NEW PRIMARY LAW.

The new primary law extends the operation of the popular primary to operation of the population of all all state offices and abolishes all the state offices and abolishes the state conventions. It changes the law in regard to the holding of primaries in many respects.

Provisions of the Act.

The main provisions of the act are as follows:

State committeemen shall be elected by popular vote and shall have the power to elect national committeemen unless the party rules provide otherwise.

Under the terms of the act a political party is defined as follows: An organization polling in each of at least ten counties, not less than per cent. of the largest entire vote of any elected candidate in each of said counties and polling a total in the state equal to 2 per cent, of the largest vote in the state for any elected state candidate.

preceding municipal or general elecin the county. Hereafter the Spring primary shall Next primary dates are September 16, 1913, and May 19, 1914.

This act does not apply to nomielections, unless such special election shall be held on the same day as the rules.

Election of Delegates.

Delegates and alternates to national conventions must be elected

The state chairman of each party, on the ninth Tuesday before Spring primary, must notify the county commissioners of every counthe ty as to what party offices are to be filled at the Spring primary. County chairmen must do the same on the ninth Tuesday before each Fall primary

A ballot must not be rejected by the election officers unless it is abs lutely impossible to determine the choice of the voters. A whole ballot must not be thrown out because of a mistake upon one office, but only the vote on the particular of-
