr. and Mrs. Dunsmore and Janet, Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan, Miss Hardenbergh, Miss Tibbets, Mr. Dresser, Mr. Davis and Mr. Genung. Following the dinner, Mr. Seely took a theatre party to witness Robert Hilliard in The Argyle Case, at the Criterion Theatre, at which the guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton, Miss Seely, Miss Hardenbergh, Miss Gale, Mr. Dresser, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Genung.

The Citizen extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Seely.

LET THE GOOD WORK GO ON.

The Honesdale Improvement Association wish to thank all who took so active an interest in "Clean-up Week" and hope that they will continue the good work.

There still remains much to be done. Every man, woman and child is needed, to keep our town clean and sanitary. If the children would kindly refrain from throwing papers in the street the effect would be noticeable. We especially appeal to the women to help us keep the river banks in a cleaner and more sanitary condition; if they must throw tin cans and kitchen refuse into the river, to throw it far out into the deep water where it will not afford a breeding place for flies and mosquitoes. "Swat the fly" is good but to remove the cause of evil is better. No one should expectorate on the walks, nor allow others to do so. If absolutely necessary, use the gutter. Children bouncing balls and marbles, come in contact with the sputum and it is conveyed to their hands and clothing; or may be carried to our homes on the soles of the shoes. In time some particles get in the air and are breathed into the lungs, causing serious trouble.

We do not need to enforce laws, or levy fines for such offenses as "A word to the wise is sufficient."

THE TRIBUNE-REPUBLICAN TROUBLE.*W. H. Peck and J. T. Porter Appointed Temporary Receivers.

William H. Peck, president of the Third National bank, Scranton, and John T. Porter, president of the Traders National bank, Scranton, were appointed receivers of the Tribune Publishing company Tuesday morning by the Hon. C. B. Witmer, judge of the United States court, upon the bill in equity filed against the company by Edward A. Whitehouse, of Newark, N. J., its secretary-treasurer. They will enter upon their duties as soon as a joint bond in the sum of $50,000 is filed.

In making the appointment Judge Witmer said it was to be temporary until next Friday morning, when a rule will be returnable upon the Tribune company to show cause why the appointment should not be made permanent.

The appointment was made orally from the bench. After George C. Scheuer, Esq., clerk of the court, had handed him up the papers in the case, Judge Witmer said: "In the case of Edward A. Whitehouse, against the Tribune Publishing Co., I have concluded, after giving the matter serious consideration, to appoint temporary receivers, and at the same time will grant a rule upon the defendant company, returnable next Friday morning at 11 o'clock to show cause why the appointments should not be made permanent."

"I am satisfied there is urgent need of a receiver, that something may be done to conserve the interests of this property, and have decided to appoint two men instead of three, because two can get along much better than three. This is no reflection at all upon Mr. Moore, the other gentleman suggested by the creditors."

"But Mr. Moore does not live in Scranton and the two men I have named do. They are financiers of high character, and while they may not know a great deal about the newspaper business they will be able to employ men who do, and if the men they put in charge of the actual running of the paper do not prove satisfactory they have the power to remove them at any time without the least embarrassment, and in that way the business can be conducted by them. Besides, two receivers are less expensive than three. The clerk will give notice to counsel to prepare a formal decree. If I am satisfied that I am wrong in my conclusion I still have the opportunity of making an additional appointment. Let the clerk give notice to counsel to prepare a decree and the receivers be directed to prepare and file a joint bond in the sum of $50,000."

As soon as the receivers file their bond they can step in and take charge of the paper. It will have to be approved by the court first, and that will have to be done either at Williamsport or Sunbury. Judge Witmer is anxious that it be attended to at once, so that they can take charge not later than Thursday morning.

It is said the reason he did not name Guy Moore, of the Wilkes-Barre Record, was because he thought Messrs. Peck and Porter would be apt to defer to him, as a newspaper man with successful experience, and thereby subordinate their judgment to his, but that there is nothing to stop them from getting the benefit of his advice and co-operation if they think it is necessary.

COURT NOTES

B. F. Blake, constable of Bethany made his return to court on Monday afternoon and in the return he set forth that he had killed two mad dogs. Mr. Blake, we believe, is the first constable to include this in his quarterly return.

In the appointment of a guardian for Daniel J. Hogan, a feeble minded person, July 14, 1913, at 2 o'clock is set for time of hearing. Ten days' notice to be given to Mary Hogan and Supt. of Asylum for Insane at Rittersville.

Mary Deitzer vs. Thomas Farrell et al. On motion of Kimble & Hannan, attorneys for defendant, the Court granted a rule to show cause why writ issued in the action should not be abated and action discontinued. Made returnable second Monday of May, with notice to Searle & Salmon, attorneys for plaintiff. The reason for the granting of the rule is that the Hawley Coal company is not a partnership or joint stock company but a corporation under the laws of Pennsylvania, and defendants are not co-partners.

Petition for permission of Chas. Shaffer, administrator, to bid on the real estate of Loren Enslin, deceased. Administrator permitted to bid $600 for the protection of his own lien upon real estate.

Application for letters of administration on estate of Lawrence Sherman, an absentee. Application made by John Sherman who says that deceased left Texas thirty years ago and has small estate. August 11th at 2 o'clock fixed for hearing.

DIES OF OLD AGE THOUGH ONLY SIX.

Child, White Haired and Wrinkled, Victim of an Unusual Disease.

Cleveland, O.—Rosie Gryelck is dead of "old age," though her seventh birthday was not until next August.

The little girl's hair was as gray as that of an aged woman and many other characteristic changes, which appear with the passing of middle life, accompanied the progress of the rare malady which caused her death. Her steps were faltering, and her hands were withered, while wrinkles lined her face.

Her parents and her younger sisters had become accustomed to these changes. So had some of the neighbors.

Coroner Byrne visited the home after the child's death and reiterated the statement that she died of "old age."

Raymund's disease was given as the cause of death. This unusual affection, as medical textbooks show, is named after Dr. Maurice Raymund, who first described it in 1862. It has its seat in the heart and results in a diminished flow of blood to the lungs.

KILLED BY AMENDMENT.

The Walnut Child Labor bill, as passed by the House, provided for an eight hour day and a 48-hour week for working children. The bill as amended this week by the Senate committee established a 10-hour day and 54-hour week. An "elastic" provision bears down still harder upon childhood by providing "a different apportionment of hours of labor may be made for the sole purpose of making a shorter day's work for one day of the week, but in no case shall the hours of labor exceed 54 in a week, except that in such establishments where the employment is by seasons, the number of such hour in any week may exceed 54 but shall not exceed 58, provided that the total number of hours shall not exceed an average of 54 hours a week for the whole year, exclusive Sundays and holidays."

Strong testimony was produced before both Senate and House Committees against inserting a class exemption in the Child Labor Bill. It was shown that boys were employed in this industry at night work, and the bill, as originally drawn, specifically forbade this. The Glass Manufacturers, however, won their point with the committee and an amendment prevailed exempting the glass industry from the operation of the child labor law.

An important provision of the Woman's Labor bill which aimed to assure childhood or a small portion of its birthright, has also been tampered with by the committee. The bill provided that no mother should be allowed to return to the factory for a period of four weeks after child-birth. This clause has been cut out by the "Caterers to Special Privilege" and nothing has been left in the law to protect a mother from being driven back to the factory the day after child-birth if she is physically able to get there.

EX-PRESIDENT'S DOUBLE WILL LECTURE ON RUM.

Retired Pittsburgh Police Sergeant to Talk on Drink Evil.

What to do with the doubles of our ex-presidents has been determined in the case of Thomas J. Morley, retired police sergeant of Pittsburgh, who looks so much like William H. Taft that when Mr. Taft saw him the former president fairly gasped in astonishment.

Tom will descend on the ravages of the demon rum. He will lecture to railroad men under the auspices of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad in connection with the nation wide "safety first" campaign.

"I wrestled with drunks more than twenty years in the big police station in Pittsburgh," said Morley, "and now I am going to wrestle with the evil itself." Morley is built for wrestling. He is physically and mentally fitted for it.

"If ever a man had experience with drink, either as its devotee or an observer, I think I am that man. I have attended funerals of my former pals and associates who died from the effects of strong drink. About fifteen years ago I was almost down as a result of it, but I made up my mind that devotion to drink and neglect of family were mistakes and beneath a real man, so I cut them out."

Morley is more than fifty years old, possesses a good stage appearance, has a deep voice and in addition to a good memory has a natural knack of "putting across" what he has to say.

General Manager Yohe of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie heard in a roundabout way of Morley's ambition and realized the power for good a man like Morley would be to a corporation.

As a result, through L. H. Turner, superintendent of motive power of the road, Tom Morley will make his debut on the temperance platform before several hundred of the road's employees in Groveton, O., in the near future.
