

Foster's Weather Bulletin

Copyrighted 1913 By W. T. FOSTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent July 15 to 19 to 23; warm wave 14 to 18 and 18 to 22; cool waves 17 to 21 and 21 to 25. Remarkable for sudden and great changes in temperatures. These will be of greater than usual force and the last one will be severe on the north Atlantic and will inaugurate the great storm period due for last half of July. Our storm and danger signals for all parts of the continent are displayed for July 19 to 31. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about July 23, cross Pacific slope by close of 24, great central valleys 25 to 27, eastern sections 28. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about July 23, great central valleys 25, eastern sections 27. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about July 26, great central valleys 28, eastern sections 30. A hurricane will probably organize east of the Windward Islands on July 21 and by 25th will probably be in the Caribbean; by 28th it will be in the Gulf of Mexico. These tropical storms usually move north-eastward off our Atlantic coasts. About first of September we will inaugurate an improvement in our forecasts, giving them more in detail and localizing them. Our territory is so large that we have been compelled to put our forecasts somewhat of a general character. We are now able to announce great improvements for the coming fall and winter. We are of opinion that, in large parts of the winter wheat sections, the July rains will put the soil in good condition for sowing winter wheat. Probabilities are that September will be a very warm month, October warmer than usual, November colder than usual and December warmer than usual. A cold, stormy November is bad for winter wheat and it is advisable to sow early in the northern states in order that the fall growth may furnish a protection to the roots from winds, freezing and thawing in November.

Winter wheat that gets through next November without serious damage will probably be in good condition next spring. A heavy fall growth of the wheat in September and October—which it will get if you sow early—will be a great protection in November. This will apply to northwest Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia and western Maryland but not to other southern states.

Our general calculations for 1914 crop weather will be completed by the first of October. Our progress is slow but sure and our forecasts are surely improving all the time.

LEGAL RIGHT OF NEWSPAPERS.

A newspaper has a legal right to expose a business firm's methods of doing business, provided the motives of its publishers "are open to the belief that they are in good faith exposing those who are overreaching the simple and abusing the confidence of the credulous."

This was the substance of an opinion handed down Monday by Judge Hand in Federal Court, denying a motion made by the E. A. Strout Farm Agency for an injunction restraining the Rural Publishing Company from publishing threats to expose the plaintiff's business methods and from writing letters to the firm's customers.

"While editors are not exempt from the common motives of other men," wrote Judge Hand, "they may, and in this case they do, entertain a general desire to help their readers and expose such as may practice upon their credulity. That is a very admirable purpose in a newspaper. The refusing of the plaintiff's advertising long before this controversy became acute is a corroboration of that motive."

"Where there is an honest dispute, no court has ever stopped the mouth of one man because it found that he had the wrong side of the argument. The utterer takes his chances of the damage he may do, but in English-speaking countries, he is entitled to have his last word at least while he believes he is speaking truly."

MEAT MUST MEET PURE FOOD TESTS

No Products Are Now Exempt From Federal Control.

ORDER IS FARREACHING.

Agricultural Department Can Entirely Prevent Sale of Spoiled or Adulterated Meat or Meat Products—Manufacturers Now Amenable to Pure Food and Meat Inspection Laws.

Domestic meat and meat products have been finally put under the provisions of the pure food and drugs act as the result of unanimous action recently by the secretaries of the treasury, agriculture and commerce, supported by an opinion of the attorney general. This means that manufacturers of meat foods will now be amenable to both the food and drugs act and the meat inspection law.

The far-reaching and radical action taken was to revoke a regulation for the enforcement of the food and drugs act, adopted Oct. 17, 1906, exempting meat and meat food products and their producers from the operation of the act.

Some time ago Secretary Houston asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the provisions of the food and drugs act were applicable to meat products prepared under the meat inspection law, and Mr. McReynolds replied that, while the two statutes overlap to some extent, neither was inconsistent with the other, nor did congress intend that one should be the substitute for the other.

Laws Do Not Conflict.

The department of agriculture now has the power to treat meat and meat products exactly like any other food in interstate commerce, but this will in no way interfere with the powers of the department under the meat inspection act. The revocation of the regulations gives the government control over meat foods not only in federally inspected establishments, but after the meat product has left such establishments.

Meat inspectors had no power under the meat inspection law to seize meat or meat food products which were either spoiled or adulterated after they had left a federally inspected establishment. The only remedy to be had by the department was the criminal prosecution of any one selling bad meat, and even then the meat could not be confiscated or its sale stopped.

May Seize Spoiled Meat.

Under the new decision it now will be possible for the government to seize spoiled meat and prevent the sale of bad or adulterated meat and meat products when in interstate commerce. Manufacturers will be compelled to comply with the provisions of the food and drugs act with respect to labeling, and prosecution and seizure for misbranding and adulteration will be possible.

BELATED FIFTY-TWO YEARS.

Letter Written in 1861 at Fort Washington Delivered Recently.

A letter written at Fort Washington, Md., May 30, 1861, by Henry C. Russell of Pottstown, Pa., a civil war soldier, reached his widow in Pottstown recently through the regular channels of the United States mail. The letter had been entrusted to a comrade, M. E. Richards of Pottstown, Pa., to mail and was never sent. Recently Mr. Richards died, and the letter, sealed and stamped, was found among some old papers. It was posted and delivered. Russell died about five years ago.

The letter contained what the writer said was a piece of the shirt of Colonel E. E. Ellsworth, worn when he was shot and killed a short time before at Alexandria, Va., when he hauled down the Confederate flag from the Marshall House. The letter is in an excellent state of preservation.

CHILDLESS PAIR END LIVES.

Millionaire and Wife, Tired of Life, Die by Gas.

Eugene Maggi and his wife, the wealthiest persons in Switzerland, committed suicide together in Zurich because they were childless. Maggi was only forty-one years old and his wife thirty-five, and their joint estates are estimated at $10,000,000. Maggi was the owner of great flour mills in Zurich and other parts of Switzerland. The couple, who had been married for a number of years, were greatly disappointed because their union had remained childless and in a fit of despondency decided to end their lives. They retired to their bedroom in their villa in Zurich, turned on the gas and were found dead in the morning.

MILITANTS MUST PAY.

The Pankhursts and Lawrences Assessed $1,840 in Shopkeepers' Suit. Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Miss Christabel Pankhurst and Mrs. Mabel Tuke, representing the Women's Social and Political Union, were condemned in London by the king's bench court to pay $1,840 damages in a suit brought by a number of west end London shopkeepers for damage done in smashing windows during suffragette raids. As this was a test case it is expected that many similar suits will follow.

CURES PIMPLES EASILY.

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past Peil, the druggist, has done a big business in selling Hokara, the skin healer that has won so many friends in Honesdale.

It has been found to heal not only all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but also the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hokara does not help, and its action is so quick that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, Mr. Peil will sell a liberal sized jar for 25c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

Necessity was the Mother of the Remington

WHEN the need of the typewriter came to the business world, the Remington came. Others followed. Remington was the first typewriter—it is still the first typewriter.

First in the field, the Remington organization began building experience, step by step, from the actual practice of typewriter users—always a step or two in advance of the users' need. Other makes followed. Today the Remington Typewriter stands unique as the greatest revolutionizer, the greatest energizer the commercial world has ever seen. And by no means least of its beneficiaries are all other makes of typewriters—for the Remington created the typewriter industry and blazed the way for the others to follow.

12,500,000 Remington-written letters mailed in the United States alone every business day in the year. That tells the story of Remington pre-eminence, of the confidence of captains of commerce in it, of the faith of tens of thousands of efficient employees, of the limitless selection in choice of operators and choice of positions—the machine that has made work for the millions, and millions for the work.
