SENATOR PLEADS FOR CONSERVATION.

Addressing Sportsmen He Tells Them They Should Protect All Wild Life.

Speaking at Thursday night's ses-sion of the sportsmen's convention in Scranton, United States Senator Boies Penrose advocated good roads, forest conservation, protection of streams from pollution and the conservation and protection of all wild life and urged co-operation between the farmers and the sportsmen of the state. After a brief introductory statement of his pleasure in meeting the sportsmen, Senator Penrose gave the key to his address as follows: "The true sportsman, whether he be hunter or fisherman, if he is loyal to the real interests of his favvorite vocation, will always be an earnest friend of conservation in the most comprehensive meaning of the term.

He gave praise to the sportsmen of this state for the work they have illustration, the common meadow done in securing better laws for the lark is perhaps one of the most valuprotection of all wild life and then delighted his large and appreciative audience with personal reminiscences of his hunting days in the Rocky Mountains. He told, picturesquely of the changes in the physical condi-tion of the country since the advent of the white man and expressed the thought that in the early stages of the country's history the destruction of wild game and the forests were necessary in the onward march of civilization.

He said that Pennsylvania is in the such sanctuaries and he urged their adoption in all states. The senator spoke of the value of

Arbor day in educating the children to the necessity of forest conservation and aroused the enthusiasm of tion and aroused the enthusiasm of the sportsmen when he suggested that the state have Bird Day, either in connection with Arbor Day or separately, "devoted to instructing children in the value of our native birds and the best means of protect-ing them." The senator urged the raising of game as an economic prop-osition particularly the elk and deer osition, particularly the elk and deer which he said were as good or better food than the steer or sheep. On this point he said:

"The elk and deer can be raised successfully and cheaply under many different conditions of food and climate. Safeguard, of course, against the destruction and sale of wild deer under the guise of domesticated deer must be made and enforced. Game laws deserve the hearty support and co-operation of the farmers of the state and of the country. The object of game preservation is not only to preserve a few animals and birds to furnish sport for a limited number, but to protect and increase useful species for the benefit of the people in general. The object is the pre-servation not only of game animals and game birds, but also birds song and plumage, and those which are useful as scavangers or as de-stroyers of injurious insects and noxious weeds.

States the solution of the problem of "To a certain extent game conserfarm finance might be found in an envation restricts the increase of inlargement of the operations of exist-ing banks. Signor Martelli, president jurious species and prevents the in-troduction of animals and birds of the Savings Bank of Florence, dewhich are likely to become pests. Moreover, the tendency of the game scribed a practice common with banks about Florence whereby the farmer laws has been to restrict hunting; to shorten the open seasons; to progives a mortgage to a bank and rehibit non-game throughout the year, and to abolish netting and trapping certain amount of credit. Thus a entirely."

The speaker closed by urging protection for the insectivorous birds, as he said they are of great value to the farmers of the state. He said

"Weeds and injurious insects cost only on the amount which he borthe farmers of the United States milrows lions of dollars annually, directly and indirectly. Anything that tends ers the savings banks are allowed to to reduce the number of weeds or to check the ravages of injurious ininvest up to 30 per cent of their deposits in farm mortgages. These mortsects is a direct benfit. The shorter term mortgage loans are repaid by the borand the vegetable portion of its fare rowers in one tump sum, as in the is largely made up of seeds of in-United States, but the longer term jurious weeds.

"The nighthawk, almost exclusively insectivorous, and usually sup-posed to feed on insects which fly a distance above the ground, has been shown to feed on grasshoppers and flickers devour thousands of ants.

"There should be complete co-operation between the sportsmen and the farmers of Pennsylvania. The sportsmen should endeavor to prolead of the states in the matter of game protection and called attention mutilate stock or tear down fences to its six forest sanctuaries where or commit injurious trespass. There is also a mortgage bank in Florence, the Monte di Paschi, founded by one of the early dukes of Florence. This bank issues mortgage debentures at 31/2, 41/2 and 5 per cent. Most of the debentures now outstanding are at 5 per cent. They sell a trifle under par, which is the usual condition in Italy, and their market price compares favorably with government bonds.

The co-operative societies for purchase among the landowners have been successful. The farmers themselves do not belong to these societies, but the landowners do all purchasing of farm machinery and fertilizer. These societies are also active in educational work and maintain agricultural experts, who travel about from village to village instructing the farmers in scientific agricultural methods.

MARSHALL ON WOMAN'S DUTY

It is to Co-ordinate the Head and Heart of Man.

Vice President Marshall in an address to the graduating class of the Young . Women's college of Terre Haute, Ind., conducted by the Sisters of Providence, declared that a woman's mission is to co-ordinate the head and heart of man.

"You are going to quit making fools of yourselves along the dress line," said Mr. Marshall. "There will be at least two breadths to your shirt. You will take some fellow for better or worse, and if he turns out worse you are going to hang on to him. Marriage is a sacrament that no man can put asunder."

Speaking of the Catholio church as the "mothers' church," he said that if he were a member of it he would accept what the church said he should believe. He thought that too much stress was laid on the doctrine of the dictates of one's own conscience.
